Winnipeg Chooses Between Five Mayoralty Candidates

Large Vote To-day In Manitoba Capital's Municipal Election

People of Cities, Towns and Rural Municipalities of Prairie Province Go to Polls to Select Councils For 1932 and Decide By-Laws; In Winnipeg Mayor R. H. Webb Opposed By Four Candidates, Including Communist.

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, Nov. 27.—Crisp, cold weather prevailed in Manitoba to-day as the electors of cities, towns and rural municipalities went to the polls to select municipal councils for the coming year and to settle questions submitted in referenda. A heavy vote was seen in Winnipeg, as there was a mass movement to the polling booths early in the morning.

Five candidates seeking the mayor's chair and a hard-fought campaign had aroused popular interest in the civic battle in the capital. While Mayor Ralph H. Webb and his suporters thought he should have a sixth term as chief magistrate, four rival candidates had entered the field. The present mayor, however, ruled a slight favorite in the opinion of forecasters.

T. R. Deacon, former mayor, and Theodore A. Hunt supplied the mayor with the stiffest opposition during the campaign, but Jacob Penner, Communist candidate, and Colin McPhail also put up hard fights for the chief magistrate's post.

More than forty candidates asked election as aldermen and members of the school board.

In St. Boniface, Winnipeg's sister city across the river, there was a battle for aldermanic honors to-day, but the mayor was chosen by acclamation some weeks ago.

Elsewhere in the province elections were general to-day except in Brandon, where the polling already had taken place.

The city of Portage la Prairie and nine smaller municipalities were deciding on whether liquor sale within their borders would be continued the electors voting on the local option question.

With the election in Winnipeg based on the proportional representation system, full results may not be known for a few days.

FINANCE MAIN ISSUE, ASSERTS DAVID LEEMING

Mayoralty Candidate, in Talk to Realtors, Reviews Civic Problems

Departmental Expenditures Need Revision, He Says; Lower Grants Expected

"The paramount issue of the present campaign is finance," declared David Leeming, mayoralty candidate in the civic elections, at a meeting of the Real Estate Board in the Sandringham Restaurant this afternoon. It was Mr. Leeming's first definite pronouncement since his entry in the field. He gave a general resume of the civic situation.

Among the points stressed by him were: the necessity for complete revision of departmental charges, balancing of the budget, maintaining the saleable condition of the city's bonds, need of public opinion for tax reforms, and the possibility of decreased government grants from liquor profits, pari-mutuels and motor licenses.

"The constantly growing weight of civic taxation has had the effect of largely destroying the confidence in real property as a desirable investment," Mr. Leeming said. "An examination of the assessment of city land values during the past few years reveals a shrinkage in values to a point about equal to the assessment prior to the city making its advance movement in 1910 and 1911.

"It is common knowledge among those who are well informed that the present city's assessment is several millions of dollars too high, and that a restoration of values is absolutely necessary if the city is to regain the degree of prosperity to which it is entitled.

Hospital's Call For Blood Brings Many Volunteers

More than fifty people either telephoned or called at the Jubilee Hospital to-day volunteering their blood to a poor woman whose only chance of recovery from a severe malady lay in immediate blood transfusion. An urgent appeal was made early this morning and the response may mean the saving of the woman's life.

Two suitable types of blood, one that of a provincial policeman, were found by the Jubilee Hospital pathologist, James Balfour. Owing to this fact, nurses were obliged to refuse the offers of assistance which still kept coming in. The injections were made late this afternoon, but the result could not be ascertained immediately.

The response was all the more generous, since the woman was in straightened circumstances and will probably not be able to pay the regular fee for blood.

SECOND TRIAL BRINGS FREEDOM FOR PANTAGES

Los Angeles, Nov. 27.—A verdict of acquittal was returned to-day by the jury in the retrial of Alexander Pantages, theatre multi-millionaire, accused and two years ago convicted of a criminal attack on Eunice Pringle, youthful dancer. The jury was out sixty-five hours.

Pantages and his family were in the courtroom when the verdict was read. For the theatre millionaire it brought to a close a court fight more than two years old and which he had claimed from the day he was arrested, August 9, 1929, was brought about by a plot to blackmail him.

DOMINION FARM-COMMERCE CONFERENCE AT TORONTO

Canadian Press

Toronto, Nov. 27.—Sixty outstanding leaders in finance, commerce, agriculture, economics and transportation gathered here to-day from every province of Canada and opened a round-table conference on agriculture, its problems and its potential markets.

The most significant gathering of its kind ever to inquire into Canadian agriculture, the conference attracted the ministers and deputy ministers of agriculture from six provinces, representatives of two universities and a score of leading manufacturing industries. The meeting was opened by President W. L. McGregor and Chairman A. O. Dawson of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce.

CLEARING HOUSE NEEDED

Briefly outlining the events which had led to the conference, Mr. McGregor stated the meeting had originated from the original request of agriculture that some definite steps be taken to create a clearing house for agriculture. After a year of study, the chamber had evolved this into three questions, namely: Is there a need for a continuous survey of problems, markets and dissemination of this knowledge to agriculture and its organiza-

Italian Peace Advocates Sail From New York For Home

SIGNOR AND SIGNORA DINO GRANDI

Associated Press

New York, Nov. 27—Italian Foreign Minister Dino Grandi, youthful veteran of the Great War and the Fascist march on Rome, who calls himself a soldier in the cause of peace, sailed from here to-day, accompanied by his wife, to give Benito Mussolini a first-hand account of his conversations with President Hoover and other high government officials.

Clashes Indicated With Recalcitrant Conservative Wing

Nanaimo, Traditional Liberal Stronghold, Scene of Convention of Conservative Party of B.C. To-day; Vancouver Conservative Association May Seek General Party Convention; Tolmie May Read Riot Act to Party Rebels; House Being Put In Order For Election.

(By Times' Special Correspondent)

Nanaimo, Nov. 27.—The Conservative party of British Columbia met in this traditional stronghold of Liberalism to-day to put its house in order for the provincial election expected next year. This, judging by the temper of the delegates, will be a formidable job.

There was trouble in the party as the annual meeting of the Provincial Conservative Association opened in the Malaspina Hotel, but its leaders put a good face on it. A gallant attempt is being made to prevent any outward and visible signs of discontent.

While waiting for serious business to begin this afternoon, the hundred odd delegates circulated among themselves strange rumors of events which may never happen.

TROUBLE IN AIR

There were rumors of an impending clash between a recalcitrant wing of the party in Vancouver and the government. It was said that Premier Tolmie was driving northward to read the riot act to the party rebels and perhaps read them out of the party altogether. And then again many level-headed Conservatives said that nothing out of the way would happen at all, which, in fact, has been the usual experience of these party meetings.

"It will all end up in a love feast," W. O. Wallace of Saanich, secretary of the provincial association, predicted this morning. "You hear a lot of talk about trouble, but it will be the old story. Nothing of the sort will happen."

PARTY CONVENTION

Whatever discontent there may be among some elements of the party will come to an issue perhaps late this afternoon in a motion for a general party convention, to be sponsored by the Vancouver Conservative Asso-

SNOW AND RAIN IN NORTHEAST AREA OF U.S.

New York, Nov. 27. — The weather man made up for his pre-Thanksgiving Day lenience to-day by doling out snow, sleet or rain to much of the territory east of the Mississippi River.

Sunless, New York shivered in its frist snowfall, which turned to rain as the temperature rose a few degrees above freezing. The nation's capital had light rain and sleet.

Snow was general in New Jersey and Pennsylvania. An inch of snow fell at Pittsburgh. There were flurries at Detroit, a heavier fall at Cleveland, while Baltimore had rain, hail and snow.

Chill weather registered temperatures as low as 16 at Greenville, Maine, extended through New England.

COUNCIL ASKS CHINA APPROVE NEW PEACE PLAN

Resolution For Manchuria Settlement Awaits Sze's Endorsement at Paris

Commission to Study Facts in Disturbed Area and Make Report

By P. I. Lipsey Jr., Associated Press Correspondent

Paris, Nov. 27.—The League of Nations Council, meeting briefly this evening, declined to adopt the Manchurian resolution which has been under discussion for several days, on the ground it first should receive the endorsement of the Chinese member.

The resolution under discussion, originally presented by Aristide Briand and prepared formally by a sub-committee, urges both China and Japan to direct their commanders to refrain from any move which might lead to further fighting. Both belligerents are requested to take all steps necessary to assure execution of a resolution adopted September 30 directing evacuation by the Japanese to areas within the railway zone.

COMMISSION PLAN

The document also proposes creation of a commission to study the Manchurian situation on the spot and to report to the Council.

It was understood the resolution was acceptable to the Council, but that some of the delegates regarded it as essential China assent to the measures it suggests before formal adoption.

Aviator Hawks At San Francisco

San Francisco, Nov. 27 — Capt. Frank Hawks, aviator, is expected to arrive here late to-day en route to Vancouver, B.C., where he plans to hop off in a few days in an effort to establish a new record against time for a flight to Agua Caliente, Lower California.

Capt. Hawks, aboard the monoplane The Texaco I, is due at the San Francisco airport at 4 p.m., and is scheduled to be escorted to the city hall by a police motorcycle squad to be welcomed by Mayor Angelo J. Rossi.

CIVIC CAMPAIGN WAXING WARMER

Nightly Meetings For Next Two Weeks Are Looming as Candidates Prepare

The civic election campaign was well under way to-day and there was little change in the position of candidatures.

Two more sets of nomination papers had been filed with the City Clerk. They were those of Frederick Smith, aldermanic candidate, and J. M. Campbell, school trustees aspirant.

Every indication is given that starting next week until election day the campaign will gradually grow hotter and hotter.

The Victoria Ratepayers' Association has its next meeting scheduled for this evening at the George Jay School. It will hold three meetings next week and three election week.

E. S. Woodward will hold the big meeting of his campaign on the night of Tuesday, December 8.

David Leeming will hold a rally on December 7 at the Chamber of Commerce. The Ratepayers' Association has selected the night before election day for its main meeting.

Ending Of Move Against Chinchow Prevents Tokio Ministry From Resigning

Premier Wakatsuki and His Cabinet Make It Plain They Will Put Issue Before People by Quitting If Generals Send Army Against Chinese Forces Concentrated in Southwest Manchuria and Order Stopping Troop Movement From Mukden Is Passed.

TESTS THE CIVIL POWER IN JAPAN AGAINST ARMY

PREMIER WAKATSUKI

Associated Press

Tokio, Nov. 27. — Japanese military activities along the Peiping-Mukden Railway have been halted, a War Office spokesman announced to-night.

The Japanese troops had been advancing steadily in a southwesterly direction toward Chinchow, Southwestern Manchuria, where Chinese troops are concentrated.

The cessation of activities was apparently decided on by the War Office in view of the resolution of the Council of the League of Nations asking that hostilities cease and as a consequence of the Chinese proposal for a neutral zone extending from the Great Wall of China to Chinchow.

BACK TO MUKDEN

The spokesman said the troops had been ordered not to proceed toward Chinchow and they would probably be withdrawn to Mukden. The withdrawal was made conditional, however, on a cessation of danger from bandits, renegade soldiers and other disturbing elements.

The advance guard of the Japanese troops apparently was about half way between Mukden and Chinchow when the order to halt was given.

FROM TSITSIHAR

The Rengo correspondent reported the Japanese command had moved out of Tsitsihar to Taonan, leaving only a small detachment to guard the consulate and Japanese properties.

Telegraph lines were down between Hsinmintun and Chuliuho, and the Japanese were communicating by means of carrier pigeons.

ASSURANCES TO UNITED STATES

Washington, Nov. 27—The United States Government made representations to Japan against a possible attack by Japanese on Chinchow, southwestern Manchuria, and has received assurances no such attack is planned.

By JAMES P. HOWE,
Associated Press Staff Correspondent

Tokio, Nov. 27 — A government spokesman to-day announced the Japanese cabinet of Premier Wakatsuki would resign if the army should attack Chinchow, southwestern Manchuria.

The resignation, he said, would be a protest against evidence the army had gone beyond cabinet control.

The announcement followed reports that troops were marching down the peninsula against the Manchurian stronghold of Marshal Chang Hsueh-liang and that a battle there was imminent.

Any attack would be contrary to the government's orders, the spokesman said, for a pledge had been given that Chinchow would not be molested. If the army should ignore the government to that extent, he said, it would mean the army was beyond cabinet control.

He emphasized that occupation of Chinchow would be a major operation and would probably require a fortnight at least.

Hinkler Reported Safe After Atlantic Flight

Associated Press

Paris, Nov. 27.—The General Aeropostale Company to-day reported that Bert Hinkler, who left Natal, Brazil, aboard a plane, landed at St. Louis, Senegal, French West Africa at 2 o'clock this afternoon (7 a.m. to-day, Victoria time).

The achievement would give Capt. Hinkler, a noted Australian aviator who once held the England-to-Australia speed record, the distinction of being the first man to fly across the South Atlantic from west to east.

The Aeropostale message said Capt. Hinkler left St. Louis immediately for Port Etienne.

The distance from Natal is something more than 1,500 miles.

STRICT WARFARE ON DRUG MENACE

Records Show Police Active Here Fighting Traffic

Prevalence of police court charges under the Narcotic Drug Act in recent weeks indicates strict warfare by police here against the drug traffic which, it is believed, has been growing during the last few years. Special methods are being employed to cope with the menace and stamp it out.

Although Chinese are more common as drug users, especially opium, among the lower classes of the white population recent records would indicate an increase in the traffic.

Special officers of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police have been stationed here to co-operate with the local force in fighting the deadly traffic and this has resulted in numerous prosecutions for which sentences ranging from six months upwards have been imposed. An amendment of the Narcotic Drug Act two years ago fixed stricter penalties for offences of this sort and made the regulations more stringent.

NEARLY DOUBLE

Local police records show twenty-two charges have been brought so far this year under the act, involving such offences as selling, possession and use of drugs. Although the majority are Chinese, there were several white people among those charged. Last year twelve Chinese and one white person were before the court on drug counts and the previous year nine Chinese and one white.

When approached this morning Chief Thomas Heatley declared a continuous warfare was being waged against the traffic. Although investigations fail to reveal any large dealers in drugs here, the main source of supply being the mainland, special men have been assigned to combat the spread of the habit.

EXPECT ARREST AS POLICE HAD CLUE TO FOLLOW

Further Developments in Indian Shooting Expected With Return of Maquinna

When Sergt. F. D. Markland, of the Provincial Police, and Edward E. Frost, Indian Agent at Port Alberni, return from Kyuquot, it is expected that they will have with them the man wanted for the shooting of William, Chaicciesaht Indian, who is now recovering from his wounds in the West Coast Hospital at Port Alberni.

The wounded Indian, whose body was peppered with pellets from a shotgun fired at close range, is reported to have given some information about his assailant when the police questioned him in hospital.

With a clue as to the identity of the assailant the police went to Kyuquot and it is believed that they will return with their man.

BOAT DUE TO-MORROW

No further details of the shooting are expected by the Provincial Police here until the return of the steamer Princess Maquinna, which is due in port to-morrow evening or Sunday morning from the West Coast.

It was on board this vessel that the Indian agent and police sergeant went from Port Alberni to Kyuquot to investigate. No further word had been received to-day at the office of the commissioner of Indian Affairs for British Columbia, but a report is expected from Mr. Frost as soon as he gets back from the scene.

HARRIS BIOGRAPHY SAYS SHAW IS OVERESTIMATED

Associated Press

New York, Nov. 27—George Bernard Shaw was regarded by the late Frank Harris, who knew Shaw intimately, as a far less important figure than Shaw himself or the world believes him to be. The opinion of Harris is found in his posthumous biography, "Bernard Shaw," which will be published tomorrow.

In biographical dictionaries 1,000 years hence, Harris wrote, Shaw will be mentioned as "Shaw, Bernard," subject of a bust by Rodin; otherwise unknown."

Harris believed Shaw's life as a dramatist ended after the writing of the play "St. Joan," for surely, said Harris, "The Apple Cart" was written by a dead man."

Newfoundland Finances Bring Sharp Test For Government

Canadian Press

St. Johns, Nfld., Nov. 27.—The following resolution, passed without opposition at a public meeting here yesterday evening, was before the Newfoundland Ministry to-day:

"Whereas at a mass meeting of citizens held in St. Johns, November 14, it was resolved that questions respecting the country's financial position be presented to the Prime Minister, and whereas it was resolved that if the answers to these questions were not of a nature to satisfy our desires for information or to allay our apprehensions regarding the future of the country, steps should be taken immediately to demand the government's resignation;

"Be it resolved that this mass meeting call on the Prime Minister and his government to resign.

TIME LIMIT

"Be it further resolved that forty-eight hours be given the Prime Minister for his acquiescence and if such it not then forthcoming another meeting be held to consider what further steps will be taken.

"Be it further resolved that a delegation from this mass meeting wait on the Prime Minister with these resolutions.

"Be it also resolved that a copy of these resolutions be sent to his excellency the Governor for his information."

NEW FINANCE CONTROL

Announcing the Newfoundland Government had accepted the resignation of J. S. Keating, Deputy Minister of Finance, and installed J. H. Pension, of the British Treasury Department to carry on the work under a new system, Sir Richard Squires, Premier, yesterday made the following statement:

"The government has decided to inaugurate a new and improved system of financial control which will insure greater efficiency and economy in the expenditure of public money. The present system, which has existed ever since Newfoundland obtained responsible government, has been the cause of considerable waste of public funds."

JAPANESE BOMB CHINCHOW, SAYS TOKIO REPORT

London, Nov. 27.—An Exchange Telegraph message from Tokio today said Japanese airplanes had bombed the city of Chinchow, Manchuria.

The message said the attack from the air had been made in retaliation for an attack by a Chinese detachment on a Japanese force which had left Mukden to reconnoitre early this morning.

B.C. Dignitaries To Attend Big Bridge Dedication Shortly

Premier and Lieut.-Governor to Go to Seattle For Function February 22

Seattle, Nov. 27—At least ten governors of western states, as well as the premiers of British Columbia and Alberta, the lieutenant-governors of the provinces, and the mayors of cities and towns of Washington and those through which the Pacific highway passes, will participate in the grand military parade and the pageant to be held on the streets of Seattle February 22.

Harry A. Frentz, chairman of the programme committee of the George Washington Memorial Bridge dedication, announced yesterday the rough draft of the street demonstration planned for the formal dedictation of the new bridge.

One feature of the street parade will be two companies of continental troops led by a drummer, piper and color bearer, exemplifying the "spirit of 1776." The Sons and Daughters of the American Revolution are sponsoring pageantry of floats, each depicting some episode in the life of Washington.

Each branch of the military and naval service of the country will be represented in the parade by troops detailed to Seattle for the occasion. Engineers, artillery, cavalry, infantry, air corps, trains, tanks and auxiliary units with bluejackets and marines from the warships expected here for the affair.

TIENTSIN SITUATION

If the situation at Tientsin, where fighting had been going on since yesterday, should grow worse, he said, reinforcements would have to be sent there and to Shanhaikwan from the nearest port, such as Dairen or Port Arthur, both of which are near Chinchow.

The Navy Department announced the cruiser Yakuno, carrying a landing party of blue jackets, had been ordered to Tientsin from Sasebo, Japan.

Baron Shidehara, Foreign Minister, had an audience with the Emperor this morning. He was understood to have pointed out that Gen. Minami, War Minister, attended the morning cabinet session and the general and he were in accord in upholding the government's policy.

OCCUPIED BY JAPAN

Associated Press

Tokio, Nov. 27.—The proposal of the Chinese Government to withdraw its troops from Chinchow to avoid danger of a Sino-Japanese clash there is acceptable to the Tokio Government, it was announced to-night.

Japan would undertake, the announcement said, to respect the neutral zone, except under extraordinary circumstances, such as a serious clash between the armies at Shanhaikwan, Tientsin or Peiping, in which event Japan reserved the right to transport reinforcements through the zone from Manchuria.

The announcement came on the heels of a statement from a government spokesman that Premier Wakatsuki's cabinet would resign if the army should attack Chinchow.

NEUTRAL ZONE

The government also agreed, the announcement said, to the creation of a nectral zone between the Great Wall at Shanhaikwan and Chinchow, the extent and boundaries of which would be decided by direct negotiations between the Chinese and Japanese.

Count Damien Demartel, French Ambassador, was notified to this effect this evening by Foreign Minister Shidehara and he notified Chairman Briand of the League Council at Paris.

Associated Press

MOVE THAT WAS STOPPED

Mukden, Manchuria, Nov. 27.—Japanese headquarters here announced that "a considerable force of Japanese reinforcements left to-day down the Peiping-Mukden railway in view of the dangerous situation at Tientsin, but at headquarters spokesman later said it was not likely to go there and the belief prevailed it was destined for Chinchow.

Prior to the departure of the contingent the force here consisted of approximately 6,000 troops. It was not known how many left to-day.

The announcement said "the Japanese command had decided to take necessary measures and dispositions as from November 27," but did not further explain this statement.

100 CARS IN TRAINS

For the trip the Japanese troops used trains of the Peiping-Mukden road. According to one source, more than 100 cars were used.

The group of foreign military attaches which is visiting Manchuria as guests of the Japanese Government, returned herehurriedly on receipt of returned here hurriedly on receipt of movement. The group was on its way to Taitsihar.

RAILWAY STATION SEIZED

Associated Press

Peiping, Nov. 27.—A report received here from the headquarters of Chang Hsueh-liang at Chinchow, Manchuria, said the railway station at Jaoyangho was captured by a Japanese armored train accompanied by a troop train with 700 soldiers to-day after a clash with 200 Chinese troops.

Chinese reports said eight Chinese were killed. Reports from Mukden giving the Japanese version said a Japanese armored train encountered a Chinese armored train a few miles from Tahushan, that the Chinese troops abandoned their train and fled.

Nanking, Nov. 27.—A spokesman for the Chinese Government said to-day that if Japan "deliberately aggravates" the situation in Manchuria by invading Chinchow, China would resist with all its forces.

Shaw, in the view of Harris, has been a hard worker, but all his plays lack the something that stamps greatness. One usually has a good time in the theatre with Shaw, according to Harris, but no better than at a circus or a cinema.

LACK VITALITY

"He is the wittiest author of our time, he may be even the wittiest of English literature," wrote the biographer, "but his plays, almost all of them, lack vitality.

"On re-examining Shaw's forty-odd volumes—on every subject in the world and beyond it—I find only one consistently consistent idea throughout all of his works and life and that is—improvement." Harris expressed the belief Shaw's fame would last longer as a personality than as a writer.

'I only wish he had gone to jail at least once for some big idea," wrote the biographer. "It would have been something to bring before the court of Heaven when asked for his immortal soul. But he has never gone to jail, not even for contempt of court, as I have, nor for poaching as Shakespeare did, nor for folly, as Wilde did, nor for roguery as Villon did, nor for another man, as Cervantes did."

None of Shaw's propaganda for socialism or against censorship, according to Harris, has had much effect on English life.

"He is neither philosopher nor scientist," concluded the biographer, "neither passionate prophet nor self-sacrificing martyr."

NOT EDITED

The Harris book contains a postscript and heretofore unpublished letters by Shaw. In the postscript Shaw explains that since Harris died before the proofs could be read, he had read them himself without eliminating any of the criticism.

"Naturally," Shaw wrote, "I do not endorse all the judgments in this book. I think that in every case where Frank Harris does not understand me or any other of his contemporaries the real difficulty is that he does not understand himself."

tions? What should be the scope of such a survey? What would be its set-up?

Business men, he continued, realized that to-day co-operation of all the partners, all the branches of industry, was essential to the success and advancement of the vast partnership of which agriculture was the biggest member. Business men, he stated, would probably learn more than agriculture from the conference. But, he pointed out, business men could offer advice and there existed a chance never before offered for a better understanding developing between agriculture and other branches of industry in Canada.

COUNCIL ASKS CHINA APPROVE NEW PEACE PLAN

that immediate steps be taken to halt an attack which was reported to be imminent at Chinchow, Manchuria. Dr. Sze said he had been informed of the belief of Nanking that the Japanese Emperor had given Gen. Honjo a free hand to possess himself of all Manchuria.

He indicated the Chinese armies in and around Chinchow were under orders to resist any attack, and that the Chinese would retire beyond the Great Wall only if the League should define a neutral zone beyond which the Japanese must not approach toward Chinchow.

TRUSTED TO LEAGUE

A high Chinese authority summed up his own opinion of the situation thus:

"We young fellows who built up the Nationalist Government have formed a state along peaceful lines. We have neglected the defence budget and we have put our trust in the League and international treaties promising respect for territorial integrity and political independence.

"Now we have lost faith. We must build up our defences and save ourselves."

ARMIES COMPARED

The Chinese here admit China's forces in the field would have little chance against the highly trained Japanese army. The Mukden arsenal, where the Chinese had modern tanks, planes, artillery and other military equipment, was seized in the first Japanese drive.

Foreign officers were available as instructors for the Chinese troops, they said, but the whole fiscal organization of the government would have to be reconstructed to finance the measures which would be necessary to put the army on an efficient basis.

TOWN OCCUPIED

Reports received by the British Government from its observers in Manchuria confirmed that the Japanese had occupied Hainmin yesterday, and that more than 1,400 Japanese troops were "on the move southwest." About 100 sailors also had landed, unarmed, at Shanhaikwan, the report said.

ciation. This proposal is accepted by those favoring it and those opposing it as something like a motion of censure of the government. As such it will be strenuously opposed by a great force in the meeting. That it will carry is regarded as extremely doubtful. Even those sponsoring it are not at all sure that they can win.

It is around this convention proposal that the family troubles of the party will be aired.

The government, it is said, rather welcomes this opportunity. It feels that a pre-election year is a good time to settle once and for all the internal feud which has been proceeding between it and some of its supporters for years.

TOLMIE LOSES PATIENCE

Premier Tolmie, his friends say, has exhausted his patience and is prepared to ask those who are not loyal to the government to change their tune or get out.

So far as it can be gauged, the opinion of the average delegate is that a party convention at this stage would be folly. Its only purpose would be the reconstruction of the party leadership and its only result a complete rift in the party ranks on the eve of battle.

Some of the Vancouver delegates are openly talking about the return of W. J. Bowser, K.C., as a member of the government. The only visible sign of such a move was the presence here of some of Mr. Bowser's closest friends and advisers in the old days.

Apart from the convention proposal there should be nothing of note about this meeting. The other business will consist largely of the election of officers, in which there is always an internal and obscure struggle for control of the party machinery. The election probably will take place Saturday.

CREASE PRESIDES

This morning was occupied by a meeting of the executive under Lindley Crease, K.C., of Victoria, president. The general meeting started this afternoon and will adjourn for a banquet this evening. It is at this banquet that the Premier will speak, and his speech, it is presumed, will be governed by the events of the afternoon.

STORMY INTERVIEW

It was common knowledge here today that Premier Tolmie had a stormy interview with the Vancouver members of the Legislature on Wednesday. Vancouver members are demanding greater representation in the cabinet and governmental economies. They threaten to act as independents at the next session of the Legislature if demands are not met. The Premier is reported to have said virtually that the members were free to do as they wished and the government would do the same.

"The ease with which new taxes are imposed on real estate is largely the cause of the increasing tax burden. For instance, take the present unemployment conditions under which we are struggling. Real estate, irrespective of whether or not it is producing revenue, is charged with a share of the cost, and our city this year will have to meet a charge on this account of approximately $200,000. It is true that the charge may be spread over a period of years, but nevertheless it reacts against the value of the property on which the charge falls, and in this case that means our homes and property investments.

BURDEN NOT PROPERLY PLACED

"The same remarks apply to school costs which are constantly mounting Part of these costs is provided by the Provincial Government and school fees, but the greater part is charged against property, amounting this year to approximately $400,000 which, in my opinion, is an intolerable charge and should rest on a wider basis than real estate, whether that real estate is producing a revenue or otherwise. I do not claim that our school costs are too high, as I have not examined into them, but I do claim that the burden of them is placed where it does not altogether belong.

"However, these matters involve changes in the whole basis of municipal taxation and, before tax reforms can be brought into effect, a great deal of study will be necessary in order that we may present to the provincial authorities a plan that will be fair to all and that will result in taking from real estate the charges that are now so easily imposed upon it and ruining its value. When a fair basis of taxation is arrived at and a more equitable distribution of the tax burden is brought into effect, we may expect to see the restoration of the values of our homes and investments, and until this takes place restoration on a firm foundation is next to impossible.

"This question of tax reform is, in my opinion, basis to the whole question of prosperity and will require a close research of the whole field of taxation, both federal, provincial and municipal.

NEED PUBLIC OPINION

"In order to bring about tax reform it will be necessary to create a strong public opinion in favor of the reforms that may be decided upon as necessary to relieve municipal burdens, and this public opinion will have to have a wider basis than one city. It will need to be urged by all the larger municipalities and it may take several years to bring about the desired changes.

"Now to deal with our present problem. A great deal is being said in this campaign about a balanced budget, and some are going so far as to suggest that there will be no increase in the tax rate for 1932. Of course, it is too early for anyone to say just what next year's rate will be, but I would point out that there is every reason to expect that there will be a carryover from 1931, and that we shall have to make provision for the burden of unemployment which seems to show no abatement as yet. Having had experience as chairman of the finance committee of the City Council in the year 1923, a year in which we presented the first balanced budget for many years prior thereto, I feel very diffident in making any promises, other than to say that every endeavor to keep the taxes as low as possible will be made. It must not be forgotten that a balanced budget means that the cash will be provided to the treasury to meet every account, and in these days that means sacrifice.

"In order that I might be better informed on the whole matter of our tax problem for the year 1932, I delved into the budgets of the past few years, and was astonished to find that since the year 1923, the last year I was in the council, there has been a very heavy increase in departmental expenditures. In order that a quick, comprehensive grasp can be had of the situation, I have prepared a number of charts dealing with the annual expenditures. These charts reveal increases in many departments, the range of increase being between 7½ and 100 per cent. Some of the departments show decreases, but these ar not the heavy spending departments.

"Contrary to the general belief that it is owing to constantly increasing debt charges that our tax rate is increasing, the chart dealing with this question shows that there has been a very heavy reduction in the last four years on account of debt charges, these charges being $125,000 less in 1930 than in 1926.

POSSIBLE REDUCTIONS

"The year 1932 points to possible reductions in revenues from other than property sources. For instance, there is a possible decrease in the city's share of liquor profits, pari-mutuel and motor license receipts, and it must not be overlooked that whatever reduction there is in revenue from these sources this reduction will have to be made up by the taxpayer.

"In view of these facts it will be impossible at this date for any candidates to say that the mill rate will not be increased next year. He cannot know at this time.

"As a heavy taxpayer I am interested in having a low tax rate, but on the other hand, I am a firm believer in justice in dealing with these problems, and trust that the council will be able to present a budget that will be fair to all, and not bear too heavily on any section of the community.

"I am of the opinion that the time has come for a complete revision of the departmental charges. It may be that there are excellent reasons for the growing costs, and that they are inescapable, but on the other hand it may be found possible to bring about considerable reduction in overhead. Until such a revision is made it will be impossible for anyone to say, in advance, what action will be taken. However, such a survey is imperative.

MUST BALANCE BUDGET

"The balancing of the city's budget is essential if we are to maintain our financial standing, and as the relief from the immediate burden of taxation involves refunding of certain maturing serial debentures, from time to time, it is essential that we preserve our financial status. In other words we must do all we can to keep our bonds in a saleable condition and as near to par as possible. A balanced budget is therefore essential.

"The recent elections in Great Britain were fought on the basis of a balanced budget, and as pointed out in the presentation of the case before the electors this meant there would have to be sacrifices on all sides, the taxpayer as well as the employee having to take his share of the economic burden. This is what every government the whole world over is having to face, and it is not possible for Victoria to be an exception to this general condition.

"My programme is a balanced budget and tax reform, and I pledge myself to work to these ends."

PUBLICITY BUREAU

Turning his attention to the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, Mr. Leeming declared he was 100 per cent in favor of it. For the last ten years he had been a director of the organization and, at present, held the post of president.

"I am more and more convinced of its value. It is our best bet and will be for some years to come," he said. However, if elected, he would not press for a higher grant from the City Council, Mr. Leeming added.

The grant was raised entirely from the revenue produced by an increase in trade license fees, and was not taken from general revenue.

If elected, Mr. Leeming said he would devote all his time to the council.

ENDORSED BY PENDRAY

Former Mayor Carl Pendray endorsed Mr. Leeming's statements, saying the merchants themselves had suggested an increase in license fees instead of personal donations to the Publicity Bureau. If the grant were to be cut off, it would be only fair to reduce the trades license fees, he said.

R. H. B. Ker, candidate for the aldermanic board, stated he had entered the ring purely to support Mr. Leeming in his quest of the mayoralty.

Washington, Nov. 27—Thirteen persons were arrested to-day in a demonstration of unemployed in the vicinity of the White House.

To-day 77th Anniversary Of Pioneers' Arrival On Vessel Princess Royal

Special to The Times

Nanaimo, Nov. 27—To-day is the seventy-seventh anniversary of the arrival of the Hudson's Bay sailing vessel Princess Royal in Esquimalt Harbor with sixty pioneers and their children, destined for Nanaimo.

Only two of the Princess Royal pioneers survive to-day. They are John Meakin of Nanaimo, who was six months of age when the voyage commenced, and Mrs. Eliza Parkin, now residing at Sandwick, with her daughter, Mrs. John Grieves.

John Meakin, Mrs. William Parkin, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bevilockway, Mr. and Mrs. John Malpass, Mr. and Mrs. E. Ganner, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Gough, R. Turner, T. Hawkes, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Webb, Mr. and Mrs. G. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas York, Mrs. M. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. J. Biggs, Mrs. J. Thompson, Mrs. John Richardson, D. Dunn, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lownes, John Meakin Jr., William Sage, Mr. and Mrs. T. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. William Incher, Mrs. J. Dick, Mr. and Mrs. G. Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Sage, John Thompson, J. Richardson, Mrs. John Meakin, Joseph Ganner, George Bevilockway, Mrs. T. Nicholas, George Sage, S. Gough, Mrs. George Norris, Mrs. E. Walker, P. C. Meakin, Matthew Miller, Moses Bevilockway, Eliza Ganner, James Malpass, Mr. and Mrs. J. Baker, Mr. and Mrs. G. Bull, Mr. and Mrs. W. Harris.

Members of the Pioneers' Society will be guests of Post No. 3, Native Sons of B.C., and Post No. 2, Native Daughters, at a joint social to be held in the Foresters' Hall at Nanaimo, on December 3.

CHICAGO FARM SHOW SETTING NEW RECORDS

Horses, Cattle and Other Animals Total Over 12,000; Much Grain and Hay

Chicago, Nov. 27.—Agriculture put on its best bib and tucker to-day and drove into the International Livestock Show here.

The exposition doors at the stockyards will open to-morrow on the largest arrayal of farm products ever assembled here. More than 12,000 head of horses, cattle, sheep and swine have been stalled. Entries have surpassed all records. The grain and hay exhibits have topped the 5,000 mark.

Walter Biggar of Dalbeattie, Scotland, returned again to pick the grand champion steer. Biggar's father picked the exposition champions more than a decade ago. His son, too, has attained fame as a cattle judge.

W. L. Carlyle, manager of the Alberta ranch of the Prince of Wales, will be an onlooker.

Judging in all classes will begin early Saturday morning and the champion steers will be chosen Tuesday.

BRITISH WORKERS URGED BY SHAW TO GO TO RUSSIA

Associated Press

London, Nov. 27.—A new description of Joseph Stalin, director of Communist power in Soviet Russia, was added to the thousands already on file to-day in the record of a speech made to the Fabian Society here yesterday, by George Bernard Shaw, its high priest.

Stalin, Mr. Shaw told his fellow intellectual Socialists, is a puzzling potentate who is head man of all Russia; but his official position is "secretary of a committee chosen by himself for the purpose of electing himself its secretary."

He is a complete opportunist, Mr. Shaw went on, who is molding a new Russia.

"You are either Communists or you are what Ramsay MacDonald and Viscount Snowden are—whatever that is," he said in a voice of prophecy to his fellow Fabians. "Communism is a force which will set up against Capitalism. There is nothing left of Bolshevism, collectivism, anarchism or class war. Only Communism remains.

"The trouble with Russia," he said, "is that there are too many people there like Bernard Shaw. They know all about Communism—its history and its principles, its theory and everything else—but they can't do it."

He recommended, however, that British workmen "who are entirely indifferent to their personal comfort" go to Russia, where, he said, they could do as well as in the homeland.

Russian peasants, he said, are picturesque figures who kissed his head with their great beards and called Lady Astor, who accompanied him on his tour, "Darling" and "Little Mother."

PREMIER LAVAL WINS VOTES IN FRENCH HOUSE

Associated Press

Paris, Nov. 27.—The trip of Premier Laval to Washington to-day stood stamped with the approval of the French Chamber of Deputies, over the criticism of the opposition, by majorities larger than the best the government had expected.

The Chamber early this morning, on three separate confidence votes, sustained M. Laval by majorities ranging from 45 to 175. A margin of thirty votes was the most the government had looked for.

LENGTHY DEBATE

It was the Chamber's first expression since the Premier's detailed report on his Washington trip. The debate had lasted several days.

Opposition criticism covered every phase of the Premier's foreign policy, including war debts, the Hoover moratorium, disarmament and also the visit to Chancellor Bruening at Berlin.

Throughout the gruelling fire M. Laval maintained unruffled courtesy and good humor. He told the Chamber his Washington trip had been the best possible propaganda, because it had resulted in the clearing up of some misunderstandings about France in the minds of the people of the United States.

"They no longer think," M. Laval said, "that France wants to dominate other peoples. They know that sacrifices we have made in behalf of disarmament. They no longer suspect us, for they know France is thinking only of maintaining her own security."

GERMANY DEBTS

His government, he said, was committed to settlement of German private debts by direct negotiations between creditors and debtors. Leon Blum, Socialist deputy, had advocated linking these private debts with other matters in the inquiry which is to be made by the World Bank for International Settlements into Germany's capacity to pay.

CHIROPRACTORS ARE TO APPEAL FINES ORDERED

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Nov. 27.—Seven Vancouver chiropractors and drugless healers—Walter Sturdy, H. S. Simonson, G. F. Moore, Gilbert H. Young, D. W. Campbell, W. J. Budnick and H. Hepburn—were found guilty by Police Magistrate G. R. McQueen yesterday afternoon of unlawfully using the title "doctor." Each was fined $25 and $2.50 costs.

Counsel for the accused stated an appeal would be entered.

Magistrate McQueen declared he found the amendment to the Medical Act, under which information was laid by the Medical Council, was intra vires, and that the facts had been proved.

PARTIES GO TO RESCUE INDIANS IN NEW MEXICO

Associated Press

Gallup, N.M., Nov. 27.—Medicine men thanked the Sun God to-day for the escape of 600 Navajo and Zuni tribesmen from the snowswept lower plateaus and prayed for the safety of as many more still facing death by stravation and cold atop the mesas of Malapais.

The sun yesterday melted the snow thrown on the lower country by a blizzard almost a week ago and permitted many of the tribesmen, marooned on their annual pinon nut-picking expedition, to return to the settlements. Deep drifts of the high country, however, still held the secret of the fate of their brethren.

Nine persons, four of them children are known to have lost their lives. Hungry, wet and suffering from frozen toes, feet and hands, the stragglers from the army of nut pickers wandered into the Pueblos.

UNUSUAL SCENES

The little village of Zuni, was crowded yesterday evenin with Navajos who, ignoring tribal feeling, lay down with Zunis and Mescaleros to sleep again on warm Pueblo floors.

Three parties, composed of Indians, but headed by white men, were breaking trail to the high mesas in efforts to reach the marooned families before their supply of pinon nuts became exhausted. Five wagon loads of food and forage to-day were en route to the Atarque, where many of the refugees were crowded into a village built for 300 persons. C. G. Wallace, Indian trader, broke through to Zuni with a truck, gathering thirty-nine Indian refugees on the way.

Stockmen of the Zuni region expressed belief that A. J. Crockett, formerly of El Paso, Texas, was in one of his several sheep camps. He was the only white man known to be missing.

HINDU IS HELD FOR HINDU KILLING IN CALIFORNIA

Associated Press

Marysville, Calif., Nov. 27.—The seething unrest of California's two Hindu factions blazed into gun play yesterday evening, resulting in the death of one East Indian, the arrest of another charged with the slaying, and the definite information to officers a third was slated for death.

In the twenty-third Hindu killing in Northern California during recent years, L. B. Manrow, thirty-four, also known as Lal Singh, was shot and killed by an assailant who seized him by the collar and fired six bullets into his body.

The assailant, said by the sheriff's office to be Bahaghat Singh, twenty-eight, proprietor of an automobile repair shop, was captured shortly after the firing by Deputy Sheriff Joseph Single, who was only a few feet away from the scene of the shooting.

After the shooting, Single said Bhagat Singh ran across the street with the intent of shooting another Hindu, Sher Singh, proprietor of a neighboring store. Sher Singh, one of the most prominent Hindus in this section, was the man who financed San Ram Pange, University of California student, who was slain. The headless body of Pange was found in a Solano County slough last March, weighted with a tractor wheel.

Manrow was said to be a graduate of the University of California.

Sheriff C. J. McCoy said he had received two warnings that Manrow and Sher Singh were to be victims of a Hindu clique. The warnings, he said, were disregarded by Manrow.

SMUGGLERS DISTURBED

Motive for the killing was attributed by officers to immigration matters. Bhagat Singh refused to talk after his arrest, but from investigations elsewhere authorities said they believed the killer thought Manrow and Sher Singh were giving information to immigration officers concerning illegal entry of Hindus into the United States.

BENNETT SEES BRITISH UPPER HOUSE AT WORK

Canadian Press

London, Nov. 27.—After a full day's debate, the House of Lords gave second reading yesterday to the Statute of Westminster Bill, without division. The measure, establishing equality within the empire as a legal and constitutional fact, already had been passed by the Commons. But the debate in the Upper House revealed none of the pointed opposition that appeared in the Commons.

Premier Bennett of Canada was present for the first hour of the debate yesterday.

The bill was sponsored by the Lord High Chancellor, Lord Sankey, who said the empire never would flourish through "Acts of Parliament which fetter and restrict the powers of our fellow-subjects in the Dominions."

MOTOR LICENSE FEE INCREASE IS PROTESTED

Canadian Press

Toronto, Nov. 27.—Special meetings of the Legislative committees of the Ontario Motor League and the Motor Truck Owners' Association are being called to consider the possibility of a protest against the increase in motor license fees for 1932, announced by Hon. Leopold Macaulay, Minister of Highways.

W. G. Robertson, secretary of the Motor League, in announcing the meetings, expressed disappointment the government had not continued the policy of reducing license fees and making up the difference through the gasoline tax.

Mr. Robertson expressed the belief, however, that, generally speaking, the mthod of taxation according to the number of cylinders in each vehicle's motor appeared to be a more reasonable basis of assessment than the old method of computing horsepower.

PRIZE CATTLE SOLD

Senior First Aid Competitions Off For Next Year

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Nov. 27.—Senior competitions in first aid, conducted under the auspices of the Canadian branch of the St. John Ambulance Association, will be cancelled for 1932, according to P. M. Filleul, secretary of the branch. It has been decided to discontinue them until economic conditions improve.

The junior competitions will be held as usual.

PROFIT ON RESOURCES

Regina, Nov. 27.—The total revenue from the handling of Saskatchewan's natural resources in the seven-month period ended April 30, 1931, the end of the government fiscal year, was $284,981.44, and the total expenditures $267,691.51, leaving a net surplus of $17,289.93. The Department of Natural Resources of Saskatchewan issued the figures yesterday. They are the first issued in this province since the resources passed from federal to provincial control.

JAPANESE PREMIER'S THREAT

THE PUBLIC DECLARATION OF THE Premier of Japan that if the Japanese army attacks Chinchow in southeastern Manchuria the government will resign, sharply emphasizes the inco-ordination between the military and civil authorities of the country. It is well known that this condition has existed from the commencement of hostilities in September, when the Japanese army, without the sanction and probably the knowledge of the civil government, attacked Chinese troops and occupied Mukden. Incidentally, the Premier's statement explains in part the numerous contradictory official reports which have emanated from Tokio since the Manchurian situation became acute.

The Japanese civil government, that is to say the representative government, obviously realizes that the position into which the army authorities have led the nation is extremely precarious and must create problems in Japan for which it will be blamed by the electors, although it is not directly responsible for them. The bare cost of conducting these operations, increasing every day with the employment of larger forces, must be found by the civil government in more taxation; the loss of trade with Manchuria itself is a serious matter but, supplemented by the devastating effect of the Chinese boycott, it is bound to be ruinous to Japanese industry. Already it has badly crippled Japan's shipping.

These large direct and indirect losses, which cannot be met from any outside source, must occasion a critical economic situation within Japan itself, a situation which, as we pointed out the other day, might evolve into a domestic upheaval imperilling the entire political structure of Japan. Considerations such as these plainly never suggested themselves to the Japanese military authorities, which were concerned only with military objectives; in similar circumstances the German and Austrian empires disappeared from the map.

Evidently the civil government of Japan has no intention of being left "holding the bag," and the Premier is prepared to force the issue into the field of Japanese domestic politics. If the military authorities took up that gauntlet Japan would have a first-class crisis of far-reaching and very dangerous implications on its hands. It is significant, however, that following the Premier's threat the army authorities announce their agreement with Chinese leaders for a "neutral area" in front of Chinchow pending the negotiations now being conducted by the League of Nations for an investigation of the Manchurian situation by an international commission.

HAS HE BEEN ASKED?

THE FOLLOWING IS AN EXTRACT from the morning paper's report of a meeting of Saanich Conservatives last night at which Mr. H. D. Twigg, M.L.A., was one of the speakers:

> Mr. Twigg spoke of the manner in which T. D. Pattullo was attacking the present government when he ought to be helping the administration through the unemployment crisis.

We do not seem to recall any occasion on which Premier Tolmie has appealed to Mr. Pattullo for his assistance. We can imagine the sort of reception the leader of the opposition would get if he were to attempt to interfere. But are the people to assume from Mr. Twigg's remarks that the government is at a loss to know how to get the province out of the financial morass into which the present administration over James Bay has landed it? Did the leader of the government authorize him to run up the white flag? If not, perhaps Dr. Tolmie will gently remind him that he has spoken out of his turn, that he, the Premier, is well able to handle the situation.

It is all very well for Conservative speakers at this late date, after more than three years in office, to tell Mr. Pattullo that instead of pointing out the errors of the government's ways he ought to roll up his sleeves and help; but in the summer of 1928 the people of this province were asked to turn out the MacLean government, put one in headed by Dr. Tolmie, and such troubles as they might have would disappear—and the sun of prosperity would shine brightly forever.

"It's time for a change" was the Conservative rallying cry in the summer of 1928. In the winter of 1931 the people of the province are counting the cost of making the change. It is proving a very unpleasant business. Blaming Mr. Pattullo, of course, is fooling nobody.

HARDLY WISE

BY CLOSING THE TRADE AND IMMIgration office in Wales the Dominion government has incurred the criticism of The Western Mail and South Wales Daily News of Cardiff, from which The Toronto Globe quotes as follows:

> In the name of economy Canada appears to be on the point of making a serious error.
> She intends to close down a number of her agencies throughout the United Kingdom, including the Welsh offices in Cardiff.
>
> Under the new arrangement the Dominion will be left with agencies in Scotland, Ireland, and, of course, England, with offices at London and Liverpool, but all contact with Wales will be severed.
>
> That this step should be taken at a moment when practical measures are contemplated to effect closer economic and commercial ties between the homeland and overseas Dominions must be regarded as a serious mistake, alike in the interests of Canada and of Wales.

The Globe says: "Stripped of its courteous phraseology, the Welsh warning is to this effect: If Canada shows she never again wants our people, Wales can not be blamed if she refuses to show preference for Canadian products."

As our Toronto contemporary also says, no sensible person imagines that there is to be a permanent stoppage of immigration to Canada, while, it may be added, it is foolish to leave a fruitful source of sturdy settlers without an effective reminder that Canada is still on the map.

THE NEED OF PUBLICITY

THE VICTORIA AND ISLAND PUBLICity Bureau is to be congratulated on the election of Mr. George I. Warren, its commissioner, to the presidency of the Canadian Association of Tourist and Publicity Bureaus at the third annual meeting of that body in Toronto this week. Mr. Warren's initiative and energy which have brought substantial returns to this city will now be a factor in the co-operative work of the national organization.

Publicity agencies throughout this country are very wisely drawing the attention of the public and governments to the absolute necessity in a time like the present to build for the future. It is a well-known fact that after periods of economic recession large movements of population take place. It is to be hoped that the next movement on this continent will take a northerly direction, and that the return of normal times will be the signal for fresh migration from the Old World as well. But if Canada is to get the additional population of which she stands in need, the world must be told what this country has to offer. That can be done effectively only by persistent and judicious publicity.

It will be remembered that the great Sifton publicity campaign which placed thousands of settlers on our lands was undertaken in a time of severe economic depression in Canada; the harvest of that campaign was reaped in the seven-year period between 1907 and 1914, when considerably more than 2,000,000 people came to Canada. Well-directed publicity brought them and the opening up of the west is the practical return to show for it. The Sifton plan was backed by the vision and courage of a government which recognized the requirements of the future.

The people who came in the immediate pre-war years did not come with the idea of making fortunes; they came to find a comfortable living in healthful surroundings. Many hundreds of farmers who are firmly established in Canada were quite "green" when they arrived in this country. They were told they would have to work hard and they did so. In any substantial movement of people, of course, there are bound to be a number of misfits. But this country has been fairly fortunate in getting a good average in her newcomers.

Now is the time for governments, through their own agencies and with the assistance and co-operation of such bodies as the Canadian Association of Tourist and Publicity Bureaus, to "show" Canada to the people of other countries, naturally not with the object of starting an influx at this juncture, but in order that the Dominion shall get her full share of the home-seekers who will inevitably be on the move as soon as the temporary economic condition of the world is a thing of the past. There is room here for many more millions, plenty of opportunities for the worker, and land which will keep the larder well supplied.

IF "P.R" HAD OPERATED

WRITING IN THE LONDON NEWS-Chronicle, Sir Walter Layton says that any conclusions foreigners might draw from the recent clean sweep of the British Labor party will be modified when they study the record of votes cast, since an electoral system in which a fall of twenty per cent in the votes given to a particular party produces a fall in representation from 280 seats to fifty-one seats "must be almost unique."

The dangers of a weak opposition are being pointed out in many quarters in Great Britain. The question also is being asked whether the present unequal division of strength in the House of Commons will not make it expedient for the nation to adopt the policy of Proportional Representation before another election takes place.

The extraordinary feature of the election is also emphasized by The Scotsman, which notes that while the opposition parties polled more than 7,000,000 votes to about double that number given to the National Government candidates, the opposition holds only sixty-one seats in the new House of Commons out of a total of 615. In Sheffield, for instance, nearly 85,000 electors voted Labor; in Bradford more than 60,000; in Manchester and Salford very nearly 150,000. Yet from not one of those great cities was a single Labor member returned to represent that substantial body of opinion.

The only way in which this situation can be remedied, of course, is by the adoption of Proportional Representation. But the Labor followers of Mr. Ramsay MacDonald rejected the proposal when Mr. Lloyd George pressed for it. Back of their objection obviously was the belief that it would have led to the revival of Liberalism. Failure to go through with it, however, was very largely responsible for their own undoing.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

MILLIONS FOR DUMB ANIMALS
The St. Thomas Times-Journal

Two million dollars have been left to dumb animals. This is the first time on record such a vast sum has been left to dumb animals of the four-legged variety, but history records that "dumb" persons of the two-legged variety have frequently inherited fortunes.

WHAT ADVERTISING CAN DO
London Free Press

The will of the late Hon. P. C. Larkin, one-time Canadian High Commissioner to Great Britain, has been probated and his fortune amounts to $3,500,000, the bulk of which goes to his family. As Mr. Larkin commenced his business life as a tea merchant in a very humble way, and blessed with very few of this world's goods, his success is a striking example of what can be achieved by energy, enterprise and advertising, remarks The Mount Forest Confederate.

Mr. Larkin was one of those great merchant princes who was one of the earliest advocates of heavy and continuous advertising; one who believed wholeheartedly in advertising and in repetition to achieve results. Another in much the same business was the late Sir Thomas Lipton, while in the United States there was Charles Wanamaker. These men, and many others, established vast enterprises after starting with practically nothing. They were the pioneers of the great advertising industry. Continuously, in hard times and good, they presented their wares to the public through the medium of the daily newspapers, and the products they manufactured or sold became household words throughout the huge territories they served.

A THOUGHT

Yet if any man suffer as a Christian, let him not be ashamed; but let him glorify God on this behalf.—Peter iv 16.

Loose Ends

Mr. Ford is off on another tangent—there is suffering in high places—a sound suggestion is advanced—and another outrage committed.

By H. B. W.

MR. HENRY FORD says that we are returning to a new kind of prosperity, a solid prosperity which will endure, apparently, unto all generations, because it will not develop a boom and a consequent collapse. After the lesson of these hard times, thinks Mr. Ford, people will not go crazy again. They will not throw their money away on wild speculations, but, instead, will put it into worthwhile products, like automobiles. Thus, human nature having settled down to permanent stability (after a million years or so of instability), it will be possible also to stabilize business. Then everything will be lovely.

* * *

MR. FORD'S expectations are not likely to be realized. For human nature is not going to be stabilized by this lesson. Nothing that can happen in one generation, or in a century, can permanently alter it. Even the War, which completely smashed our generation in one way or another, has not yet taught the world to prevent another one. I predict that as soon as good times return people will go as crazy as ever. Let stocks rise an average of forty points or so and you will find another bull market under way and everybody living beyond his income.

* * *

YOU CANNOT change human nature, even with the aid of Mr. Ford, though governments can prevent another disaster like the present one by preparing for it, by paying off the cost of the last one and laying aside for the next. And business, if it could get together, could prevent such fluctuations. But as long as we live at least, the human animal will still insist on taking a chance on something new. It was just this quality which gave him control of the earth when it might so easily have been left to a much stronger but less imaginative race of creatures. When that quality has been finally educated and legislated out of man, he may be more stable, he may be more like the product of a great factory, like Mr. Ford's automobiles. But that will require four of five centuries.

* * *

IN ALL this fuss over the dismissal of civil servants, no one seems to have considered the unhappiness of the government. I mean to say, I can imagine nothing worse than to be a cabinet minister, drawing $9,500 a year from the taxpayers (minus a recent cut of ten per cent) and being forced, in the public interest, to dismiss some poor clerk drawing $1,200. I can imagine nothing that requires greater devotion to the public welfare. I can imagine nothing more painful than to be a cabinet minister in these times, to go home to your large dinner with the realization that a lot of poor clerks and their children have no dinner at all. And yet, such is my devotion to the public welfare that, if I had to choose, I should unhesitatingly choose to be a cabinet minister at $9,500 (minus ten per cent) rather than a poor clerk at nothing at all. Happily for the country, we have other men who are willing to make the same patriotic choice.

* * *

BUT WHAT I was coming to was this—if the government is going to cut expenses in a general way, then it seems to me it should consider the possibility of charging for services now free rather than abolishing them altogether. It would be far better, for example, to charge a small fee, if only a few cents, for the use of the present free clinics and anti-tubercular service rather than to eliminate them. As a matter of fact, anything which reduces the standard of public health is poor economy and positive extravagance.

* * *

IN THE same way, people who enjoy library services and correspondence schools in the wilds undoubtedly would prefer to pay a small fee for them than to lose them altogether. Sportsmen, it seems to me, should pay the entire cost of all game administration in gun and fishing licenses. Why, for example, should I have to contribute to the raising of pheasants for other fellows to shoot, when they insist on shooting them on my property and often dangerously near my head as I walk along the Saanich Road? Why should you pay to propagate trout for me any more than I should buy your liquor at the vendor's store? If I were a bee keeper, for example, or a dairyman, I would prefer to pay a few cents for the visit of a government inspector to advise me, rather than lose his advice entirely. This idea is worth considering, despite its source.

* * *

I CAN understand the necessity for the provincial government's programme of cutting down things, but the cutting down which has been under way outside the buildings in the last fw days rather puzzles me; or rather it would puzzle me if I had not become hardened to anything by years of bitter experience. Yes, they are not only cutting down the civil service inside the Parliament Buildings; they are cutting down the trees outside. I am not just sure what trees they are cutting down because when I passed the other day they had removed one large tree completely and were hurriedly covering up a gaping hole in the grass, probably hoping I would not notice the butchery. It looked to me like one of the fine old English oaks which it has taken seventy-five years or so to grow.

* * *

I HAVE got past the stage of frothing at the mouth over the destruction of trees in Parliament Square. I merely ask how the removal of a fine old tree is going to reduce the cost of government in the present drive for economy. Just what do you save by cutting down a tree which should hev stood there for several hundred years yet? Well, the public of Victoria, which claims to value the finer things of life, will deserve just what it gets since it makes no objection to such outrages. I suppose it will begin to realize that something is happening when the grounds of the Parliament Buildings are as barren and bare and ugly as the windy fields of provincial statesmanship.

FAVORABLE REPORT

To the Editor:—Since I have tendered my resignation as secretary-treasurer to the Saanich Welfare Association I would esteem it a favor if you would kindly publish the following auditors' report.

"We beg to report that we have examined the books, accounts and vouchers of the association, and hereby certify that everything is correctly and properly recorded, and that in our opinion, the accounts employed are satisfactory and provide all the information required.

"ISMAY, BOSTON, HOLDEN & CO.,
"Chartered Accountants, Auitors.

For the protection of all those needy families of Saanich who have honored me with their confidence during the past three months, and whom it has been my privilege and pleasure to be in a position to help, I have deposited all record books, moneys, etc., at the Municipal Hall, Royal Oak, in trust.

I would further add, misleading reports notwithstanding, that I have not at any time accepted one cent from any source in recompense for my services.

(MRS.) MARY LYNN.

HOW MUCH, INDEED?

To the Editor:—I was surprised to hear Mr. Twigg refer, at the Conservative meeting Thursday evening, to the fact that the late Liberal government "left an inheritance of public debt which was costing the province 86 cents out of every dollar collected to pay off."

Our Minister of Finance, Mr. Jones, must have gasped, muttering, "Why bring that up now?" when he heard of what Mr. Twigg had said.

For Mr. Jones now has on his desk the compilation showing the Tolmie government is spending $29,000,000 a year, against a maximum possible income of $24,000,000.

This is without taking into consideration the additional expenditure that is being charged to capital account—further to increase that $31,000,000 of new debt Dr. Tolmie has added in three years of office to the province's former total, which he dramatically declared to be so appalling when the Liberals were in office.

Mr. Jones would like to call up Mr. Twigg and give him this advice: "Why talk about that 86 cents for their debt out of every dollar collected, when we are spending $29,000,000 a year, against $24,000,000 collected. Better go easy on that line, Despard, as we are spending $1.20 for every dollar collected."

As for the straight capital debt, as distinct from all current expenditure, here is a little problem in arithmetic for Mr. Twigg to figure out and let us know the answer:

If it took 86 cents out of every dollar of the taxpayers' money collected to pay off the Liberal debt of $84,000,000, of three years ago, how many cents out of the same dollar will it now take to pay off the Conservative Tolmie debt of $115,000,000 to-day?

ANOTHER WHO IS NOW PAYING UP.

RAILWAYMEN'S WAGES

To the Editor:—If the conciliation board now sitting in Montreal has done nothing else it has certainly removed the veil of mystery as regards railwaymen's wages. For instance, Mr. Hodge, speaking on behalf of the railways, mentions the run from Smith's Falls to Montreal and back, which occupies exactly eight hours, and for which the engineer receives $20.41, or

The new police telephone call system was tested at midnight, and during the morning one or two reports were successfully sent in by patrolmen on beats. WARD LIBERALS ELECT FRASER

Gilbert Fraser Chosen President of Ward Four Liberals Yesterday

M. B. Jackson, K.C., and Major F. Richardson Address Annual Meeting

Gilbert Fraser was yesterday evening elected president of the Ward Four Liberal Association at the annual meeting held at the Liberal headquarters, Broughton and Government Streets. The election was a keenly-contested three-cornered fight, with George Pauline, retiring president, and A. W. Arnup, a past president, as the other aspirants. Two ballots were required, and on the first count Mr. Fraser and Mr. Arnup tied, with Mr. Pauline announced as one vote behind. M. B. Jackson, K.C., declared the election to be the closest he had ever witnessed.

Another close triangular contest for the vice-presidency resulted in the election of Miss Wilma Henderson, her opponents being Mr. Pauline and N. Dimoline. Mrs. J. Nelson was unanimously re-elected for a fifth terms as secretary and Mr. Dimoline was also given an acclamation for another term as treasurer. The delegates to the central executive will be Mrs. G. W. Chapman, Mrs. J. F. Lee, Carew Martin and Mr. Arnup.

The monthly meeting was transferred to the first Thursday in each month. No meeting will be held in December, the first gathering being scheduled for January 7.

SEES SHOCK COMING

Brief addresses were given by Mr. Jackson and by Major Fred Richardson, O.B.E., president of the Victoria Liberal Association. Mr. Jackson believed that 1932 would prove to be a vital year in the political history of British Columbia. The province was now in a calamitous position, and the Tolmie government must take the responsibility for the situation, he said.

There were things incompatible with the government, such as thrift, prudence and economy. Its extravagance had meant increased taxation. That so far effected was only a hint of what must be disclosed to the people when the Legislature next met, Mr. Jackson forecast.

"They cannot stay in office long. Like all governments in difficulties they will seize the first excuse to go to the country. It is on the cards that they will not be able to weather the next session. I very much question whether their followers will allow the Tolmie administration to carry on," he stated.

Mr. Jackson closed his remarks with advice on the importance of detailed preparation and careful organization as steps towards restoration of the Liberal Party to power.

BENNETT CHANGING

Major Richardson discussed federal conditions, expressing the opinion that Premier Bennett's ideas were changing to conform to the basic ideas of Liberalism. "He will yet come to realize that reciprocity in trade is the only proper policy. His first words on his visit to England last year were 'Canada First.' See what he said this time. He said 'Empire.' Why? Because he has at last realized that, while Canada has 10,000,000 people this country produces on a scale adequate for a poulation of 30,000,000 or more consumers," he commented.

"In six months time we will see a New Zealand-Canada trade pact established on a par with that which was in effect before Mr. Bennett was placed in office," he forecasted.

Major Richardson closed with praise for T. D. Pattullo, Liberal leader, as a fighter of dogged pertinacity, asserting "Those fellows over James Bay are doomed to-day."

Chemainus

Chemainus, Nov. 27.—An enjoyable card party in aid of the Anglican building fund was held under the auspices of the Women's Auxiliary to the M.S.C.C. in the parish hall Wednesday. The prize winners for whist were: Ladies, first, Mrs. Stubbs; consolation, Miss Clement; gentlemen, first, R. Pearce; consolation, Miss Kathleen Porter, substitute; bridge, ladies, first, Miss Foster; consolation, Mrs. Vernon; gentlemen, first, Mr. Vernon; consolation, Mrs. M. Bailey, substitute. Refreshments were served, those assisting being: Mrs. Lang, Mrs. Inglis, Mrs. Work, Mrs. Porter, Mrs. Knight and Mrs. Toynbee.

Mrs. Grace Read is spending a vacation in Victoria.

Miss Plummer of Vancouver, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. R. Clegg.

Mrs. Grosscup has returned to Seattle after visiting her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Koch.

LIVED FOR TWO WEEKS IN ASH CAN

COASTING ALONG TO HEALTH

Bing, Boston terrier, is shown here on his novel "crutches." This device was rigged up to enable Bing to go on chasing cats and scaring away burglars, after an automobile had struck him and dislocated his spine. His master, Dr. James Day of Philadelphia, is giving Bing osteopathic treatments until he recovers from his injury.

TEACHER SALARY GRANT LOWERED

Intimation of Reduction Given By Minister of Education

So that municipalities may govern themselves accordingly, warning was given yesterday by Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe, Minister of Education, that government grants in aid of teachers' salaries will be cut next year. School boards will be officially notified next month of the proposed amount of the grants for next year.

It had previously been thought, Mr. Hinchliffe said, that the salary committee being formed by provincial suggestion could act in time to permit municipal bodies to take cognizance of any resultant action the government might take. It was now clear that this could not be, and instead the government will continue on a basis of its own in respect to teaching grants, as quite distinct from teachers' salaries, which are still subject of contracts and individual arrangement between the teachers and school boards

ONTARIO ECONOMY SUGGESTIONS

Peterboro, Ont., Nov. 27.—Resolutions declaring the Ontario Government should assume the whole cost of building and maintaining provincial highways and country roads, and that the salaries of all government, county and township employees should be reduced by 25 per cent, were carried at a mass meeting of Peterboro County farmers here yesterday.

All Superheterodynes . . . All with Variable Tone Control . . . All with Rogers Guaranteed Tubes!

SEE them now—the new Majestic Superheterodyne Radios for 1932—completely "made-in-Canada."

We searched the world over for outstanding improvements to incorporate in this radio. When you go to see the 1932 Models, ask your dealer to show you these exclusive Majestic features:

THE SPRAY-SHIELD TUBE

From Germany comes an entirely new method of spraying the shielding metal directly on to the tubes. This eliminates the necessity of the usual metal shield "cans." Each tube can be run at highest efficiency to secure improved selectivity, greater range and better tone. These are the only self-shield tubes in use.

TWIN-POWER DETECTION

From England comes the principle of twin-power detection adapted from "the perfect quality receiver" in the Science Museum at South Kensington, London. Two detectors working together give the listener every tone, perfectly co-ordinated and balanced—just as it enters the microphone.

THE "MODULATED" CIRCUIT

Majestic has actually improved the seemingly unimprovable. The result—the new "Modulated" circuit—enables Majestic to offer a Superheterodyne radio with the economy of only 5 tubes that gives superior sensitivity, range and reproduction.

Majestic Radios for 1932 not only have these noteworthy and exclusive improvements, but are the lowest-price, greatest-dollar-value Majestics ever produced.

CHICKEN BONE CAUSES DEATH LYA DE PUTTI

Grand-niece of Bismarck Had Meteoric Rise in Film World

New York, Nov. 27.—Lya de Putti, Hungarian screen actress, died at 1.05 a.m. to-day in Harbor Sanatarium, of pneumonia, at the age of thirty-two years.

Miss de Putti, who had been in the hospital since November 19, when she underwent a throat operation for infection caused by the removal of a chicken bone, had been unconscious for two days, kept alive by oxygen administered by several physicians working in relays day and night.

THE LATE LYA DE PUTTI

HAD SENSATIONAL RISE

Lya de Putti had a sensational rise in screenland. She climbed to fame in Berlin, London and Hollywood after a start as a dancer and an extra girl in pictures.

While she was premier danseuse at the Berlin Winter Garden in 1924, Joi Mai, German director, singled her out as a film type and cast her in her first successful picture, "The Mistress of the World." She followed that swiftly with triumphs in "Manon Lescaut" and "Variety," U.F.A. productions.

The latter, in which she co-starred with Emil Jannings, brought her an offer from Famous Players-Lasky in America.

KILLED BY TALKIES

Although her work in the Hollywood studios was accorded general approbation, it never lived up to the promise the petite performer had given in the foreign-made films. The arrival of talking pictures spelled doom to her Hollywood ambitions. She felt there was no place in American talking pictures for an actress with a foreign accent.

Efforts to win a public on the vaudeville and legitimate stage fared poorly.

MARRIED TWICE

When she arrived here in February, 1926, she brought the glamor of an adventurous career that had given all Europe much for conversation.

She told reporters then she was twenty-two, although the liner's manifest listed her as twenty-six. Whatever her age, she crowded much into her life, including two marriages, two children and a few publicized romances.

BORN IN HUNGARY

Her first husband was a district governor in Hungary and her two children his. Her second husband was Ludwig Christianson, a Norwegian merchant, who died of tuberculosis.

She was born in Vecze, Hungary. As for her family, she said her mother was Constance Hoyos, member of an old Hungarian family, and that on her father's side she was the niece of Prince Bismarck, son of the Iron Chancellor.

Recently the Earl of Bessborough, Governor-General of Canada, was the guest of Mr. Clifford Sifton of Toronto at luncheon at a Toronto hotel in a scene reminiscent of the hunting field. The hall in which the luncheon was held was converted into a tan bark arena. The room was encircled by a white fence, shoulder high, at the four corners of which were open gateways. Hurdles and hedges were in place and trees and shrubbery decorated the room. The table was arranged in horseshoe shape.

The commercial staff of the B.C. Telephone Company held a delightful bridge party on Tuesday evening in the New Thought Hall, in aid of the operators' Christmas cheer fund. Twenty-three tables were in play during the evening, and dainty refreshments were served from a table prettily decorated in a color scheme of green and white. The prizes were presented by Mrs. F. C. Paterson to Miss Winnie Sheret, ladies' first, and Miss V. McNaughton, second; Mr. A. Whittaker, men's first, and Mr. Bob Sheret, second. Dancing was then enjoyed by the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Paterson, Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Waters, Mr. and Mrs. J. Farrell, Mr. and Mrs. A. Whittaker, Mr. and Mrs. N. Baker, Mr. and Mrs. J. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. W. More, Mr. and Mrs. Hole, Mr. and Mrs. J. McCreadie, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Connell, Mr. and Mrs. S. Skillings, Mr. and Mrs. P. Nevard, Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Connell, Mr. and Mrs. E. ENDURED MANY HARDSHIPS IN REMOTE ARCTIC

Mrs. I. O. Stringer Tells of Early Days; Husband Was Doctor at Children's Birth

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, Nov. 27.—In the spring of 1895 a young bride set out from Kincardine, Ont., to share with her husband the arduous life of the missionary in the remote stretches of the Arctic. Looking amazingly young, despite thirty-five years spent in ministering to her Eskimo "parishioners," Mrs. I. O. Stringer, wife of the present archbishop of Rupert's Land, related her experiences recently in a colorful talk here before the Women's Canadian Club.

Mrs. Stringer was the first woman to set foot on Herschel Island. At that time the Hudson's Bay Company or the mounted police had no established posts on the island. Her first home, she related, was a one-roomed hut of sod. Later the sod hut was replaced by a house of timber, brought north from San Francisco, a 2,000-mile voyage. It became known as "Igloopukk,"—the biggest house.

KILLED WHEN ANGERED

Seventeen years passed, Mrs. Stringer said, before the first convert rewarded their efforts. She told of finding fierce-looking chieftains who pierced their lips and decked them with huge ornaments, of natives whose sole purpose it was to kill when angered, of women skilful in stitching and fancy work beyond any civilized people, and of a fine spiritual response—all of which was woven into the fabric of her life through years of service in the Arctic.

At first Mrs. Stringer was terrified when stalwart Eskimos with bedecked faces, big headdresses and shaven heads would come into her house, brandishing the knives they always carried. She soon learned, however, that it was only curiosity that brought them. Both men and women are exceedingly clever in making boats without nails and fashioning vessels from horns.

ADEPT AT DRESSMAKING

The womenfolk of these "children of the Arctic" were adept at the dressmaking art, Mrs. Stringer said. Using a queer-curved knife they can fashion a garment with amazing speed. They are sticklers for style, too, she remarked, each garment showing rare and lovely patterns, inset with bits of white fur.

Worries of house cleaning—a nightmare to the average housekeeper, have yet to be experienced by the ladies of the north, Mrs. Stringer remarked. The Eskimo can build an igloo in an hour, which means that when one house gets uncomfortably dirty the family move into another.

Language barriers proved an obstacle to missionary work at first, but by degrees the Eskimo took in a little school which was established for their benefit. Later on, other "special schools" were set up on the island where natives are now taught the rudiments of education, animal husbandry and a determined effort now is being made to encourage them in reindeer ranching.

HUSBAND AS MIDWIFE

Mrs. Stringer did not dwell on the hardships of her life in the north, but told in passing of her two eldest children who were born on Herschel Island with her husband as doctor, nurse and attendant. Her son, Herschel, is a missionary doctor on the Columbia River to-day, and her daughter, Mrs. J. Wilkinson, recently returned home from India.

In all her vivid tale no feature won more applause than her portrayal of a native war song, chanted to the weird sound of the Eskimo drum, which was often heard on dark nights in the far north.

St. Paul's Church At Nanaimo Now Nears Completion

Entertainment For Kiddies Planned By Hudson's Bay Company

Nearly 3,000 children will welcome the arrival of Santa Claus to-morrow morning at the Capitol Theatre. In advance of his coming the genial old gentleman has arranged, in co-operation with the Hudson's Bay Company, for an entertainment which will tax the capacity of the theatre at two performances, the first of which will commence at 9.30 o'clock, and the second at 11 o'clock.

It was announced to-day that all tickets have been sold, but Santa has sent word that in the afternoon and the days that follow he will have his headquarters in "Toy Fair," on the third floor of the Hudson's Bay store, and there he will be pleased to see all those unable to meet him to-morrow morning.

WELL-KNOWN CHARACTERS

The entertainment, the proceeds of which are for the Solarium, promises to be one full of fun and interest for, besides the appearance of Santa himself, one known as the "Musical Mystic" will take part in the programme, assisted by "Amos and Andy." There will be "talkie" pictures in which "Mickey Mouse" will be a leading figure.

Also taking a prominent part will be sixteen pupils of Miss Violet Fowkes, who will contribute several new dance numbers.

Miss Mable Irvine will be at the console of the organ.

Santa's little friends are reminded that blue tickets only will gain admission to the 9.30 performance, and that yellow tickets will admit to the 11 o'clock performance.

J.B.A.A. Dance At Clubhouse To-morrow Night

Members of the James Bay Athletic Association will hold one of their series of popular dances in the clubhouse at the Gorge to-morrow evening. Dancing will commence at 9.30 o'clock and the dance committee has arranged for special music.

CONSTIPATION

Banished for 20 Years

No one could have had more experience of constipation than this man. His method of correcting the trouble would surely put right anybody who suffers in a similar way.

"I am now approaching my forty-ninth birthday and have used Kruschen Salts for many years. As a boy and youth I suffered at frequent times agonies from constipation. This was, after a time, somewhat relieved by a special pill compounded to a prescription, but which, at times, had a weakening effect. On someone's recommendation I tried a bottle of Kruschen Salts, and since then—a matter of at least twenty years ago—have used nothing else. My daily dose I take in hot water at 7.45 a.m."—E.A.D.

The six salts in Kruschen are Nature's own prescription for keeping the organs of elimination working properly—gently but surely expelling all poisonous waste matter every day.

Start on "the little daily dose" of Kruschen to-morrow and so take the first step along the royal road to perfect health. (Advt.)

Premier to Open Lake Hill Fair

Premier Tolmie has consented to officiate at the opening ceremony of the annual country fair to be held in Lake Hill Community Hall on Wednesday, December 2, in aid of the gymnasium building fund. The fair will open at 3 o'clock.

An energetic committee under the convenership of Mrs. W. Mercer has prepared some pretty and useful articles of plain and fancy sewing, and there will be stalls of candy, home-cooking and other attractions. Conveners of the various stalls are as follows: Home-cooking, Mrs. Sherritt, Mrs. Cockerill, Mrs. Peddle; candy, Miss Simmonds, Mrs. Knowlton; sewing, Miss Borden, Mrs. McCallum, Mrs. Webster; parcel post, Miss F. Peddle, Miss Stewart; bran tub, Mrs. Currie; chicken dinner, Mrs. Myles; tea, Mrs. Simmonds, Mrs. Akerman, Mrs. Walton.

In the evening a dance will be held for which a popular three-piece orchestra will provide the music.

CATARRHAL DEAFNESS MAY BE OVERCOME

If you have catarrhal deafness or head noises go to MacFarlane Drug Co., or your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmint (double strength) and add to it ¾ pint of hot water and a little sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucous stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has catarrhal deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial. (Advt.)

I.O.D.E. ENJOY NEW QUARTERS

Municipal Chapter Met Yesterday in Larger Rooms; Excellent Reports Given

There was a very large attendance yesterday evening when Municipal Chapter, I.O.D.E., met for the first time in the new rooms. The new rooms are a tremendous improvement on the old ones, and a splendid innovation has been made by Mrs. L. A. Genge, Municipal regent, in having a place with comfortable chairs, magazines and facilities for spending a restful hour provided for members. While this convenience was primarily for out-of-town members, all are welcome, and Mrs. Genge hopes that members will take advantage of it. Notepaper will be available also.

Thirteen chapters were represented at the meeting, and many varied and useful packages were brought for the Christmas hampers. There was a wonderful response to this appeal for gifts. Arrangements were made for an executive meeting to be held to deal with the matter of Christmas hampers, and Mrs. Miles spoke of the arrangements which will be made to prevent overlapping and to ensure a fair division of Christmas cheer among deserving cases. The executive meeting will take place on Wednesday morning, December 9, at 10.30 o'clock in the rooms.

SPEAKS OF SEAMEN'S HOSTEL

C. E. H. Lloyd, assistant secretary of the Seamen's Hospital Society, who is now on tour in the Dominions on behalf of this society, spoke of the close connection between Victoria and the sailors in this hospital, and made a warm appeal to the generosity of members to support this object.

The summary of Provincial Chapter's executive meeting was read. Mrs. Curtis Sampson spoke of the Empire Marketing Board posters which will shortly be received, and are to be displayed in stores, etc., in connection with the buy Dominion goods campaign, which is now in operation. Mrs. E. C. Hayward will have charge of the disposal of these very attractive posters.

Mrs. S. Oliver, educational secretary, read a very interesting report, which included charming letters written by school children in the Peace River district, expressing in a delightfully naive manner the appreciation they feel for the libraries provided by the I.O.D.E. for out-of-town schools. Three libraries were sent out last month.

A letter of appreciation from Sir Percy Lake, thanking the I.O.D.E. for their attendance at the Armistice Period services, and commenting on the fine display of standards, which he said added impressiveness to the ceremonies.

SPLENDID REPORTS

Mrs. P. E. Corby read the report on Girl Guides, and asked that all members endeavor to attend the swimming gala to be put on by the Girl Guides at the Crystal Gardens on December 5. Mrs. Campbell read the League of Nations' report. Mrs. G. Miles read the Child Welfare report and spoke of the gratifying donations she had received during the month, including baby clothes from several chapters. Twenty-two dollars worth of groceries were sent to Quatiaski Cove.

Next week is to be known as "Workroom" Week and various functions will take place in aid of this object, and a tag day will end the week. Mrs. Miles and Mrs. Prior will convene a corner for the I.O.D.E. at the women's workroom tag day, December 5.

Mrs. Hopkins gave a report of the Local Council of Women and stated that nominations are now in order for officers and convenors of standing committees for this council.

A letter was read from the National Council of Education, enclosing tickets for the lecture shortly to be given by George Pilcher, and members were asked to attend. Mrs. A. E. Hopkins was unanimously appointed to carry on the business of municipal secretary during the absence of Mrs. Andrew Mackenzie, who will leave shortly for the east.

Mrs. S. Wood spoke of a function which will be held by the Royal Bride Chapter to commemorate the first crossing of the Atlantic by airplane, which was accomplished by Alcock and Brown in June, 1919. All chapters are asked to give their support to this function. Mrs. Curtis Sampson and Mrs. McMicking answered the questions which had been put in the question box, and which pertained to I.O.D.E. methods.

A standing vote of sympathy was passed to Mrs. J. Hebden Gillespie in her recent great bereavement.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

HEALTHY BABY SUFFERS LITTLE AT TEETHING TIME

A mother is inclined to be disappointed when her fears about the teething period are not realized. She has been led to believe that teething is a distrubing process, and if her baby accomplishes it without fireworks, she feels that it must be unusual. The fact is that the teething begins before birth, continuing in rhythms of activity and inactivity until all the first twenty teeth are safely in. From the fifth to the eighth month, sometimes earlier, sometimes later, the first two fully developed teeth emerge from the gums.

BABY SHOULD NOT BE UPSET

All physical development takes place as the result of the baby's diet and generally healthful environment both before and after his birth. It should be no more upsetting for a baby to "grow" teeth than bones or fingernails. When it is, the mother may be certain that in some way she is violating good health rules.

The healthy baby has no reason to suffer while teething if his body needs are well supplied by his diet, and if he gets an abundance of fresh air, plenty of sleep, and cod liver oil in the winter time. It is usually the rickety baby who reacts dramatically with diarrhea and convulsions and whatnot whenever a tooth comes through. His body lacks the mineral elements to build up strong bones and teeth, and his nervous system is all askew because of this mineral deprivation.

DIET DESERVES BLAME

Months of fretfulness, sleeplessness, failure to gain, indigestion, and rashes cannot be explained by the plea that baby is teething. That puts the cart before the horse. The diet is at fault and must bear the burden for these conditions.

It is possible for even the healthy baby to show some slight disturbance two or three days before a tooth pops in. Ordinarily there is an indifference to food, an unusual whininess, perhaps even a night or two of disturbed sleep. The indisposition may be so slight that mother hardly notices it until the tooth appears t;hen she remembers the way baby has been acting.

LATER TEETHING

Those old bogies, stomach and eye teeth, have no more reason to cause the baby discomfort than the first teeth. If they do, it is because mother has relaxed her vigilance over baby's diet. She may be letting him sit at the family table and feeding himself as his fancy dictates. Poor feeding after the first year will demand its toll, and the baby's malnutrition will be more apparent when the system is being taxed to provide the material for the teeth.

The temporary discomforts of erupting teeth which baby experiences earn the sympathy of every adult who has suffered with a wisdom tooth. We understand, then, that baby has a real excuse for being cross, disliking food, and wanting to have his small, hot gums rubbed with ice cold water. But the serious upheavals which are mistakenly identified as "teething" merely point the way to conditions that should be remedied and corrected. Any disturbance or discomfort which lasts more than a few days and is not immediately followed by teeth, demands another diagnosis.

approximately $500 per month. The rest of the crew in proportion, of course. It is a crime to waste money via a costly commission to decide whether ten per cent should be cut off such a wage. And these wages have been in force for ten years, ever since the outrageous Adamson Law went into effect and Canada copied it in order to "keep up with the Joneses." Such salaries should be cut 50 per cent. Another thing, how can Senator Murdock, himself a vice-president in the Railwaymen's Union, act impartially on such a conciliation board when he has shown conclusively that his union comes first and country a bad second?

We are beginning to see by now how it happens that a farmer who puts in a month of hard work and eventually ships a carload of potatoes gets a bill for $5 expenses, whereas the engineman who hauls them gets $500 in cash.

It is amazing that labor unions persist in refusing to see the handwriting on the wall. Locomotives in thousands are being shipped from the United States to Russia, and Russian women are on the footplate and Russian women are firing. These locomotives are undoubtedly hauling paving blocks (just as an instance) to the seaboard, at from one-sixth to one-eighth the cost of the Canadian haul, and, of course, Hull city is buying them. But, of course, our "standard of living" must not be interfered with, even though it may have reached, by a method of dragooning and intimidation, to $500 per month. As far as the C.N.R. is concerned, the employees on this line drew in wages last year nearly $3,000,000 more than the line earned.

Britain wastes no time on idiotic commissions in a crisis like this. Britain cuts and balances the budget. Those who have a real grievance through the cutting are at liberty to state their case, and it will be dealt with fairly.

With regard to railwaymen's wages, a salary of $500 per month in 1929 is actually worth nearer $850 to-day. The so-called "working class traitor" is not the worker who accepts a cut in a national emergency, but the one who refuses to bear his share of the leadership is the traitor, whilst prating of his rights." WALTER FOSTER.

The All-Vegetable Laxative

Friday, Nov. 27.—Lay long abed reviewing our argument of last night—nettled that Samuel will arrive at no decision.

Ring Mistress Castlemaine and arrange to meet her at McMartin's on Yates Street. Methinks people who treasure lovely things delight in making gifts of fine leather, and McMartin's are always authority on the latest mode in leather goods. A new shipment of bags from England just arrived, and so many to choose from, 'tis bewildering—gorgeous evening bags and at most reasonable prices. A gift of goode leather shows goode taste.

Up to 1623 Douglas Street to Barber's Toy Store for a gift for little Peter. Forsoothe, the store's a maze of gifts and pleasant 'tis to wander round at leisure. Many Canadian, English and other Empire toys—chemistry and conjuring sets—here's a gift Peter's daddy will enjoy almost as much as he—a Hobbies fretwork machine—'twill make many useful pretty things and while away numberless idle hours—'tis reasonable, too. Hornby trains, tool chests, colored Meccano sets, as low as 20c and——

But must write down my impressions of Diggon's, always one of our favorite Christmas shops. Do love these hasty notes — amusing and informal — a parade of wee Scotties says "More to follow," and a fluffy squirrel retails "Just a little gossip." Nan will love this little nursery rhyme bureau with drawers full of notepaper, or shall I give her the trundle bed or piano—each, too, for a mere song. A cedar chest or book covers with stationery, useful gifts when the contents are gone.

Next door to Foster's—la! Why did I not ask Samuel to meet us here? But perhaps this would not have been a good day—we did part a little vexed.

Nathless, within—do enjoy talking with Mister Alexander—he knows furs so well. Squirrel is particularly good this year, and lovely coats they have of it—do greatly covet this brown squirrel—methinks it came from out dark forests, where never shines the sun. Broadtail, muskrat and Hudson seal are the mode to-day, and at Foster's there 're hundreds—hundreds, I mean thousands, to choose from, at such reasonable prices because made in their own factory.

Mistress Castlemaine wants some of Messrs. Robertson's brass, so down Government to 1007—a distinctive shoppe—its very nature makes all its contents different—now these brass knockers and ash trays, the Lincoln Imp, Cheshire Cat, Punch and Judy, Scottish terriers, all appealing—the Irish harp—merry King Charles did not like that! Bells, tongs, useful ornamental trivets and some wee gifts at 20c. Buy this big fierce lion to guard our oak door. One would not knock lightly with it.

Down Fort Street, and passing Messrs. Kingham, Gillespie's puts me to mind to have Samuel see about our coal. Did see a motto of theirs—"A coal and a service worth crowing about"—more truthful than these slogans sometimes prove. Methinks 'tis time our coal was in the cellar of our new house. We've had one cold snap already, and now here's another to-day! In truth but last night did almost fancy I could hear the Bell-man. "Past one of the clock and a cold, frosty, windy morning!"

Well, here we are next to the Posy Shoppe, and what a gorgeous array of stately chrysanthemums—do want several of those enchanting sachets filled with fragrance of lavender and bergamot, peeping thru' the dainty organdy with its posy of colorful flowers and clinging tendrils. Methinks in dainty boudoir the pixies would find them and, dancing the night thru, woo peaceful sleep and pleasant dreams. Must order a few of these fine ferns anent our housewarming.

Wind up our shopping at the Old Peking, 722 Fort Street. Mistress Castlemaine brings out a list of nine friends for whom she would choose small distinctive gifts. I potter about and do find filmy cobweb hankies, gorgeous Chinese dolls, loveliest Chinese negligees, necklets of unusual design in rose quartz, amethyst soapstone turquoise-matrix, jade—silver spoons and lemon forks, with carved jade or wee teapot handles, many in bewitching Chinese silk-covered boxes—handsome gifts at small prices—would scarce believe Mistress Castlemaine got her nine gifts for but $6.50!

Home with Mistress Castlemaine and phone Samuel to call for me, which he does, with not so good a grace, when 'tis remembered we've been parted for some time, till but a few days ago.

Gems of Peril

Bowen nodded. "Don't worry about me. I'll go take a look at the kitchen if I can't get out any other way."

Mary followed the bellboy, her limbs quaking treacherously. As she walked around the high-backed chair to face its occupant, she felt a weakness that was almost like fainting.

The outstretched legs, garbed in white linen, were uncommunicative. As she came face to face with the man in the chair, who rose swiftly to meet her, her relief was almost equal to her puzzlement.

He was not, as she had feared, De Loma, but a stranger. Try as she would, from a quick scanning of the good-looking, sunburned face, she could not recall ever having seen the man before in her life.

CHAPTER XXXII

The tall young man stood shyly turning his huge Panama hat in his big sunburned hands, and looking down at Mary with ill-concealed interest.

He spoke in a soft, southern voice that was somewhat reassuring.

"Mist' Jupiter sent me to fetch you," he said. "He's waiting out at the Hilltop Inn and he cert'ny is mighty anxious to see you!"

His half-embarrassed grin was boyish and ingratiating, and Mary found herself smiling back and ready to go with him, before she thought to ask, "Which Mr. Jupiter?"

"I don't know that, ma'am," the young man responded regretfully. "He never said. Just Mist' Jupiter, ma'am, was all he told me."

"Young or old?" Mary asked. "Describe him."

"Well, he's gettin' on, but he's mighty peart for an old man, yes suh!"

Mary laughed. "I guess it's all right," she said. "You see, he has a son. Was there anybody with him? Did he give you any idea what he wanted to see me about?"

On second thought, it did seem rather odd that Mr. Jupiter should set out from the hotel without having made any effort to see her, and then suddenly decide that an interview was necessary. Something must have happened—

"He's all by hisself," the stranger said. "Seems like he left his party and went off like that so's he could have a private conversation with you, ma'am. And if you don't mind hurrying—he was in a powerful hurry, ma'am—if you don't mind."

"Just one second," Mary bade him wait, and hurried back to the dining-room to tell Bowen.

"Hey, hey, I'm going with you!" Bowen announced.

They argued over it, Mary holding that they must not be seen together—on the general theory that to The Fly a newspaperman's presence in the group would be like a signpost pointing to trouble, and in particular because of Bowen's stories on the Jupiter murder and his presence at Shay's the night an attempt was made to arrest The Fly.

Mary considered.

"Any way, what good would you be against two of them? My one-man army!" She tapped him on the shoulder with mock dignity. "No, you stay here. I'll call you and let you know everything's all right."

"All right. Call me here." He gave her a telephone number. "That's my club." He winked. "It's a drug-store. I'd rather fill up on sodas than weak tea while I'm waiting. And listen, woman, I'm going to get gray around the temples waiting to hear from you. So don't forget!"

"I won't. And remember, if you don't hear from me—the Hilltop Inn. Bring the U.S. Marines and hurry to the rescue!"

Unconsciously she had begun to adopt Bowen's kidding attitude—somehow it made things easier. Bolstered up her courage, in fact, to be facetious in the face of almost certain danger. For she had made up her mind that if the man who had sent for her did in fact turn out to be De Loma she would not run, but bluff it through somehow. It would really be a relief if things came to a climax at once.

She got into the front seat of a dusty, nondescript little car beside the tall young man, and thought of nothing but keeping her seat and holding to her floppy sunhat while they tore at a breakneck speed out the coast road and along the shore.

The Hilltop Inn was not imposing . . . in fact, it was nothing more than a glorified quick-lunch stand, surrounded on all sides by a broad screened veranda on which were bare wooden tables and chairs. At one of these, before she climbed out of the car, Mary caught sight of the stout, white-clad but slightly wilted figure of old Jupiter, impatiently mopping his brow. What joyful relief that it was he!

The young man tooled his car into the side-yard and helped her. Mr. Jupiter raised on the screen and called out, "Don't go 'way there, son! I got another errand for you in a little while!"

The young man nodded, got out and went over to the soda stand, and climbed indolently upon a stool prepared to wait. He was well out of hearing.

"It's all-fired hot to bring you all the way out here, Mary," the old man apologized, "but I got some things on my mind that I've just naturally got to talk over with you. Don't seem as if we get much chance lately."

This was putting it mildly, Mary thought. "Where are the others?"

"I told 'em to let me out and go on." He mopped his damp brow. "I've had about enough of this Florida climate for one day. But that wasn't it. I wanted to get back to town and have a word with you. We stopped this here feller going in the opposite direction, and he said he'd take me back to the hotel, so they went on—Bruce and Bates, and—her.

"However, I changed my mind soon as I got out of their hearing, and made him stop here, instead. Be just like Bruce to turn around and go back to the hotel to make certain nobody was taking the gold filling out of my teeth while he wasn't looking. I didn't want to be interrupted.

"Now, here's the first thing; you know anything about that De Loma chap that we met last night?"

"Plenty," Mary said grimly. "Why?"

"You don't have to tell me he's a bad one," the old man growled. "I ain't lived to be nearly seventy without knowing a rotten egg when I smell one. You know what I think? It wouldn't surprise me none if De Loma wasn't the guy we're looking for!"

A cold chill crept down the girl's spine at this uncanny perception. It was almost supernatural. Her eyes smarted with quick tears for a second. They thought he was a back number, did they? Well, either it was a miraculous sort of prescience that had warned the old man of the presence of his enemy or a simple canniness that was more awesome still. And with this suspicion in his mind, he had still acted the senile innocent, and fooled everybody! She wanted to hug him for very admiration.

"He is The Fly," she said. "We're as sure of it as we can possibly be. I've been wanting to tell you—and afraid to. It's awful, when you think about it—that there he sits—he has the audacity to eat—and drink—and—and breathe—oh!"

She must not think of it—that was perilous! And to go on in that strain might undermine the old man's self-control, too.

Jupiter cleared his throat. "Now, here's another thing," he said, leaning his elbows on the table and laying the index finger of his right hand in the palm of his left. He was making a hard and very successful effort to be practical and not give way to emotion at this time, though the girl could not guess that. She marveled at his calmness.

"You know," he began, "or—rather, you don't know, because they don't anybody know but just me and one or two others, that there's a Lorimor car belong to me."

Mary's eyes widened at the revelation. It was the very thing she wanted most to know about, but she had choked on the question whenever opportunity arose to ask it.

"I had Tom buy it for me. I kept it secret. Bound to be talk if I bought any car not put out by the Jupiter Motor Company, and I thought it was just as well not to let the Lorimer people be able to say I had to buy one of their cars to get any place.

"But the fact is," he hesitated, and Mary fairly twitched with impatience, "the fact is—now, you keep this to yourself, Mary—but the Lorimer car is a darn good car and it's been cutting into our sales to the point where it's not funny any more. Now, I know all about the Lorimer car. They haven't got so much as a washer on it that we haven't got, or can't put, on a Jupiter. But I'm damned if a lot of people don't prefer it to the Jupiter. Now why?

"I says to myself, 'I'm going to find out.' So I gave Tom $5,000 cash to buy a brand-new Lorimor. You've heard me say Tom's the best mechanic alive, and he is. That's why I keep him. He ain't so trustworthy in all ways—I've found that out. But I'd rather have him on my cars than some honest lunkhead. And if he wasn't lacking somewheres he'd be down at the plant, getting $20,000 a year, instead of wearing my livery and sleeping over a garage.

Breathless as she was with eagerness for him to get on to the point of the story, Mary could not help recognizing that the faults of Tom were a real heartache to the old man, so highly did he esteem the man's mechanical genius.

"Well, I says to Tom," Jupiter went on, "this here's to be your car to fool with. Take it whenever you've got the time, and do tricks with it. Give it every test you can think of, just as if you was buying a car for yourself. I want to know just what you think of that car when you're done with it. Take it apart, if you want to, though I know what's inside, and so do you. Eat with it, sleep with it, get to know that Lorimer car as well as you know the Jupiter car. And when you've got an idea about the two makes of car, come and tell me where the difference is.

"Well, Tom was just like a kid with a clock to take apart. You never saw a happier man. Only— here's what I didn't know till just now—to-day, in fact—what Tom went and did was buy a second-hand car and pocket the difference!

CHEATS DEATH IN INDIAN JUNGLE

Mrs. Gladys McCleary Day, above, is en route to her home in Ridgewood, N.J., via San Francisco, following her thrilling escape from death in the jungles of India when the plane in which she and her husband, Charles H. Day, were making a world flight, crashed. The Days were rescued by natives after they had begun to despair of hope for escape from tigers and elephant herds.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY SISTER MARY

Some of the dishes of old New England have been handed down from generation to generation. They are particularly adapted for winter use when hearty fare is wanted. Boston baked beans at Saturday's supper and codfish cakes on Sunday morning is the old-fashioned rule, still observed by many New England housewives.

Boston baked beans are a nourishing and satisfying food that make a well balanced meal if served with brown bread and a crisp salad of cabbage or greens.

BOSTON BAKED BEANS

Two cups pea beans, one-third pound salt pork, two teaspoons salt, one tablespoon molasses, one tablespoon brown sugar, one-half teaspoon ground mustard, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, one small onion, one cup of boiling water.

Pick over and wash beans. Cover with cold water and let stand over night. In the morning drain, cover with fresh water and bring slowly to the boiling point. When water begins to boil drain and rinse beans in cold water. This prevents them from becoming broken and mushy during baking. In the bean pot put a thin slice of the salt pork and place the onion, peeled but not cut on the pork. Add half the beans. Cut through rind of remaining pork every half inch, making cuts one inch deep, and put on top of beans.

Add remaining beans, leaving the rind of the pork exposed. Mix salt, mustard, pepper, molasses and sugar with boiling water and pour over beans. Add enough more boiling water to cover. Cover bean pot and bake in a slow oven for six hours, removing cover the last hour of baking to allow the rind to become brown and crisp. Serve from bean pot.

Boston brown bread always is steamed rather than baked. Raisins may be added to suit the modern taste, but the original "Boston brown" was made without them.

BOSTON BROWN BREAD

One cup graham flour, one cup granulated cornmeal, one cup rye meal, one and one-half teaspoons soda, two cups sour milk.

Mix rye meal, corn meal and graham flour with salt. Add milk and molasses and mix until smooth. Dissolve soda in one teaspoon cold water and stir into batter, beating hard for about thirty seconds. Turn into well-buttered mold and steam three and one-half hours. Then put into a moderate oven for twenty minutes. Do not fill mold more than two-thirds full and fasten cover securely. Otherwise the bread, in rising, might force off the cover.

For steaming, put the mold on a trivet or any form standard that will elevate it about an inch from the bottom of the kettle. Add boiling water to come up half-way around the mold, cover closely and steam, adding more boiling water as needed. One pound baking powder boxes make attractive shaped loaves or a five-pound lard pail can be used if regulation molds are not at hand.

Glorifying Yourself

By ALICIA HART

(Copyright, 1913, by NEA Service, Inc.)

The goood old summer days are hard on your skin. But the winter days are apt to be harder.

If you have a skin that begins to show signs of roughness the minute Old Man Zero hovers near, you undoubtedly need to care for your skin day and night.

Not only should you use creams and oils that soften it and supply the fat it needs to prevent chapping. You must be very, very careful how you care for it.

Never wash either your face or hands and go right out into the cold air. Dry both so carefully that there is not the least suggestion of moisture having been near them in hours. It may take a little longer but it is worth it.

Be very careful of the soap you use. Certain soaps are easier on skins that incline to roughness. Sometimes medicinal soaps are excellent, but usually these should be recommended by a skin specialist or even your physician.

Never go out into the air without using a cream after washing.

One of the complexion oils is better for some skins than creams. But, having decided what your skin needs, take the time to cream your face, neck and hands thoroughly before venturing forth. Your face make-up will be the better for the cream base, anyhow. And your hands will be softer and stay softer if you are meticulous in this manner.

If your lips chap, there are white lipsticks that should be used along the outer edges of your lips before you apply your red lipstick. Nights these white lipsticks give the proper amount of lubrication for your lips to prevent chapping. If this does not seem adequate and your lips still rough up at the edges, try a little old-fashioned vaseline. It won't taste good. But it is effective

LANGFORD

A pleasant afternoon was spent at "Swastika," the home of Miss L. M. A. Savory, Wednesday afternoon, when the members of St. Matthew's Guild held their Christmas sale.

Many useful pieces of needlework were sold by the Dorcas secretary, Mrs. A. Walker.

The weight of a plum pudding was guessed by Mrs. R. J. Smith, the correct estimate being four pounds nine ounces.

Every visitor received a word tag which, when put together, proved to be the following sentence: "Competition on 'Why I should buy Canadian products,'" to be written by December 12, this being a contest sponsored by the Victoria Chamber of Commerce for women institute members. Locally grown rose trees were given to the successful competitors, Miss Jane Boutter and Miss Stella Hincks.

Afternoon tea was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. J. E. Macdonald, Mrs. H. G. Baynes, Miss Amy Green, Miss Sheena Smith and Miss M. S. M. Hincks.

The proceeds will be used by the guild for church needs.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily's Cranberry Tarts

By HOWARD R. GARIS

After Thanksgiving there were so many good things still left in the hollow stump bungalow of Uncle Wiggily that Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy said to Mrs. Longears, the rabbit lady:

"I think we shall not have to cook again until next week."

"I hope not," murmured Uncle Wiggily's wife. "We did enough cooking before Thanksgiving to last three weeks, I should say."

"We certainly had a fine Thanksgiving!" murmured Mr. Longears, who was half asleep in his easy chair.

"I'd rather have it Christmas every day," cried Jingle, a little girl rabbit.

"So do I!" said Jangle, her twin sister.

"Id rather have it Christmas every day," spoke Baby Bunty, the little orphan.

"Oh, that would be swell!" shouted Buster, who, as you may guess, was a boy bunny. "When will it be Christmas, Daddicums?" he asked.

"Oh, in about a month," answered Uncle Wiggily who was feeling sleepy and did not want to be bothered with questions. "Run out and play now, my dears," he told the children.

"Will it make Christmas come any quicker," Uncle Wiggily answered. "Of course," really, it will not. But the time passes faster when you have something to do or something to play."

"Come on out! We'll play snow tag!" shouted Buster.

The merry, shouting, jolly rabbit boys and girls rushed out of the bungalow and Uncle Wiggily settled himself more comfortably in his easy chair, gave his pink nose a wee twinkle or two and closed his eyes.

"What are you going to do?" asked his wife who was sewing some buttons on the clothes of her forty 'leven sixteen children

"Excuse me, but I am going to sleep," said Uncle Wiggily. "After I wake up I may go out to look for an adventure. But just now I am going to take a little sleep."

"Oh, no you aren't," his wife said, smiling and playfully shaking a paw at him. "No, indeed you aren't!"

"Why not?" Uncle Wiggily asked. He was so surprised that now he felt rather wide awake.

"Because," answered Mrs. Longears, "you are going to take some cranberry tarts over to Mrs. Bushytail, the squirrel lady."

"Cranberry tarts for the squirrel lady?" murmured Uncle Wiggily.

"Yes, and some for Mr. Bushytail and some for Johnnie and Billie, the squirrel boys," went on the rabbit lady. "It's like this, Mr. Longears," she explained. "Nurse Jane baked for Thanksgiving more cranberry tarts than we can eat. It would be a pity to let them spoil. So, as Mrs. Bushytail is very fond of them, I am going to send her a basket full. Will you take them?"

"Oh, yes," answered the rabbit gentleman. "Now that I am wide awake I might as well give up trying to go to sleep in the day time. I'll take the tarts to the squirrels and, on my way there, or back, I may have an adventure."

"I hope you do," his wife said.

Nurse Jane packed the cranberry tarts in a basket and covered them with a clean napkin. In case you don't know what tarts are I'll tell you they are like little pies and very good to eat.

Over the fields and through the woods hopped Uncle Wiggily. He was thinking how happy Billie and Johnnie would be to get the cranberry tarts when, all of a sudden, out from behind a bush popped—no, not any of the Bad Chaps, as you might suppose, but a poor, hungry old tramp dog.

"Hello, Uncle Wiggily!" barked the tramp dog.

"Hello," answered the rabbit gentleman. "Did you have a good Thanksgiving dinner?"

"I didn't have any dinner at all, to say nothing of a Thanksgiving one," barked the dog. "And I am so hungry!"

"You poor fellow!" murmured Mr. Longears. "Here, have a tart." He gave the dog a cranberry tart, and then, as the poor chap still looked hungry, Uncle Wiggily gave him the whole basket full. And as the dog ate the last tart, all of a sudden out from behind the bush popped—yes, this time it was a Bad Chap—the Fuzzy Fox. But the tramp dog barked so hard and growled so loudly that the Fox was frightened and ran away. Then Uncle Wiggily got more cranberry tarts for the Bushytails.

So everything was all right and Billie and Johnnie said the tarts were the best they had ever eaten. And if the nut cracker doesn't pull all the fuzz off the fur coat to make it look like a kid glove, I'll tell you about Uncle Wiggily's tooth paste.

Horoscope

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 28, 1931

According to astrology this is not a favorable day for many human interests. It is a time most auspicious for finishing whatever has been well begun.

It is well to avoid beginning anything important at the end of the week. There may be too much optimism.

Under this rule of the stars deception may be widespread and the tendency to deceive more common than usual.

It is not a fortunate day for inquiry into matters that affect either the heart or the pocketbook. The wise will watch themselves and employ the truth.

This should be a fairly happy day for making short trips, but card games may disturb the serenity of honest players.

Slow mental processes on the part of employees may be especially irritating as this day progresses. Patience will be a most precious attribute.

The evening should be quite favorable for the theatre or any other recreation that distracts attention from personal concerns.

India will be a storm zone next month, but it may be less affected by nature than by the thoughts of the people, the seers forecast.

Astrologers predict for the major part of Canada a winter of great cold and extraordinary winds. Saturn will cause many anxieties, it is predicted.

Saturn also may afflict the British Isles, causing strange effects on commerce and trade, the seers prophesy.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of possible obstacles and delays which should be easily overcome. A journey of importance for future success is presaged.

Children born on this day probably will be sensitive, talented and high-strung. Many subjects of this sign attain supreme success through the natural development of unusual gifts.

Those who have celebrated it as a birthday include William Blake, 1757, author, and Lindley M. Garrison, 1864, statesman.

Absence makes the heart grow fonder," mumured the sentimental youth.

"Oh, I don't know," remarked the matter-of-fact girl. "Did you ever try presents?"

ALIMONY CLUB GIVES THANKS

Men in Chicago Jail For Non-payment Observe Thanksgiving

Chicago, Nov. 27.—The Alimony Club gave thanks yesterday and honored a fellow member by electing him president.

The new president, Michael J. Conly, after enjoying a Thanksgiving Day dinner, said:

"Fellow husbands, let us give thanks. We have a lot to be thankful for. In the first place we have just had a sumptuous repast—and we don't have to foot the bill.

"We are sheltered and we don't have any rent to meet. This, in fact, is the life. I am almost prepared to say we should even give thanks to our wives. They put us here."

The Alimony Club is composed of men who are in a Chicago jail for contempt of court, following non-payment of alimony. The sentences are indeterminate, ending upon the payment of the alimony.

Pays Tribute To Miss MacPhail

Winnipeg, Nov. 27. — Despite the present system and method of Canadian Parliament procedure, which he claimed made it extremely difficult for any private member to distinguish himself, there are three members of the independent group in the Commons who had "carved a niche" for themselves, A. A. Heaps, M.P. for North Winnipeg, said to-day.

Speaking on "Glimpses at Ottawa" before a Service Club here, Mr. Heaps paid tribute to J. S. Woodsworth, Henri Bourassa and Miss Agnes MacPhail, whom he described as "a defender of the principles for which she stands."

Women's Guild Of First United To Hold Guest Tea

The Women's Guild of First United Church will hold its annual guest tea to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock in the church schoolroom. A very large attendance is anticipated, as the affair will take the place of the annual bazaar.

The committee in charge has secured some of the finest talent in the city for the musical programme. The artists will include Miss Marjorie Watson (gold medalist), Mrs. W. H. Wilson (gold medalist) and Mrs. T. R. Bowden, who will render vocal numbers, and Miss Helen Winn, pianist, a pupil of Gertrude Huntly Green, who will render a Chopin group. Vocal duets will be given by Misses Ina Easton and Elsie Robinson, and pianoforte duets by Miss Kathleen and William Irvine. A mandolin ensemble, composed of Mrs. Gladys Cross, Miss Dorothea Lee and Miss May Warnock, will also render several selections.

Montreal Woman Is 103 Years Old

Canadian Press

Montreal, Nov. 27.—"Le Bon Dieu has forgotten me and left me still on earth, but some day he will come and get me," Madam Joseph Poissant told one who congratulated her yesterday on her 103rd birthday.

Ruddy-cheeked and bright-eyed despite her 103 years, she suffers from a slight deafness, her only infirmity. "I am never sick—just a trifle stiff in the joints," she told reporters to-day over a glass of Quebec wine.

Twice married, Madam Poissant has had no children of her own, but has adopted and brought up several orphans.

No Wonder

"Your wife is patience and sweetness itself."

"Yes, she spent ten years as a milliner to get that way."

Terribly Nervous
Ask Mrs. Margaret Gray of Midland What She Thinks of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills (tonic).
Was Made Completely Well.
"At the age of 20 years", writes Mrs. Margaret Gray, 48 Fifth St., Midland, Ont., "I was very anaemic and in a terribly nervous condition. I was advised by a friend to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial. I purchased six boxes and before I had finished them I was well. And I still keep a box on hand. Not only have I used them myself, but I have always given them to my growing daughters."
The iron and other elements in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills (tonic) increase the amount of haemoglobin, the oxygen-carrying agent in the blood and thus give new life to all the tissues.

How to Be Popular | Dorothy Dix | Lists Essential Graces

me Beauty and Some Brains Are Necessary If a Girl Would Be Attractive and Popular, But She Must Also Be Amiable, Gracious, Adaptable, Tactful and Well-mannered

CORRESPONDENT asks: "What makes a girl attractive, beauty or brains?"

Both. But there must be something plus. There are certain other alities that a girl must also possess if she gets the glad hand from her olic, and lacking these her good ks and her intelligence get her vhree and never make her a winner the popularity contest.

Of course, pulchritude is a reat asset to a girl. Her looks are he first thing we notice about er and we all enjoy gazing upon pretty face and a lissom form nd are instinctively drawn to a lim young creature with a eaches-and-cream complexion nd ambrosial curls, who is a reat to the eyes. But good looks re only a surface attraction that oes not hold us long unless there s something behind it.

There are none of whom we weary quickly as we do of the beautiful t dumb. There are none whose iety we are less eager to seek than living-pictures who can do nothing pose in a graceful attitude and who have nothing to give us but the asure of beholding them, which is a joy which soon palls upon us.

Nor is intelligence alone enough to make a girl attractive, even hough she be a highbrow entitled to write half the letters of the alphabet fter her name. As a matter of fact, the general public, and especially he masculine portion thereof, has never had any great relish for feminine rains. It is not the girls who are noted for their learning nor their leverness nor wit who have the dates to burn and a waiting list of uitors asking their hands in marriage. Nor do hostesses break their ecks to get for their parties the girl who understands the Einstein heory or who is famous for her wisecracks.

What, then, makes a girl attractive? Well, to begin with, she must have ertain amount of good looks, enough to make her pleasant to contemplate, d she must be well dressed and well groomed, for an ugly woman is a blot on ture and a slovenly one an insult to the beholder. Likewise, she must be elligent enough to make her an interesting and amusing companion and vent her from being a bore.

Then she must have AMIABILITY. Even her beauty depends on that, for no matter how classical a woman's features muy be, nor how ravishing her coloring, we find no good looks in her face if it wears an expression of peevish, fretful ill-humor or if it bears upon it the marks of the shrew.

Neither do we crave the companionship of the woman, no matter how illiant she may be, if her conversation is surcharged with bitterness and if darkens the whole world with her own black outlook upon it. Still less we hang around the woman whose tongue is a two-edged sword that stabs ht and left and misses no victim.

Next I would put GRACIOUSNESS among the qualities that make a irl attractive. Everybody likes the girl who is friendly and pleasant in her manners; who is anxious to please and be pleased; who always appears o be having the time of her life wherever she is; who is appreciative of all we do for her and enthuses over every little gift and attention.

Then I should put ADAPTABILITY among the mesmeric qualities that a l should have. The adaptable girl is no spoil sport. She does not take her ll rags and go home if everyone will not play her game. She falls into any n and makes it go. She is equally at home in a palace and in a cabin, and erever she is, she is always the life of the party.

The attractive girl has TACT. She always knows what to say and how o say it. She listens with absorbed attention while people talk to her of themselves, and she never retaliates by relating her own private affairs.

She remembers to ask mothers about how their babies are getting along, d to inquire about old women's rheumatism. She jollies bald-headed old andfathers into thinking they are boys again and she never flirts with a man's husband or son before her face. She remembers our little vanities d ministers to them. She smoothes our fur the right way, with the result t we put ourselves in the way of being stroked by her deft hand as often as can.

Finally, and perhaps most important of all the qualities that a girl can have that attract us to her is GOOD MANNERS. She does not feel that just because she is young she can be rude and ride roughshod over the world.

She listens with deference to the opinions of her elders, even if she does not ree with them. She treats her parents with consideration. She is appreciae of the courtesies that older women show her and when she accepts an vitation she does not throw her hostess down at the last minute and go off newhere else that seemed more amusing.

A Land of the Equator

There is a country in this old world hich has the shape of a piece of pie is located in South America, and its me is Ecuador.

Men watching Cotapaxi smoking

If you look at a map of South merica and find this country, you ay be tempted to call it "little cuador"—but do not speak too soon. ompared with Brazil or Argentina, it small; but if it were really a piece pie you would need a long time to t it. It is larger than England and cotland combined.

The name "Ecuador" is Spanish for quator," and the country is well amed since the equator runs through

Strangely enough, a good deal of the nd in Ecuador is covered with snow he year around. Because it is in the idst of the torrid zone, Ecuador does ot have either winter or summer; but any of its mountain peaks are so gh as to be covered with snow at all mes. One of those peaks rises almost ur miles above sea level.

Quito, the capital of the country, is ne of the world's high cities, being at elevation of 9,350 feet. All around , snow-capped peaks and volcanoes re to be seen.

Several of the volcanoes are active, nd there have been many eruptions uring the past four centuries. There little or no danger to the people of he city, however, since the volcanoes re miles away.

One of the volcanoes—called Cotopaxi—has been called "the world's highest active volcano." When it is not in serious eruption, Cotopaxi is likely to send forth steam and smoke, the heat causing snow to melt at the edge of the crater. The top of Cotopaxi is 19,600 feet above sea level.

About 50,000 of the people in Quito are Indians, and most of the rest are mixed breeds. Only about 18,000 of the city's population is composed of Spaniards of pure blood.

The Quito folk wear bright-colored garments. Many of the women carry shawls with red, yellow and green colors. Most of the Indians go barefoot as they walk around the narrow and crooked streets of the mountain city.

Th high parts of Ecuador are cool, but the nation possesses lowlands which are as hot as anyone could wish —and much better than most persons would care about. In the hot jungles, which are cut by many rivers, live all manner of wild animals, including tapirs, sloths and armadilloes.

TELLS LIFE OF MISSIONARY

Pioneer of B.C. Life Forms Theme For Talk to Young People

The regular meeting of St. Luke's A.Y.P.A. was held in the parish hall on Tuesday evening. Plans were made for an entertainment on December 1.

The sports committee reported the result of the badmington game between Christ Church and St. Luke's, the score being 11-5 for St. Luke's.

The members regretted that S. Hawkins was unable to address the meeting as had been previously arranged. Rev. S. Ryall took his place.

Mr. Ryall chose for his subject "The Life of Henry Irvin or 'Father Pat'." A brief sketch was given of the early life of this enthusiastic missionary, revealing that he was descended from a long line of clergy and missionaries. After graduating from Keble College, he was given the opportunity of coming to Kamloops in 1885 as assistant to the rector there. This he accepted and his work was chiefly among the men in the mining camps and railway construction camps of the vicinity.

With the building of the C.P.R., he was transferred to Donald, where he built St. Peter's Church. This was the first church to be built anywhere in the Rockies and it was later brought down on floats to Windermere. Many interesting incidents were related concerning the dangers of avalanches.

In 1889 "Father Pat" visited his home in Ireland and, on returning to British Columbia, was married to Miss Innes at St. Paul's, Victoria.

Shortly after his marriage, sorrow and grief recurred frequently. By dint of hard labor and physical neglect he endeavored to conceal his losses. During this period he did a great deal of valuable work in Rossland and the Okanagan Valley.

Growing constantly weaker as a result of over exertion, he was prevailed upon to return to Ireland. Leaving the train just before reaching Montreal, he met with an accident and was found mortally frozen by a farmer. He was taken to the hospital at Notre Dame, but not until the eve of his death did he reveal who he was. Later he was buried near New Westminister, B.C. Many fitting and beautiful memorials have been erected to him in Rossland.

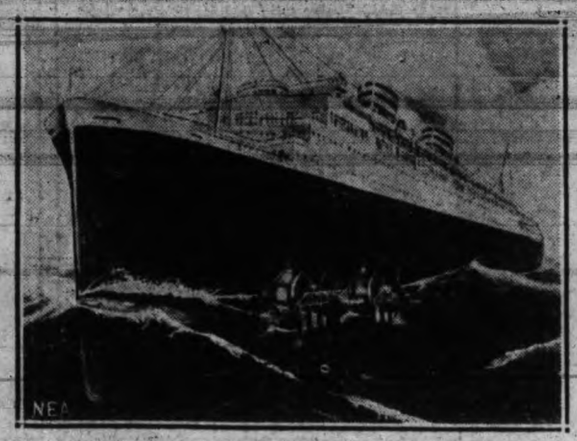
SEA-SICKNESS BARRED ON GIANT ITALIAN LINER



It will be good news for "bad sailors" when this giant Italian liner, Conte di Savoia, goes into transatlantic service. If plans of the builders materialize. For half above and half below the water-line, as seen in this architect's sketch, is a gyroscope designed to assure an even deck in the roughest weather. The new 48,000-ton liner, recently launched at Trieste, Italy, is expected to make the run between New York and Naples in seven days.

Alberni

Alberni, Nov. 27.—The Y.P.A. of St. Andrew's United Church were hosts at the annual banquet and social gathering held Wednesday evening in the Athletic hall. Mrs. H. R. Carter presided and Rev. A. McLean gave an address. Those present included: Misses Dora Cox, Belle Patterson, Nell Burke, Effie Redford, Jean Wilkinson, Jean Lindsay, Violet Summers, Dolly Brand, Jean and Evelyn McEachren, Fern Brand, Viola Ainsworth, Florence Toy, Lily Nicholas, Margaret Richardson, Linda Ainsworth, Hattie and Agnes Forrest, Miss Pitts, Miss Waller, Miss Dixon; Messrs. Win Beck, Will Brand, Teddy Toy; Kelvin Robinson, Tom Anderson, Gill Wright, Stanley Brand, Glen Toy, Charlie Ainsworth, Jim Bigmore, Jack Brand and Jim Taylor.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Brand were hosts Tuesday evening in honor of the nineteenth birthday anniversary of their daughter Dolly. A buffet supper games and contests were enjoyed by the guests, who included Miss Agnes Forrest, Miss Viola Ainsworth, Miss Florence Toy, Miss Agnes Forrest, Miss Enid Rowe, Miss Jean and Evelyn McEachren.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred McLean were pleasantly surprised by a group of friends at their new home on Nanaimo Road Tuesday evening. The guests included Miss Olive and Ethel McLean, Miss Rosalie Goodall, Winnie Potter, Miss May Fowlie, Levinia Todd, Jack Flanagan, Walker, John Fowlie, Leland Cow Jack McLean and Ted Fraser.

Embalmed Heart Of Executed Noble Is Now Located

London—The embalmed heart of James Graham, Marquis of Montrose, who was executed at Edinburgh in 1650, has found a final resting-place in the old Church of Codford St. Peter, under the patronage of St. John's College, Oxford, the college of Archbishop Laud, primate to Charles I.

Montrose was embroiled in the Jacobite troubles of the times, and after his death his heart was embalmed and given into the custody of the Campbell-Johnston family. It was taken to France in a silver casket by a member of the family, who was supposed to have hidden it at the time of the French Revolution, and thereafter the history of the relic became obscure. Captain Henry Stuart Wheatley-Crowe, president of the Royal Martyr Church Union, and governor of the Royal Stuart Society, has now established that the heart was lost by the Johnston family at Boulogne in 1792, and that it was brought back from France in the same year by Richard Perkins of Penmaen.

Llewellyn Johnson Bird received the heart from Major Bertie Perkins, a descendant of Richard Perkins, and place it in the hands of Captain Wheatley-Crowe. A strong iron box was obtained for the heart, and the relic has now been placed in the chancel of Colford Church, where after so much controversy and many vicissitudes it rests under the altar in sacred ground. Captain Wheatley-Crowe's statement adds that the St. Giles's Cathedral authorities have no record of the heart's burial there on the occasion of the supposed funeral in 1661, and that Dr. Cameron Lees, minister of St. Giles's Cathedral, as far back as 1891 admitted this fact when a fruitless search was made for any of the great marquis's remains.

Death Separates Two Noted Artists

London—The death of Charles Ricketts marks the end of the lifelong friendship of two distinguished artists. So long have Charles Ricketts and Charles Shannon lived and worked together that it seems impossible to think of them apart. They have never become famous like film stars or politicians, but they have been well-known connoisseurs ever since (inspired by Morris's revival of fine printing) they founded the Vale Press in 1897. What Ricketts and Shannon did as typographers and engravers is known to all lovers of beautiful books.

Charles Ricketts was born in Geneva—his father being an English naval officer and his mother a French woman—and educated in France. He was elected A.R.A. in 1922, and an R.A. in 1928, and in 1929 he was appointed by the King a member of the Royal Fine Art Commission.

He was editor, with Shannon, of The Dial, and also published books, all on art. He was the author of "The Prado and its Masterpieces," and "Titian." There are a number of his pictures in the Tate Gallery, the most famous of them being "Don Juan."

He had a flair for stage setting, and he designed the sets for Bernard Shaw's "St. Joan," and the dresses and scenery for "The Mikado," when it was revived in London in 1926. He was also responsible for the setting of John Masefield's "The Coming of Christ," which was performed in Canterbury Cathedral before an audience of nearly 2,000, three years ago.

Painting, illustrating, engraving, art criticism, the designing of printing type, or of stage scenery—all seemed to come to him equally easily

At Lambeth Art School in 1884, Mr. Ricketts began the great friendship with Charles Shannon and their house in the Vale, Chelsea, became the resort of an interesting but exclusive circle in the 'nineties, which included Oscar Wilde, Whistler, Aubrey Beardsley, Camille Pisarro and Mr. Sturge Moore.

RATEPAYERS MAKE APPEAL

Frank Le Roy and Other Civic Candidates Heard at Quadra St. School

Will Hold Meeting To-night at George Jay School; Frank Higgins to Speak

Frank Le Roy, candidate for mayor of the Victoria Ratepayers' Association, yesterday evening denied he was a peanut-vendor.

"Someone told me," he said, at an election meeting of the association at Quadra Street School, "that I was a peanut-vendor. I never sold peanuts in my life, but I made $50,000 out of four cigar stands and a wholesale department. I haven't got the money now, because I invested it in Victoria property."

About seventy people attended the meeting, which was opened with a prayer by Rev. J. B. Rowell.

Mr. Le Roy, in his address, delivered attacks on the three mayoralty candidates.

NOT IN SECRET

Mr. Le Roy denied a suggestion candidates of the association had been chosen at a secret meeting. He also said that he had been quite willing to let others have the mayoralty nomination but they would not take it and wanted him to stand.

The meeting was somewhat quieter than others held by the association, although on one occasion the chairman threatened to have Joe North removed from the hall if he continued to interrupt.

Frank Higgins, K.C., the chairman, spoke at some length on the issue of economy and declared there were several bond agents running for office because they wanted to "monkey" with the city's bonds and get commission out of it. Three of the mayoralty candidates had been aldermen, he said, and had helped to load the taxpayers up with the burden of taxation they were now bearing. They had failed once and would fail again, he declared.

HIGH SCHOOL FEES

Col. T. B. Monk, school board candidate, said he thought some of the questions demanding inquiry were the fees paid by repeaters at High School and by those who took commercial courses after completing their regular terms.

Mrs. Julia de Blacquiere, trustee aspirant, said many of the men and women who were successful to-day had not had the educational advantages provided for boys and girls to-day and it was a question whether or not it could be done without.

Adolph Lancaster, aldermanic candidate, said, if elected, he would seek to have the city run on a business basis. He suggested giving reverted lots at nominal prices to working men if they would build homes on them and make them revenue-producing to the city.

Capt. B. G. Gadsden pledged himself to support of the association's platform and outlined his career during twenty-one years in the city, saying he and his mother paid $750 a year in taxes.

The association is holding a meeting at George Jay School to-night at 8 o'clock. Mr. Higgins announced that he would speak specifically on the "Esquimalt waterworks deal."

Ladysmith

Ladysmith, Nov. 27.—Court Primrose, A.O.F., held a whist drive Wednesday evening in the Foresters' Hall.

The prize winners were: Ladies' first, Mrs. M. Davies; second, Mrs. A. Simpson; consolation, Mrs. J. E. McDonald; gentlemen's first, Mrs. W. R. Wilson (substitute); second, G. Ross; consolation, Mrs. O. Hulme (substitute).

Mrs. R. P. Battle entertained the members of the Ladysmith Bridge Club Tuesday evening. The prize winners were: Mrs. T. Battle and Miss Ethel Comley. Refreshments were served.

Mrs. A. Strang and two sons have left for Lytton after visiting Mr. and Mrs. T. Strang, Victoria Road.

Royal Oak

Two games of basketball were played off in Royal Oak Hall Wednesday evening. Keating girls defeated Royal Oak Scottish, 71 to 13. Keating team defeated Royal Oak 16th Scottish, 66 to 16. Scores were:

Keating—S. Bates 19, P. Aitkinson 3, G. Mitchell 14, W. Tanner 2, M. Aitkinson 28, W. Bates, Cunningham, Styne.

Royal Oak 16th Scottish — J. McKinty 2, M. Punt 6, A. Campbell 3, J. Scruton, B. Mezger 2, C. Pimlott 4.

R. Mezger and H. Tubman referred.

Games scheduled for next Wednesday are: Royal Oak Maroons and R.O. Scottish (girls); R.O. intermediates and Lake Hill, and R.O. Senior "B" and R.O. 16th Scottish.

OLDEST FORAGE PLANT

While alfalfa is one of the oldest fodder plants there is at present no plant known which can compete with it in nutritive value and general importance for feeding, according to the manual of Fodder and Pasture Plants prepared by the Dominion Department of Agriculture. It is relished by all kinds of stock which eat it, and alfalfa exceeds even red clover in nutritive value and protein content. The feeding value of alfalfa was recognized in Persia long before the Christian era, and it was highly esteemed by the Arabs. It is believed to have originated in Asia, probably in the southwestern parts; certainly it has been grown in Persia from time immemorial and is perhaps the oldest forage plant in the world. It was brought into Greece about 500 B.C., and from there spread to Italy. It came to Western Europe by way of Northern Africa, the Arabs carrying it into Spain in the seventh century and from there it found its way into France. It was introduced into Mexico by the Spaniards whence it spread to the United States and South America, while English and other colonists introduced it in the eastern parts of North America. Its popularity as a fodder crop is justly earned and its use is rapidly expanding throughout Canada.

Santa Says:

"I am looking forward to meeting hundreds and hundreds of my little friends at the Capitol Theatre to-morrow morning. To the many boys and girls who have not been able to get tickets, I want to say that I hope to see them in my wonderful snow home in Toy Fair on the Third Floor of Hudson's Bay Store. There are many surprises waiting for you there. The Musical Mystic, who is helping me in my entertainment at the Capitol, will be in Toy Fair every day and will show you some of his mystifying tricks. Toy Fair is just wonderful this year, with its thousands of toys, dolls and games, funny little gnomes, electric trains and ever so many other things that you'll be delighted with.

I shall be at home to the children to-morrow afternoon, from 2.30 to 5 o'clock.

A REAL BUY

WE doubt if there is another as good in exceptional quality of construction for anywhere near the price asked for this bungalow. It is situated off Quadra, near car line; high ground. Contains 4 large rooms on ground floor and 2 upstairs. It is no ordin-ary semi-bungalow—one glance at the outside will prove this, and the inside will not disappoint. One of the nice features about this bungalow is the reception hall and wide staircase, all panelled in cedar. Then you will like the wide windows facing south, the commodious living-room and dining-room and the 13.6x12 bedroom (with large closet) downstairs. Rooms are papered with very good quality paper, washable in kitchen and bathroom. As to construction, the foundation is of extra thickness, the joists are full 2x10s. The lot has a frontage of 70 feet; the garden is full of perennials, about 1,000 bulbs, a privet hedge, large holly tree, roses, honeysuckle, etc. A five thousand five hundred dollar lay-out new. Grand Forks Ore Gives Big Return To Hecla Company

Grand Forks, B.C., Nov. 27.—Average-ing more than $800 in gold for a fifty-five-ton shipment of ore from the Union mines here, the Hecla Min-ing Company have received net returns of $43,178 from a car shipped to the Bunker Hill smelter. Smelter assays for the entire ore shipment were 41.05 ounces of gold per ton, 18.65 ounces of silver, 7.65 per cent lead, 9.05 per cent zinc and .98 per cent copper.

This is a record for so large a ship-ment and sacking of ore is now pro-ceeding for additional shipments. In-stallation of equipment is being made at the mine to handle the main body, which is now shown to be of consider-able proportions and carrying values that may run around $200 to the ton. The new installation will be completed about the end of the year.

Fur Prices Up At Winnipeg Equal To Drop in Dollar

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, Nov. 27.—Prices for furs at the first auction sale of the season here to-day swung higher than auc-tion officials expected. Nearly all articles advanced about 15 per cent. from quoted prices. The rise corre-sponds to the percentage of depres-sion in the value of Canadian money.

Half and three-quarters silver fox furs sold for as high as $71, general prices ranging from that figure down to $42.25. Extra large number two beavers brought from $14.50 to $15.50, mink $7.25 to $8, otter $9.75 to $11.75, skunks $1.20 to $1.80, mixed lots of muskrat forty to forty-six cents and wolf $7 to $10.

Ontario ermine sold for 62½ cents, Manitoba ermine 70 cents and Sas-katchewan ermine 87½ cents to $1.27½.

"PUBLIC INQUIRIES ACT"

WHEREAS I, the undersigned, DENIS MURPHY, one of His Majesty's Justices of the Supreme Court of British Columbia, of the City of Vancouver, Province of British Columbia, have been appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council as sole Commissioner to inquire as follows:

First: (a) To ascertain (or to determine by what means it should be ascertained) who of those now practising as Chiropractors in the Province are duly qualified Chiro-practors within the meaning of the Medical Act.

(b) To inquire whether or not any or all of the recognized schools or colleges of Chiropractic, within the meaning of the Medical Act, of which the said duly duly qualified Chiropractors now practis-ing in the Province are graduates, give courses in the subjects required for the practice of Chiropractic, which are ade-quate to protect the public when under-going from such persons treatment solely confined to the practice of Chiropractic.

(b) To recommend such legislation as may be deemed requisite to provide for the registration of such duly qualified Chiro-practors now practising in the Province, so that their practice for reward may be legalized, when confined solely to Chiro-practic, and to provide for their control and regulation in the interest of the public.

Second: To recommend in the interests of the public the method of determining the qualifications to permit subsequent appli-cants to practise Chiropractic, including the Board by whom the same shall be determined and the method and the ex-tent of the examinations of such appli-cants; and in particular whether or not such qualifications shall be determined and examinations set by a board com-prised solely of those duly qualified Chiro-practors already authorized to practise, or by a board comprised in part of members of the College of Physicians and Surgeons.

Third: Into the extent and nature of the practice of Drugless Healing (other than Chiropractic) in all its branches, in the Province of British Columbia, and the nature of the legislation which may be necessary or advisable for the purpose of regulating and controlling the registration of Drugless Healers in the Province of British Columbia, and generally into all matters properly incidental to the forego-ing.

I HEREBY GIVE NOTICE that I will hold the first meeting of the Commission at No. 2 Court Room at the Law Courts, Georgia Street, Vancouver, B.C., on Monday the 30th day of November, 1931, at 10 a.m.

Dated at Vancouver, B.C., the 12th day of November, 1931.

Ventilation Of School Rooms Has Become a Major Problem

* * *

Chief Purpose of Fresh Air Is to Remove Body Heat

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

Throughout the United States school boards and commissions are concerned with the problem of proper ventilation of schools.

The matter is important not only from the health angle, but also as it concerns economics and the ability of the children to work satisfactorily. The fact that bad air may have a bad effect on human health and comfort has been recognized for more than 2,000 years.

It was at first thought that the only bad air was that which contained more carbon dioxide than it ought to and less oxygen than outside air. The modern point of view is that the chief purpose of ventilation is to remove the excess of heat given off by the human body so as to maintain an atmosphere that will be comfortable—cool but not too cold.

The final report of the New York Commission on Ventilation indicates that the essential problem of ventila-tion, except where the air contains poisons or dust due to imperfect com-bustion or industrial processes are con-cerned, is a physical and not a chemi-cal problem that affects the skin more than it does the lungs.

To this, of course, must be added the fact that the air tends to take up odors from the human body when the room is not properly ventilated, and may thereby become so unpleasant as to diminish appetite and even produce nausea. Mechanical experts have in-vented all sorts of devices to ventilate rooms properly and the outcome of all of their experiments was the develop-ment of fans for forcing air into rooms.

Because scientists and experts in hygiene began to demand thirty cubic feet of air per minute, the state of New York in 1913 appointed a com-mission to investigate the problem of ventilation. The studies include not only tests made in the laboratory but also additional tests carried on in schools.

The commission now is convinced that auditoriums holding 100 people or more, large offices, workrooms and in-dustrial establishments where exces-sive heat or moisture or dust or poisonous fumes are produced require fan ventilation. In certain workrooms where outdoor noise or dust or odors may make it inadvisable to keep the windows open, fan ventilation may be required. In most places, however, window ventilation seems to be en-tirely satisfactory and indeed is to be preferred for school rooms.

It is recognized that occupied rooms in schools should have a temperature about 68 degrees Fahrenheit; corri-dors, gymnasiums and shops should have 65 degrees Fahrenheit; swimming pools and adjacent rooms, 75 degrees Fahrenheit.

BILLIARDS

Although Army and Navy No. 1 cueists took two out of the four games played in yesterday evening's "B" sec-tion Interservice Billiard League fix-ture against the Britannia players, they dropped the match 725 to 632. Britannia losers, scoring more highly than those of the Army and Navy, ac-counted for the decision.

Pro Patria No. 4 team swept through to a splendid 500 to 466 victory over the Army and Navy No. 4 representa-tives in the "C" section match of the evening.

The Pats were extended, but won every game.

CHINA GENERAL'S CLAIMS PROVED BY FOREIGNERS

Military Attaches Find No Offensive Preparations at Chinchow, Manchuria

By GLENN BABB
Associated Press Correspondent

Chinchow, Manchuria, Nov. 27.—"If war rolls over southwestern Man-churia, where a remnant of Marshal Chang Hsueh-liang's once powerful army retains a small corner outside the Great Wall of China, it cannot be blamed on offensive action by the Chinese, Gen. Yung Chen told the Associated Press to-day.

"Marshal Chang's orders are to re-sist any Japanese offensive against Chinchow," said the chief of staff, who now commands the troops outside the Great Wall, "but he is to make no of-fensive move in the direction of Muk-den.

TURN OF EVENTS WAITED

"We have no intention of recovering Mukden by military means, and we are making no offensive preparations nor bringing reinforcements into this area. We merely hope to hold this corner of Manchuria until a turn of events—possibly through the influ-ence of the League of Nations or the United States—enables the right rulers of Manchuria to return to Mukden."

Gen. Yung said there were only 20,-000 to 30,000 Chinese troops outside the Great Wall. Some of the Man-churia units which were at Mukden in September had since withdrawn in-side the wall, he said.

STATEMENTS PROVED

Foreign military attaches who in-spected Gen. Yung's dispositions as far as Tahushan yesterday supported his denial that offensive preparations were under way and credited his statement that no reinforcements had come from inside the wall.

Their observations confirmed a be-lief that the forces outside the wall constitute no immediate tactical dan-ger to the Japanese.

GUARDING RAILWAY

Gen. Yung said his force comprised three brigades of infantry, two brigades of artillery and one brigade of cavalry. The cavalry is strung along the Tahu-shan-Tungliao railway. The Japanese charge that the brigade moved into its present position recently to menace the Japanese flank. Gen. Yung said it had been there since the conflict began, guarding the railway against bandits.

The main Chinese defensive line is along the Taling River, fifteen miles northeast of Chinchow. Only one reg-iment of infantry is disposed about the river, and the rest of the infantry and artillery are around Chinchow and along the Taling River line. They have no aircraft or anti-aircraft guns, ac-cording to Gen. Yung.

TIENTSIN ULTIMATUM

Tientsin, China, Nov. 27.—Japanese military authorities issued an ulti-matum to the Chinese here to-day, de-manding they cease firing by noon.

The ultimatum also contained the following demands:

Cessation of patrols along the river by Chinese constabulary.

That they refrain from moving from their present positions.

Wang Shu-chang, Chinese provin-cial chairman, replying to the ulti-matum, said the Chinese would act in accord with the Treaties, but he failed to see why they should not continue patrolling the river or why troops should be forbidden to move.

SIR DAVID BRUCE DIES IN LONDON

Famous as Physician For Contribution to War on Sleeping Sickness

London, Nov. 27.—Major-General Sir David Bruce, seventy-six, sometimes called the Sherlock Holmes of Science, died to-day while a funeral service was being held for his wife, who died Mon-day.

He received medals and prizes from a number of distinguished societies for his services to medical science.

Major-General Sir David Bruce, who was created a knight in 1908 and a K.C.B. in 1918, had among other simi-lar titles an honorary doctor of science degree from the University of Toronto. He was born in Melbourne, Australia, May 29, 1855, and married Mary Eliza-beth Steele of Surrey, England, when he was twenty-eight.

In 1930 he came from England and attended the annual meeting of the British Medical Association, held that year in Winnipeg. With other leaders he toured as far west as Banff, Al-berta.

Sir David's early career was with the British army. After graduating from Edinburgh University he entered the R.A.M.C. the year he married and served in Malta and Egypt from 1884 to 1889. During the next five years he was assistant professor of pathology at the Army Medical School at Netley. He served in South Africa during the Boer War and took part in the siege of Ladysmith.

FAME SPREADS

It was during Sir David's term as a member of the Army Medical Advisory Board, 1902-11, that he made his in-vestigations into bacterial diseases which brought his name into world prominence.

He went to Uganda in 1903 as direc-tor of the Royal Society's commission for the investigation of sleeping sick-ness, and made a second visit to the same country and with the same pur-pose five years later. But before that he had done valuable work in Malta as director of the Royal Society's com-mission for the investigation of Medi-terranean fever.

In 1911 occurred his memorable visit to Nyasaland, when valuable informa-tion concerning the relation between animal and human diseases was ob-tained.

Sir David literally received hundreds of medals and decorations for his work. He was the author of classic papers on Tsetse fly disease, Malta fever, sleeping sickness and similar subjects. His latest activity to bring him before the public eye was his 1924 presidency of the British Association.

NEW BRITISH TARIFF SOON ON EARLY FRUITS

Canadian Press

London, Nov. 27.—Measures for cur-tailment of the British people's indul-gence in early grown fruit, vegetable and floral products from abroad are embodied in a government resolution made public to-day.

The motion, which will be introduced shortly in the House, provides duties up to 100 per cent may be levied on such fresh fruits as cherries, currants, plums and strawberries, and such veg-etables as asparagus, green beans, cau-liflower, cucumbers, lettuce, new pota-toes, peas and tomatoes.

The duties are applicable at the dis-cretion of the Minister of Agriculture and are designed to protect the inter-ests of the British farmers.

DOMINION LOAN ON ITS FINAL ONE-THIRD LAP

More Than Two-thirds of $150,000,000 Issue Sold, Says Committee

Canadian Press

Montreal, Nov. 27.—The National Service Loan has passed the two-thirds mark. The first four days of the cam-paign saw $101,000,000 of the $150,-000,000 issue subscribed, the central committee here reported to-day. While the total up to yesterday evening was being compiled to-day, additional ap-plications were challenging the efforts of clerks to keep abreast of the re-turns.

Indications were present to-day that several more heavy subscriptions by large companies and financial institu-tions were still to come. Approval by boards of directors are daily making substantial commitments possible. Among the large applications an-nounced to-day by the central com-mittee was that of $1,000,000 by the T. Eaton Company of Canada Limited.

The committee's compilations are based on specific reports only, but messages from all parts of the country indicate heavy buying is in progress, and further returns now in the mail are expected to increase considerably the final figure for the first four days' sale.

COAL OUTPUT IS DEBATED AT MINING SESSION

Canadian Institute of Mining Hears About B.C. at Vancouver Meeting

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Nov. 27. — Mines strength of the British Empire, wh combined from the countries whi make up this political entity, is su that it can meet its wn needs fro resources within itself to a degree u equalled by any other country group of countries politically affiliat in the world.

Making this point in the course an address this morning at the annu western meeting of Canadian Ins tute of Mining and Metallurgy and t Mining Association of British Colum bia, Dr. Charles Camsell, Federal D puty Minister of Mines, explained ea member of the Empire had so fundamental mineral weakness. Th strength lay in their combined r sources.

"Preliminary study of existing st tistics makes it plain there is no co prehensive programme of systema exchange of mineral products with the Empire in such a way as to uti ize the commercial surplus of o Empire country to meet the shorta of another Empire country," he sa "There appears to be a wide oppo tunity for the greater exchange mineral products along intra-Emp lines."

COAL DISCUSSION

Coal occupied a large place in t morning programme. James Dicks chief inspector of mines for Briti Columbia, spoke on the present co dition of the industry. The pr gramme also included a paper stratigraphy of the Corbin coal fie

"Dominion subvention on Briti Columbia coal sold in the provinc farther east is a good investment Canada," declared Mr. Dickson.

"Neglecting the greater amount se eastward from Alberta, it may stated the Crow's Nest Pass district British Columbia has shipped betwe 30,000 and 40,000 tons to Winnipeg.

Output of coal in British Colum to the end of October, he continue was 1,359,000 tons (long), as compar with 1,554,000 for the correspondi period of 1930, a decrease of 13 p cent. Vancouver Island suffered t worst decrease.

FUEL OIL

Use of fuel oil was the princip cause for the decrease, he said. the last ten years oil had reduced t output of coal and cut off the live hood of thousands of British Colu bia miners.

Use of fuel oil had trebled in t years to reach a total of 200,000,0 gallons in 1930 he said. Only 17 p cent of the fuel oil used in British C lumbia paid any duty. Taking 1 gallons as equal to one ton of co this fuel displaced 1,300,000 tons coal.

Mr. Dickson added that hydro-ele tric development, too, had displac considerable coal tonnage. He co cluded with a comparison of decrea in production in other coal areas a showed this province had not su fered as much as some others, parti ularly Alberta.

GRANDI IS FOR DISARMAMENT

In Address Broadcast From New York He Pledges Italy's Support to Conference

Canadian Press

New York, Nov. 27.—Hope for t world to start laying down arms fin "much encouragement" in Unit States support, Dino Grandi, Itali Foreign Minister, told the Forei Policy Association here to-day.

In an address, broadcast by rad Signor Grandi declared the worl pledge to disarm, implied in the pe treaties, must be fulfilled because was "inconceivable" that the va quished nations of the world should remain "tied" while the victo had unrestricted freedom to incres military strength.

The Foreign Minister, a vigoro young war hero and right hand m of Premier Mussolini, pleaded t cause of peace and justice among n tions as the only approach to soluti of world economic and financial tro bles.

He promised for Italy "all o strength and all our heart" at t Geneva Disarmament Conference February in support of United Sta efforts toward peace.

Nothing "spectacular," he sa should be expected, but "we for o part, will be satisfied if it (the co ference) succeeds in stopping the co petition of armaments and in maki a start toward reduction."

He referred to the long standi naval differences between France a Italy, saying he was "still wishing a hoping for a final settlement." Th he indicated, must be based on Ital demand for theoretical parity, but the lowest possible level.

THREE POINTS

Signor Grandi gave three points the guideposts of Italian policy alo the disarmament road "toward pr gress." They were:

1. Nations signing the peace treati or the League covenant made "solemn pledge" to disarm, definite implied in the preliminary disarm ment of the vanquished powers.

2. Security for a nation is possib only through disarmament and arb tration. Security through milita strength would mean a nation must as strong as all others combined.

3. Only by disarmament can the be quieted the widespread disquietu as to world peace, especially in Eu ope.

Signor Grandi told of the year's di armament truce, proposed by him Geneva in September, and recent adopted in modified form. He ga much credit for this to the Unit States, which supported his strong original measure.

SAANICH WOMAN DIED SUDDENLY

Mrs. W. J. Walker, Well-known Pioneer, Collapsed at Bus Depot Yesterday

Just after alighting from a bus at the Vancouver Island Coach Lines Depot yesterday afternoon about 3 o'clock, Mrs. Edith Mary Walker, wife of W. J. Walker, of Saanichton, collapsed and passed away before medical attendance could be secured, the cause of death being heart failure.

Mrs. Walker was a pioneer of British Columbia, being a resident here for the last forty years. Born in Bournemouth in 1859, she came here from Jersey, Channel Islands, in 1890. She leaves to mourn her husband and one son, W. J. Walker; three daughters, Mrs. G. Brisco, Mrs. S. R. Anderson and Mrs. B. Baker, of Tacoma, Wash., and eight grandchildren.

The remains are resting at the Sands Mortuary Chapel. The funeral cortege will leave at 1.30 o'clock to-mormorrw afternoon, and at 2 o'clock services will be conducted by Rev. A. B. Bastin in St. Stephen's Church at Saanichton.

DOGS FIGHT TO GUARD BODY

Canadian Press

Macleod, Alta., Nov. 27—Two loyal collie dogs sacrificed their lives here Thursday in a heroic display of canine loyalty for their mistresses, Mrs. William Anderton, seventy-seven-years-old widow, who lived alone with her dogs since her husband's death three years ago. Neighbors had not seen Mrs. Anderton for several days and becoming alarmed informed police who found the woman dying on her bed.

When police arrived at the house the dogs attacked them. A bitter struggle ensued between the men and the aged woman's protectors. The officers finally had to shoot the collies before they could gain entry to the house, where they found Mrs. Anderton unconscious. Taken to hospital, the aged woman died several hours later.

Mrs. Anderton at one time owned a business block in this town and several large farms in the district. She resided in Winnipeg and Regina before coming here forty-seven years ago.

Played Tag But Lost and Court Fines Him $30

Kenneth Morrison lost a game of tag with Motorcycle Constable George Clayards the other night. And it was an expensive game, costing Mr. Morrison $30 in the City Police Court this morning for driving to the common danger.

Constable Clayards told the court he chased the accused at forty-five miles an hour for eleven blocks, and at fifty miles an hour for five blocks. When stopped by the constable, Morrison said he thought the person behind was driving a Ford, and he was "playing tag" with him.

Mr. Morrison told the court he did not think he could have traveled fifty miles an hour on the portion of Bay Street where the offence was alleged.

CRISIS NEAR FOR TOM MIX

Associated Press

Hollywood, Calif., Nov. 27.—Slow improvement in the condition of Tom Mix, fifty-one-year-old screen and circus cowboy star, critically ill with peritonitis, was shown in the last twenty-four hours, attending physicians said to-day.

In a bulletin issued shortly before 10 a.m., Drs. Nichol Smith and Gurn Scout said:

"The last twenty-four hours the patient has slowly improved, although due to the necessity of continued supportive treatments it is too soon to give an ultimate prognosis."

Within another twenty-four hours death or probable recovery would be determined, as the crisis, they said, would come this evening or to-morrow morning.

JUDGE DEPLORES CHURCH SUIT

St. Paul's Congregation Loses Against Trustees For Property Control

Having failed to reach the agreement urged on them by Judge McIntosh, the congregation of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church to-day came to the end of the trial of their action against former trustees, A. Herberger, Louis Schmelz and Paul Schmelz, with a judgment throwing out their claim.

"It is deplorable that dissension should have arisen here among the lineal descendants of the one who founded Protestantism for the world," said the judge in his judgment.

"But more deplorable is it that they have sought the courts to have their legal rights adjusted. Before the matter was brought to this court, the difficulties should have been more carefully considered.

"All I am called upon to decide is whether these three persons are rightfully in possession of the property mentioned.

"It is unfortunate that when they were incorporated, they did not have legal advice. Now they are suffering through having legal matters dealt with by laymen.

"The whole proceedings of the church meetings of December, January and February were irregular, with regard to the election of trustees. Trustees always hold office until their successors are elected. It is very clear the successors of these trustees have not been legally appointd and the former are still the trustees of St. Paul's.

"It is with great reluctance that I have had to come to this conclusion. My sympathies are with the plaintiffs, but they were unfortunate in their incorporation and their proceedings were irregular all through these years."

The judge declared that the proceedings in court should have been withdrawn.

The members of the congregation who brought the action will have to pay the costs of the trial, under his ruling.

At the resumption of the trial Thursday afternoon, after the judge had intimated the two sides should reach an agreement, H. A. Maclean, K.C., defence counsel, said that if the other side would offer a public apology from the pulpit of the church and pay legal costs of the action so far, his three clients were ready to talk business with the other side.

H. A. Beckwith, counsel for the congregation, refused the proposal.

The trial then continued through Thursday afternoon and this morning on the basis of the congregation's claim to force the three trustees to deliver up the books, records, titles to church and property, bank books and other physical assets of the church.

Officer Enters Den Alone To Commence Raid

The sum of $240 was collected when forty-eight Chinese, arrested in a raid on the premises, paid fines of $5 each in City Police Court, following a police raid yesterday evening on a gambling game in Fan Tan Alley.

Constable Douglas Bone, in plain clothes, entered the den himself before the arrival of the raiding party, which consisted of Inspector John T. Boulton, Sergeants J. Ireland and B. Acreman and Constables Belcher, Woolsey, Clayards and Lanning. When they rushed in Constable Bones was standing by one of the fan tan tables where a game had been in progress.

All materials seized by the police were confiscated. T. Miller appeared on behalf of the Chinese.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S COUNCIL MEETS

Committee Will Help Branches in Drawing Up Programmes

The Victoria and District Anglican Young People's Association's local council met in the Memorial Hall with J. H. Aylwin in the chair, yesterday evening when matters affecting branches on Vancouver Island were discussed. Harvey Dobson reported on the Dominion conference in a concise and able manner. Various reports showed that the organization is progressing satisfactorily, another new branch, St. Alban's, having been added to the list during the past month.

As an outcome of the conference held here recently, it was decided to form a programme committee to assist branches in drawing up programmes.

In order to help up-island branches, S. C. Hawkins, Dominion vice-president and honorary president of the Victoria council, will make a trip to Nanaimo and Courtenay this week-end, when he will address meeting of young people in those centres on young people's work.

The council has also decided to hold its regular meetings on the first Thursday in each month, commencing with Thursday, January 7, 1932.

There are now thirteen branches of A.Y.P.A. on the Island, all of whom are in conformity with the principles of the association—worship, work, fellowship and edification—doing much to foster the work of youth in the Anglican church.

London, Nov. 27.—Members of the federal structure committee of the India Round-Table Conference here in their financial report issued to-day said they could not commit themselves to the view that an advisory finance council would secure effective maintenance of confidence in the credit of India which must be the essential test of measures necessary in finance.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Cancellation of the appointment of Dr. W. A. Watson as medical inspector of schools for Pouce Coupe and district is announced to-day.

Establishment of a Juvenile Court at Powell River is announced in The B.C. Gazette. W. L. Parkin of Powell River has been named judge of the court.

Frederick W. Butterworth, charged in City Police Court this morning with attempting to steal an automobile belonging to M. Bridgeman, was remanded until to-morrow.

H. F. Matthews, general manager of Canadian Pacific western hotels, is on his way west from Winnipeg and is expected to pay a visit to Victoria within the next few days.

Capt. James Fitzsimmons, member for Kaslo-Slocan in the Legislature, arrived at the Empress Hotel from Nakusp yesterday and left this morning for Nanaimo to attend the Conservative convention there.

A new supply of guide books of cities of England has been received by the Victoria Chamber of Commerce. They include books of Coventry, Birkenhead, Sheffield, Worcester, Bury, Stoke-on-Trent and Morley.

By order-in-council the petroglyphs on the creek between Deer Point and Kulleet Bay on the Kulleet Indian Reserve, Vancouver, have been classed as an historic object under the Historic Objects Preservation Act.

Minnie Hill, alleged proprietress of the Olive Rooms, was fined $100 in City Police Court this morning as keeper of a disorderly house. Dolly Brown and Sue Campbell were each fined $25 as inmates.

The names of Rev. George O. M. I. Burns, Kamloops, Roman Catholic, and Rev. Konstantin Molchansky, Russian Orthodox Greek Catholic, are included on a supplementary list of ministers' licenses to perform marriages in British Columbia.

The Canadian Pensioners' Association will hold its regular meeting at 8 o'clock to-night in headquarters, 225 Pemberton Building. All members are requested to attend. The directors will meet at 7 o'clock.

With Trustee A. T. Farley voting against the expenditure, the Esquimalt School Board yesterday evening authorized the purchase of a filing system for Lampson Street School. The fixture will cost $115.

J. J. Dewar, 1236 Oscar Street, was taken to the Jubilee Hospital yesterday evening for treatment to a bruised hip and abrasions on the face and forehead following an accident at the intersection of Fernwood Road and Yates Street, when he was knocked down by a car.

Incorporation of the Victoria Operatic Society under the Societies Act is announced in to-day's B.C. Gazette. The objects of the society are to present operas, develop musical and dramatic talent among members and to raise money for the society or for charitable purposes.

Attendance at Esquimalt schools during the month was exceptionally high, it was revealed in reports submitted to the School Board yesterday evening. At Lampson Street the average was 95.5 per cent, while at the High School it was 98.41 per cent.

Information regarding Vancouver Island and an attractive place where he could secure ten acres of improved land is sought from the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau by A. B. Brooker, 805 Melville Avenue, Baltimore, Maryland. Mr. Brooker says he has sufficient money for the rest of his days and seeks a place to retire.

The possibility of British Columbia becoming a greater beef-producing country was outlined by A. J. B. Fell, Vancouver, who has been associated with the farming industry for many years and who is at present staying at the Empress Hotel. Because of the present low prices of beef, ranchers are keeping their heifers for breeding.

Expressing their appreciation for assistance given to them during fire prevention week and the school children's gala respectively, the Fire Insurance Agents' Association and Victoria Amateur Swimming Club wrote letters of thanks to the Esquimalt School Board. The communications were read at the board's meeting yesterday evening.

Decision was reserved by Magistrate George Jay in Saanich Police Court yesterday afternoon in the case of William H. Rowse, charged with keeping liquor for sale at the Prairie Inn, Saanichton. Chief of Police Allan Rankin described a police raid on the premises last Saturday night. The defendant claimed that a birthday party was in progress at the time, and that two men and three women in the place were his guests.

Panning for gold during vacation days is lots of fun and mildly stimulating, Charles Norton of San Diego says in a letter to the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau. He has carried his little gold pan with him on vacations to most of the streams of the mainland and will bring it with him to Vancouver Island, he says in a letter to the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, asking for information about placer mining for amateurs here.

Members of the St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society held a very enjoyable concert yesterday evening in the Foresters' Hall. Artists contributing to the programme were: J. Mairs, A. Pollock, Mrs. Marshiel, G. Warnock, Mrs. Mayell, Mrs. Wilkie, Mrs. Crawford, Miss M. Watson, Mrs. M. Wallace, Mrs. Crowther, R. Morrison, R. McVie and Master E. Stidder. At the close of the programme, which was warmly received, dancing was indulged in, bringing to a close a most successful evening.

Further preparations for the benefit concert to be staged by the local magicians' organization, under the auspices of the Kinsmen Club of this city, were made at the latter body's dinner in the Empress Hotel yesterday evening. The proceeds from the event, which will b held in the Shrine Auditorium on Friday, December 4, at 8 o'clock, will be devoted to the babies' cot fund of the Children's Aid Society. A special part of the programme has been arranged for children and promises to be exceptionally clever. At the club's December 10 meeting, officers will be elected for next year.

A card party and dance will be held at Hampton Hall, Burnside Road, this evening in aid of the Saanich Welfare Association.

F. T. Tapscott, Whittier Avenue, sustained a fractured hip, when struck down by a truck at his wood yard on Alpha Street yesterday evening. He was playing with a dog at a bend in the road and a truck, coming around the corner, could not be stopped to avoid him. He is in St. Joseph's Hospital, where Dr. W. H. Moore attended.

Disapproval of the editorial criticism directed at Prof. F. H. Soward by The Colonist following his lecture on "Russia and the Five-Year Plan" before the University Extension Association two weeks ago, was voiced by G. A. A. Hebden, president of the association yesterday evening. "As your president, on behalf of members of the executive committee and myself," Mr. Hebden said, "I desire to express disapproval of the unfair criticism of Professor Soward, made by The Colonist in connection with his recent lecture to us on Russia, and to say that such criticism was not justified by anything the lecturer said."

The regular meeting of the Victoria and District Cornish Society was held recently and about seventy members attended. The meeting opened with "Trelawney." After the business meeting a short programme and community singing was enjoyed. In the cushion drawing, ticket 232 was the lucky one and was held by Mrs. J. Ford. Whist and refreshments followed. The next regular meeting will be held to-morrow night at 1232 Government Street, upstairs. A cordial invitation is given to all Cornish people to meet Miss Penrose, a noted Cornish speaker.

The Young People's Society of Knox Presbyterian Church held an enjoyable social in the church hall on Wednesday night. Over seventy attended and enjoyed the games and contests. Prizes were presented by the president, Bob Foulis, to the following: Eileen Beggs, Lila Mitchell, Edna Watson, Mrs. J. S. Patterson and Earl Conroy. Two novelty choirs, "The Country Women's Choir," which was composed of girls and boys in the society, and "The Society Girls' Choir," performed. Rev. J. S. Patterson, the pastor, spoke briefly. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered the social committee and those who assisted. The games and contests were conducted by Nessie Mitchell, Doris LePage, Louise Patterson, Bob Foulis, Don McMillan and Dick Creech.

Toc-H took its turn at entertaining the inmates of the Home for Aged Men with a varied concert programme on Wednesday evening. Before the musical events an illustrated lecture was given by Major F. V. Longstaff, member of the Bureau of Nautical Research. A series of good pictures were shown, chief among which were views of historic British battleships beginning with the Trafalgar incident and following the evolution of nautical prowess to the present-day monsters of sea warfare. Numerous ships shown were one-time visitors at Esquimalt, being recognized by several of the more aged inmates. Following the lecture, community songs by a male chorus, special musical numbers by Mrs. Redford, Messrs. Henslow, Lynn, Wedderburn and W. J. Baird, comprised the entertainment. Refreshments were served and the inmates thanked the visitors through Manager Geo. Havard. H. T. Ravenhill occupied the chair.

NO LIMITS ON NEW CAR PASS

Weekly Tickets Go on Sale To-morrow For Use on Monday

Passes Good Any Time, Can Be Transferred to Anyone

Everything is ready for inauguration on Monday of the dollar weekly pass on the B.C. Electric street cars and buses. The passes will be placed on sale to-morrow and will be obtainable from street car operators, bus drivers and at company's offices on Douglas Street, Langley Street and Broad Street.

TRANSFERABLE TO ANYONE

The life of the pass will be from the first cars leaving the city on Mondays until the last cars leaving the various terminals on the following Sunday night. The pass can be used an unlimited number of times with no restrictions as to route or time of day. It is also transferable to anyone, whether a member of the purchaser's family or not.

In commenting on the weekly pass system, A. T. Goward, vice-president, said: "We believe a pass of this nature, providing transportation at what may be termed a wholesale rate, will meet with popular approval, especially at this season of the year. It is, of course, primarily designed to stimulate street car travel; to keep the street railway system busy and our operating staffs fully employed as a consequence.

LITTLE RED TAPE

"We have endeavored to design a pass that not only gives the greatest possible value for the money, but one that can be used with an absolute minimum of red tape. It will save time on the front platform, the necessity of asking for a transfer and the bother of always having to pay car fare either by ticket or in cash.

"I would also like to point out," Mr. Goward continued, "that there are absolutely no restrictions as to the use of these passes. They are good at any time on any route, street car or bus, operated by this company in Greater Victoria. They require no identification as to ownership, and can, therefore, be transferred to anyone, thus greatly increasing their general value and usefulness.

NO RESTRICTIONS

"Such liberal conditions do not always prevail in other cities where the weekly pass system is in use. Frequently there are restrictions as to routes or time of day. In cities where unrestricted passes are in use, they frequently are sold for more than one dollar.

"For these reasons I have no hesitation in saying that the citizens of Greater Victoria are being offered, under the pass system to go into effect next Monday, safe, dependable transportation at one of the lowest rates prevailing in any city.

"Whether the new system will be successful here remains to be seen," said Mr. Goward. "That is something which rests almost entirely with the public. We, on our part, are offering transportation at wholesale rates, and if the public buys in sufficient quantities, it will be possible to continue under this system.

THOROUGH TRIAL

"In any event, it is the intention to give it a thorough trial, and I earnestly bespeak the co-operation of the public in our efforts to keep the local street railway industry in a position where it will at least make ends meet, and the resultant payroll as nearly as possible at its normal level."

Since the first announcement there has been a considerable amount of favorable comment among the merchants and business men of the city on the proposal to establish a low rate weekly pass, and the indications are there will be a good demand for the pasteboards as soon as they are placed on sale.

SAYS TEXTBOOKS HIT SIR JOHN

Hinchliffe Dislikes Criticism of Macdonald in School Histories

Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe, Minister of Education, and H. Despard Twigg, M.P.P., speaking at the Ward Two Saanich Conservative meeting at St. Mark's Hall, yesterday evening, replied to the Liberal criticism of the Tolmie government's financial crisis by attacking the former Liberal government's administration of the schools.

Mr. Hinchliffe declared the Liberal government had allowed in the public schools textbooks in which historians besmirched the name of Sir John A. Macdonald.

"I do not know of any government that can stoop so low or be more despicable than a government that uses its schools to teach political partizanship and form biased political opinions among its citizens by steeping the minds of its children in party hatreds," said Mr. Hinchliffe. "The Liberal government allowed textbooks in the public schools which eulogized the Liberal party as all that was good and the Conservative party as all that was bad."

Mr. Twigg declared the Liberals used "despicable methods," and allowed in a school book a picture of a boy scout saluting the Stars and Stripes. He said this did not inspire a sense of national pride among young Canadian boys and girls.

He commended Mr. Hinchliffe for introducing the Canadian creed as contained on the flyleaf of every government-printed book and for having flag exercises held once a week in all schools, with saluting of the flag and singing of the National Anthem as is done in the United States schools. He declared the addresses and actions of Canada's founders more fitting and inspiring than Lincoln's Gettysburg speech.

Mr. Twigg said Mr. Pattullo ought to be helping the Tolmie administration in its present crisis instead of attacking it.

"The Liberals left an inheritance of public debt which is now costing the province 86 cents out of every dollar collected to pay off," Mr. Twigg went on.

He described as scandalous the Oliver and Sumas irrigation projects and liquor control and Gauthier scandals.

TEACHERS' FUND WORKS STARTED

Improvement of Boys' Central School Grounds Commenced This Morning

Thirty men commenced working this morning on improvements to be made to the grounds of the Boys' Central School. This is the first unit of a number of unemployment relief works which will be initiated at the instance of the teachers of the city schools, in co-operation with the school board.

One-fourth of the cost will be provided by the teachers through monthly deductions from their salaries, the remained of the cost of the programme being provided by the provincial and Dominion governments.

Trustee J. L. Beckwith, chairman of a committee of three trustees and three teachers which prepared the programme of grounds improvements, this morning stated that the major undertakings would be at the Boys' and Girls' Central Schools, at the High School and at the Victoria West School. There will also be some necessary work done by the committee at all the city's schools.

The schedule of betterments was recently approved by the City Council. The work is being done under the supervision of City Engineer F. M. Preston, with Frank Allwood in charge of the programme.

In a few days work will be commenced at a number of other schools. It is expected that the work provided by the teachers will be of great importance in helping the city meet the unemployment situation.

SKETCHES WORK OF MONTAGUE IN RECONSTRUCTION

Aims of "Disenchanted Idealist" in Moral, Spiritual Field Explained

Prof. A. C. Cook Gives Scholarly Talk to University Extension Society

The courageous strides taken by C. E. Montague, "a disenchanted idealist,' 'along the road to moral reconstruction following the war, which saw his fine illusions swept relentlessly aside and left him striving bravely to build anew out of the material which still proved worthwhile, were sketched by Professor A. C. Cook, of the Department of History at the University of British Columbia, in his first lecture before a Victoria audience at the University Extension Association meeting in Victoria College yesterday evening.

A writer whose fundamental aim was to develop ideas, but who still wrote with an artistic touch of beauty and distinction, Montague, in his works, would live when many of his more popular contemporaries were forgotten, the lecturer stated.

In a preliminary sketch of his subject's life, Professor Cook spoke of his childhood, with its classical background of good reading and wholesome joy in the out-of-doors and all athletics. Following his early education in his home, Montague had proceeded to a well-known London grammar school and had graduated from Balliol College, Oxford, with a fine record in athletics and a splendid name as a clean-living and courageous man.

JOINED MANCHESTER GUARDIAN

At the age of twenty-three he joined the staff of the Manchester Guardian, working with the well-known English daily for thirty-five years, with the exception of his period in France, as a leader-writer, reviewer and brilliant political commentator.

He mentioned that Montague had opposed the South African War, had sided with the Armenians against the Turks and had advocated a cautious policy in India.

In his early books the writer had shown unusual brilliance and had presented a travesty in public opinion delightful to his readers.

War, Montague looked upon as something to be avoided, but, with Britain entered in the fight, he felt it England's duty to win fairly.

DISSOLUTION OF IDEALS

In "Disenchantment," written in 1912, Montague showed the moral influence of the war upon the soldiers without delving too deeply into "the verminous mud of the trenches." He pictured the dissolution of idealistic hope and the ever-growing gleams of distasteful truth. The story not only made a fine book but was a clear portrayal of the feelings of the men in the trenches, the speaker said.

"In Fiery Particles," published in 1923, the writer treated subjects related to journalism, mountaineering and war, while in "The Right Place," given to the public the following year, he had shown a rebound to the spirit of "Disenchantment." "Rough Justice," which came out in 1926, indicated the influence of the war on families, while "Right Off the Map," published in 1927 dealt with shady politics and a corrupt press which gave it a sombre tone, heightened by a tragic ending suggestive of bitterness and hopelessness on the part of the writer. It undeniably bore the stamp of "one who had been 'put through it,' the lecturer remarked.

FAITH IN MAN'S DECENCY

But with all his disillusionment, Montague preserved a courageous belief in the fundamental decency of mankind and the virtues of honor, truth and the simple things of life.

Leaving The Guardian in 1925, the writer had devoted the remaining three years of his life to books and articles. In "Action," a posthumous book, Montague had portrayed real characters, scornful of risks and had given an interesting, somewhat humorous insight into the life of a journalist in "A Writer's Notes on His Trade," another series of articles published after his death.

As a literary craftsman Montague had shown almost too much brilliancy in his early work, "A Hind Let Loose," but had matured into a more simple and virile style that was outstanding. A cynical note marked many of his writings. His plots, though not weak, were not his strong points, and his characters were not always well rounded out, more frequently being types than individuals. But with all that his work was well done, his dialogue convincing and his humor, both ironic and intellectual gayety, of a high order.

VERBAL MAGIC

Apart from the autobiographical aspect of his books, highly enjoyed by his readers, Montague's work showed a verbal magic, power of graphic description and wit of unusual calibre. With excerpts Professor Cook illustrated his points.

Classifying his subjects into four general groups, education, morality, war and reconstruction, Professor Cook showed Montague's views on these matters. Dealing with the first Montague had shown a belief that physical fitness and character building were of cardinal importance. His love of life, honest joys and health of mind was evident in all his work, the speaker continued.

OUTLOOK ON MORALS

With regard to morals, the writer had discountenanced the creed that all experience led to a fuller life. Good experiences were of untold value, but sordid experiences were of a minus character, detracting from the healthy outlook of the individual.

Religion had appeared an undefinable force in which he believed without admitting cant and dogma.

Montague had brought to the war a more mature outlook than the majority of men. He had seen it as a negation of his treasured ideals and as one of the first thinking soldiers, had seen his illusions swept aside, the lecture stated.

After it he had striven to find something constructive in what had been left of his shattered outlook and had preserved his belief in the decency of man, his love of beauty and truth and the simple life, and had been able to offer an optimism that could be put to the test.

This he had been able to do, Professor Cook continued, after he had seen the souring influences of broken faith, moral retrogression, rotten propaganda and an apparent failure in orthodox religion.

Spiritual and moral reconstruction he saw as an individual's task. In attempting to forward this he brought to his work a zest for life and appreciation of simple things and based them on the few "sound spots in the body politic" after the conflict.

Brentwood

The W.A. to St. Mary's and St. Stephen's churches held a successful sale of work at the Orange Hall, Saanichton, Wednesday afternoon. Miss A. Barton held the lucky ticket in the draw for a tablecloth and serviettes, and Mrs. King was the winner of the lucky grab. Afternoon teas were served under the convenership of Mrs. T. Haddon assisted by Mrs. E. Rochon, Mrs. A. Francis and Mrs. Spencer. Those in charge of the stalls were: Fancy work, Mrs. Greensted, Miss Bissett and Miss Lyle; home cooking, Mrs. D. Hodgson and Mrs. A. J. Guy; candy, Mrs. Bristowe and Miss Wilkinson; surprise grab, Mrs. Gale and Miss Ethne Gale.

Mount Newton Social Club held their fortnightly card party at the club rooms Wednesday evening, ten tables being engaged in play. First prize was won by Miss M. Scott, F. Michell, H. Clow and C. Gosselin. Second prize was won by Mrs. T. Paden, Mrs. E. Rochon, A. Lacoursiere and Mr. Few. The monthly prizes for the highest lady and gentleman were won by Miss M. Scott and F. Michell. The next card party will be held on December 9.

The meeting of the W.A. to St. Stephen's and St. Mary's churches scheduled to take place on December 2, has been postponed, and will be is being entertained Friday by the held at the vicarage on December 9. Central Baptist Association in Victori The Baptist Young People's Societ

The monthly meeting of the members of the Langford Women's Institute was held Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. Dan Malcolm presiding. The resolution sponsored by the Victoria W.I. regarding freight rates to the prairies was endorsed by the meeting.

Several members signed the disarmament petition. An interesting report of the work done by the Traveler's Aid branch of the Y.W.C.A. was read and the annual subscription will be sent. Details of the work done by the recent W.I. conference were given by Miss Savory, who urged all members to take part in the contest sponsoerd by the Chamber of Commerce to buy B.C. products. The nomination of officers for next year took place, and will be dealt with at the next meeting on December 15. W. T. Dixon was elected auditor of the year's accounts. Tea was served by Mrs. N. G. Johnston and Mrs. W. Bartle.

Drafty Jacobs Is Handpicking Opponents for Max Schmeling

* * *

Heavyweight Fighters Becoming Noted for What They Will Not Do

* * *

* * *

Golfers Throughout U.S. Felt Ball Had Been Thrust Upon Them

WILY JOE JACOBS, Max Schmeling's manager, is considering two eligible opponents for the German heavyweight champion. One is Mickey Walker, smaller and lighter than Schmeling. His sole claim to heavyweight fame is a draw with Jack Sharkey. The other is Jack Dempsey, still on a comeback tour, and having a further dubious claim to be the outstanding challenger; dubious because he reached his peak many years ago, has had a long lay-off from fighting, and has taken on no real first-class opponents to prove himself. Even Tuffy Griffith, Omaha negro, who faded away before ponderous Primo Carnera, failed to fade before Dempsey the other evening and was given a big cheer as he left the ring on the loser's end of a close decision. Dempsey, for the first time in many years, was booed.

* * *

The by-play between Dempsey and Sharkey is amusing. Dempsey's manager, Leonard Sachs, says that he doesn't know whom the ex-champion will meet, but it won't be Sharkey. He has whipped Sharkey once and figures the Boston heavyweight had no right to another match. Sharkey's manager, Johnny Buckley, declares Sharkey is after Schmeling and won't consider a match with Tommy Loughran or anyone else he has already defeated. Meanwhile Loughran gamely won his thirteenth straight victory, fighting half his bout with Paolino with a sprained ankle. Schmeling won't fight Sharkey, Dempsey won't fight Sharkey and Sharkey won't fight Loughran. It seems the heavyweights are more noted for what they won't do in the ring than for what they will do.

* * *

What would have happened to ex-champions who retained their crowns, if their opponents had said, "We won't fight so-and-so; we already have a decision over him." When Stanley Ketchell was knocked out by Billy Papke for the middleweight championship, he came back two months later and knocked Papke kicking. Pete Herman lost his title to Joe Lynch and won it back again less than a year later. Lynch himself, lost the title to Johnny Buff and won it back again later by a knockout.

* * *

Even Gene Tunney lost the light heavyweight title to Harry Greb, only to get it back again less than a year afterwards. Where would Gene have been if Greb had said: "I won't meet him again. I've already whipped him." Greb wasn't that kind of a fighter. He would give anybody a chance. One victory doesn't mean permanent superiority.

Recent action of the United States Golf Association in adopting a new and heavier golf ball was more or less expected. Nothing that the U.S.G.A. has ever done evoked such a controversy as did the adoption of the larger and lighter ball. Brought out as an attempt to curb long-driving and to prevent old courses from becoming obsolete as a result of the heavier ball's constantly increasing ballistic properties, the new sphere quickly dubbed the "balloon ball" immediately aroused a storm of protest.

* * *

There was a general feeling among golfers throughout the United States that the "balloon ball" had been thrust upon them by the controlling body and that feeling persisted, although at the end of last summer it was not as violent as it was at first. Curiously enough the ball that was supposed to curb length, reward skill and bring back the use of clubs that were coming to be neglected, such as the spoon and the mashie, did nothing of the sort. The skillful hitters began getting even more length downwind with it and even with the wind adverse the loss of distance was negligible.

* * *

But the duffer and the dub suffered, or at least imagined they did. It was all well and good for others to inform them that whatever distance they lost or fancied they lost from the tee would be recompensed by the way the ball shot up, begging to be hit through the fairway. The heavier ball had got him off the tee and nothing else mattered.

Shoots Winning Point For Rivals In Hoop Fixture

Winnipeg, Nov. 27.—Beatrice York, left little basketball star, ranks today with the bone-play artists of sport—she tossed the winning goal in a cage contest, but played on the losing team. With the score tied at 18-all and a minute to go, in a Y.W.C.A. senior league match, Miss York looped a perfect foul-shot—but into the wrong hoop. Excited after having scored more than half the points for Great West Life in the neck-and-neck tilt, the sharp-shooting forward stepped to the wrong line when the foul-shot was awarded. Before she could be halted, she had won the match for Canoe Club, 19 to 18. Miss York collapsed when she found what she had done.

World Hockey Champions Get Out in Front of Own Section by Scoring 3 to 2 Victory Over Leafs, Joliat Nets Third Counter For Franchmen; Morenz Draws Major Penalty; Boston Bruins Hand Chicago Hawks Their First Setback; Americans and Maroons Fight to Deadlock.

Canadian Press

Toronto, Ont., Nov. 27.—Canadiens of Montreal, professional hockey champions of the world, flashed to the front of the Canadian Division of the National Hockey League yesterday evening when they outlasted Toronto Maple Leafs to win a 3 to 2 verdict. Their win, coupled with New York Americans' 7 to 1 tie with Montreal Maroons, sent the flying Frenchmen into first division, one point in front of the Amerks, and two in front of Sprague Cleghorn's band of warriors. Chicago Black Hawks, who were undefeated until yesterday evening, have a loss chalked against them to-day, following their 7 to 0 defeat at the hands of Boston Bruins.

Nick Wasnie, deadly-shooting wingman of the Flying Frenchmen, was a thorn in the Leafs' side all night and was responsible for two of his team's three counters. Joliat bagged the goal which, added to Wasnie's brace, gave the Habitants their victory. Both Toronto tallies came in the second period when the Frenchmen were short-handed and were credited to Conacher and Jackson, right and left-wingers, respectively, of the "kid" forward line. Howie Morenz drew the first major penalty of the Montreal hockey season when he cut "Red" Horner, Toronto defence man, over the eye with his stick in the final stanza.

BATTLE TO DRAW

Montreal Maroons served notice in New York they must be considered in the running for the Canadian group title when they battled Americans to a 1 to 1 overtime tie. Maroons got the edge late in the second frame when Babe Siebert skated down centre and went through to flip a backhand shot into the cage behind Worters. A four-man attack toward the close of the final session when Maroons were short-handed gave the Amerks a tie when Normie Himes slipped a neat pass over to Rabbit McVeigh, who easily beat Smith.

Boston Bruins' 1 to 0 win over Chicago hoisted them out of the cellar into third place, three points behind the league-leading Rangers. A neat combination play was made when George Owen grabbed a puck and skated up centre, split the Hawk secondaries and passed to Clapper who drove a high shot into the corner of Gardiner's cage. A five-forward attack by the Hawks during the greater part of the final session was unable to penetrate the strong Bruin rearguard.

Montreal, Nov. 27.—Montreal Canadiens edged out a 3 to 2 win over Toronto Maple Leafs in an exciting National Hockey League game here yesterday evening. Apparently undamaged in spirit by their 7 to 1 defeat at the hands of Boston early in the week, the Flying Frenchmen had a slight edge throughout on the Leafs, who scored both their goals when the champions were a man short.

Pete Lepine, who played an outstanding game for the Frenchmen, fed Nick Wasnie a perfect pass for a goal in the first period. In the second, Charlie Conacher, left winger for the Leafs, took a pass from Primeau and beat Hainsworth. Joliat stickhandled dizzily through the Toronto defence and flipped a shot into the net unassisted. Then Jackson skirted the Canadiens' defence and poked one past Hainsworth to even it up.

Leduc broke from a scramble, drew the Toronto defence to one side and gave Wasnie a pass to count Canadiens' winning goal. The third period was scoreless, the Canadiens standing off the Leafs' last-minute attempts.

The line-ups:

SUMMARY

First period—1, Canadiens, Wasnie (Lepine), 3.30. Penalties, Joliat (2), Conacher, Rivers, Cotton, Bailey.

Second period—2, Toronto, Conacher (Primeau), 9.40; 3, Canadiens, Joliat, 4.08; 4, Toronto, Jackson, 3.29; 5, Canadiens, Wasnie (Leduc), 2.17. Penalties, Gagnon, Day, Morenz, Conacher, Finnegan, Mondou, S. Mantha (minors), Morenz (major).

Third period—No score. Penalties, Lepine, Bailey and Primeau.

New York, Nov. 27.—New York Americans and Montreal Maroons struggled through seventy minutes of spotty hockey to a 1 to 1 tie yesterday evening in a National League game. New York came from behind near the end of the third period to gain a draw. Weak passing and a tendency to offsides hampered both teams. But after the Maroons scored the first goal late in the second period, they warmed up to their task and displayed frequent flashes of top-notch hockey.

Babe Siebert made the Maroon score, taking advantage of a brief lapse in the American defence to slam the puck past Roy Worters. With three men coming down, the defenders left Siebert unguarded long enough to get set for a shot, and he netted a clever backhander.

With little more than five minutes of the third period left, Rabbit McVeigh tied the score on a pass from Normie Himes. In a four-man attack, while the Maroons had a man in the penalty box, McVeigh worked free and tricked Norm Smith with a clever shot.

Line-ups:

First period—No score. Penalties, Ayres, Lamb, Trottier, Stewart.

BUFFALO WIN AND INCREASE HOCKEY LEAD

Defeat London 2 to 1 For Second Win in Two Nights in International League

Pittsburgh and Syracuse Take Games; New Haven Leads Canadian-American

London, Ont., Nov. 27.—Buffalo Bisons increased their lead in the International Hockey League here yesterday by defeating London Tecumsehs 2 to 1 in a loosely-played game. It was the second win in two nights for the Bisons.

The goal that decided the issue bounced into the London net off a local forward's skate on a fluke play. It was credited to Lloyd Gross, who also scored the other Bison tally on a pass from Ronnie Martin. With two seconds to go, London scored when Gene Carrigan passed out from behind the net to Leo Quenneville, and the latter beat the goalie cleanly.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 27.—Pittsburgh Yellow Jackets won their first game of the International Hockey League season yesterday evening when Cleveland was defeated 3 to 0 in a contest which was a mixture of fighting and wrestling as well as smart hockey. The game was watched by one of the largest crowds in the history of the sport here.

A free-for-all started by Captain Tory Gregg of the Yellow Jackets, and Mike MacFarlane of Cleveland in the second period, brought major penalties to both players. There were several other brawls, the referee meting out a total of seventeen penalties.

Providence, R.I., Nov. 27.—New Haven Eagles moved into first place in the Canadian-American League Hockey race by virtue of a 4 to 1 tie with Providence in a seventy-minute match yesterday evening. Reds step up into a tie with Springfield for second place.

Vail, Lesieur, Cromier and Connor scored for Providence, and Speyer, Burmister and Kuhn, twice, for New Haven. There was no score in the overtime.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 27.—Goalkeeper "Porky" Levine of Kansas City Pla-Mors yesterday evening and the Indian sign on Tulsa Oilers, champs of the American Hockey League, and shut them out 2 to 0. It was the second defeat in four games for the high-powered Oklahoma crew.

Chicago, Nov. 27.—Chicago Shamrocks yesterday evening hit the high-scoring stride they hope will take them up from the early depths of the American Hockey League standing, and galloped to an 8 to 0 victory over Buffalo Majors.

Goals—Bill Cook, Rangers, five.

Penalties—Earl Seibert, Rangers; twenty-three minutes.

Boston, Nov. 27.—Boston's battling Bruins gave Chicago Black Hawks their first upset in the current National Hockey League campaign yesterday evening by a 1 to 0 score in a wide open game that, nevertheless, included much close checking, before 16,000 in the Boston Garden.

Bruins withheld their pressure until late in the second period, and when Mush March was sent off, George Owen supplied the spark for the game's only tally. He stopped a Chicago drive in the Boston defence zone, carried down the middle and passed to Dit Clapper as he split the Chicago secondaries, Clapper's speedy angle shot was too hot for Goalie Chuck Gardiner.

Line-ups:

Boston—Thompson, Shore, Hitchman, Barry, Oliver, Galbraith; subs, Weiland, Chapman, Touhey, Boyd, Owen, Jerwa, Cook and Clapper.

Chicago—Gardiner, Wentworth, Abel, Ripley, Lowrey, Thompson; subs, March, Couture, Cook, Miller, Adams, Gottselig and Graham.

Third period—No score. Penalties, Ripley, Shore, Owen, Chapman, T. Cook and Weiland.

Syracuse, N.Y., Nov. 27.—Syracuse Stars won their second victory in the International Hockey League race yesterday evening by 2 to 1 in a fierce struggle against Detroit. All the scoring came in the last period.

Montreal Wheelers Engage Mustangs In Eastern Grid Final

Canadian Football Championship of East at Stake When Clubs Battle at Montreal To-morrow Afternoon; Winners Will Meet Regina Roughriders, Western Titleholders, in Canadian Final; Both Teams Ready For Sudden-death Game; Eastern Junior Clubs Play.

Canadian Press

Toronto, Nov. 27.—Eastern Canada rugby is rapidly approaching the stage where only a few teams remain in each series. Senior honors will be decided Saturday at Montreal when Montreal Winged Wheelers, interprovincial champions, play University of Western Ontario Mustangs of London, intercollegiate titleholders.

Western disposed of Sarnia Imperials, Ontario Rugby Football Union winners, to earn the right to play in the finals. Balmy Beach, last year's Dominion champions, were eliminated by Sarnia. Regina Roughriders, western Canada representatives, will again come east in search of the Canadian title.

Three teams remain in the running for junior honors, Montreal A.A.A. Juniors, representing the Quebec Football Union, and Woodstock and St. Catharines, finalists for the Ontario Rugby Football Union title. The latter two meet this Saturday to decide who will go into the semi-finals for the Canadian crown.

Toronto Argonauts, present titleholders, were knocked out of contention by Woodstock. Moose Jaw, western Canada champions, are expected to travel east this year to participate in Dominion finals.

London, Ont., Nov. 27.—London's galloping Mustangs left for Montreal yesterday evening where they will meet Winged Wheelers in the eastern rugby final Saturday. The Western University squad, winners of the intercollegiate title, are primed and fit for their engagement with Warren Steven's band of forward-passing speedsters.

The Mustangs are at full strength. Every member of the team is reported fit and ready to go.

Coach Joe Breen of the purple-clad crew was in an optimistic mood. "We are going to Montreal to play football, and we believe that we have a chance of winning. If we are defeated we will not be disgraced and will be in there battling every second."

Montreal, Nov. 27.—Most of the Winged Wheelers' training yesterday evening for the eastern Canada football final against Western University here Saturday afternoon was done in the dressing room. Behind closed doors, Coach Clary Foran gave his players a chalk-talk and a large quantity of sound advice that lasted for than an hour.

The players practiced for about three-quarters of an hour, first occupying themselves with dummy scrimmage and then finishing up with signal drill, working in two independent squads. Only Frankie Robinson, inactive through injury, and Henry Garbarino did not participate in the workout. Garbarino, outside wing, was suffering from effects of a cold.

CARNERA RULES 2 TO 1 CHOICE

Giant Italian Heavy Favorite to Turn Back Challenge of Campolo To-night

New York, Nov. 27.—Two behemoths of the ring, Primo Carnera and Vittorio Campolo, clash in the feature fifteen-round bout in Madison Square Garden to-night with Carnera a heavy favorite.

Indications to-day were that Primo would enter the ring the public choice at odds at least as good as 2 to 1. The rush of Carnera money perhaps best can be explained by the poor showings Campolo made against both Tommy Loughran and Ernie Schaaf. Tommy boxed the South American giant dizzy to win a decision with miles to spare, while Schaaf knocked the big fellow out.

Carnera, although beaten by Jack Sharkey in his last fight here, showed unlimited courage if not much else. He was belted all around the place and floored into the bargain, but he was still in there trying at the finish.

Chemainus Hoop Squads to Play Bays To-morrow

Basketball teams from Chemainus will journey to the James Bay Athletic Association gym to-morrow evening to try conclusions with three of the rowing club's squads. Men's senior "B" and "C" and a girls' quintette will represent the up-islanders.

Following the fixtures the visitors will be entertained at a supper and dance given by the Bays.

"Hank" Mills Boots Home Five Winners At Caliente Track

Vancouver Youngster Gives Brilliant Exhibition of Riding Before 10,000 at Opening of Mexican Meeting; Is Aboard Up, Winner of $2,500 Thanksgiving Day Handicap; Started Career on Victoria and Vancouver Tracks This Summer; Has Great Future.

Agua Caliente, Lower California, Mexico, Nov. 27.—"Hank" Mills, sixteen-year-old rider from Vancouver, B.C., covered himself with glory here yesterday afternoon when he piloted home five winners on the opening card of the Agua Caliente Jockey Club. Besides riding five firsts, Mills, who is an apprentice, was up on James M. Crofton's Up, winner of the $2,500 Thanksgiving Day Handicap, opening stake event of the 107-day meet. Mills, whose feat has seldom been duplicated, received a rousing reception from the 10,000 fans attending the opening programme.

Baron Long's Ervast finished second in the handicap, a length behind the winner, with Raoul Walsh's McGonigle third. They raced the six furlongs in 1.11 4-5. Up, with Mills aboard, raced to the front soon after the start and was never headed. He ran in great style and Ervast, although he made a game effort, could not overhaul him in the stretch drive. McGonigle was always a good third. Up paid $7 in the mutuels.

RODE HERE THIS YEAR

Mills got his start in the saddle on British Columbia tracks this summer and was the leading rider at both Victoria and Vancouver meets. He was famous as a great rider in the stretch and brought many of his mounts home with great drives after rounding the final turn for home.

Following the closing of the meets in British Columbia Mills came south and rode in the meet at Tanforan until the opening of racing here. Last Monday at Tanforan Mills crashed into the spotlight by piloting home four winners, a second and a third. He is being rated one of the finest riders produced in the Pacific Northwest for many years and a brilliant career in the saddle is forecast for him.

Outsider Winner Of Handicap At Tanforan Track

San Bruno, Cal., Nov. 27.—An outsider, Listo, romped home to win the $5,000 Thanksgiving Handicap at Tanforan track here yesterday before a record crowd of 15,000 fans.

Easterly came in second and My Dandy was third. Satin Spar, the favorite, was several noses behind. The race was run in 1.48 over a sloppy track. Preferred options on the winner paid $47 on a $5 ticket.

Coach of Chicago Black Hawks Sick

Matheson has been ailing since he took over the duties of Black Hawk coach at the start of the hockey season, and to facilitate his recovery he was granted a leave of absence until he completely recovers.

Emil Iverson, Black Hawk trainer, is coaching the Hawks in Matheson's absence.

WINS EASILY

Kempton, Eng., Nov. 27.—Bangle II, Victor Emanuel's thoroughbred, had things all to himself to-day as he won the Sunbury Handicap chase over a two-mile course by twenty lengths.

I. Davis's Blunt was second. Seven others also ran. Bangle II was the favorite. The purse was about $800.

TWO-YEAR-OLD TROTTER SOLD FOR BIG PRICE

Calumet Chuck Brings $19,500 For Top Price at Famous Old Glory Sale

Calumet Stable Disposed of For $126,980; Keno Sold to J. M. Berry For $6,500

New York, Nov. 27.—Calumet Chuck, a two-year-old trotter, favored to sweep the rich three-year-old specials next year, yesterday sold for $19,500 as the thirty-seventh Old Glory auction sale closed with the disposal of the racing stable of the late William Wright's Calumet Farm of Lexington, Ky.

BRING $61,800

Calumet Chuck easily topped the Calumet Farm consignment of thirty-four veteran trotters and brood mares, which sold for $61,800. Calumet Butler (three), 2.02½, winner of the $50,000 Hambletonian, was knocked down for the surprisingly low bid of $2,600. The speed colt was bid in by W. J. Rosemire, Lexington, Ky., for Julius Paloncke, Germany.

Keno, which carried the silks of John M. Berry, Rome, Ga., to second place in the Hambletonian, proved far more popular in the auction ring than his conqueror, bringing $6,500.

During the three days of the sale the Calumet Farm disposed of 143 yearlings, brood mares and proven racers for $126,980, an average of $888 a head.

The Walnut Hall Farm of Doneral, Ky., paid $2,500 for Tronia Britton, holder of the world record for three heats in one race. The six-year-old mare was consigned by James P. Berry, Hartford, Conn.

Battalia Scores Another Knockout

Sheboygan, Wis., Nov. 27.—Frankie Battalia, middleweight, Winnipeg, scored his sixteenth knockout in seventy-eight fights when he stopped K.O. White, Chicago negro, in the first round of a scheduled ten-round fight here yesterday.

BILL CUMMINGS WINS

Los Angeles, Nov. 27. — Setting a burning pace, Bill Cummings, Indianapolis, won an easy victory in the forty-lap feature event of the Legion Ascot speedway yesterday afternoon.

His time for the event was 19 minutes 12 4-5 seconds.

Navy and Scottish To Fight For League Leadership To-morrow

JOKERS BEAT JONES BROS. BY ODD GOAL

Munro's Goal Gives League-leaders Victory in Senior Roller Hockey Fixture

Rosebuds Come Through to 5 to 0 Win in Intermediate Game

With "Red" Lawson tying the count two minutes from the end, and then flipping a pass to Dal Munro a minute later to give him an opening which paved the way for the winning tally, Jokers scraped through with a 9 to 8 victory over Jones Brothers in yesterday evening's feature roller hockey fixture at the King Rink. In the intermediate division Rosebuds romped through the Capitol Shoe Repairers to hang up a 5 to 0 win.

Jokers started off with a rush, netting four goals in the first period to Jones Brothers' one. In the second canto the Jones boys came back to register four tallies to the Jokers' one and continued their scoring bee in the third until they had piled up an 8 to 7 lead two minutes before the end.

Unwin, attempting to clear Munro's shot, drove the puck into his own net to give the Jokers victory.

BUDS SHOW EDGE

Showing a decided edge from start to finish, Rosebuds ran through the Capitol Shoe Repairers to score two goals in the first period and three in the final frame, while their opponents went scoreless.

Frank Whitford refereed and the teams were:

Scottish Girls Win Hockey Game

Winnetka, Ills., Nov. 27.—The Scottish girls' team yesterday defeated the Southeast combination, 13 to 1, in the national women's field hockey tournament, to account for its second victory. The Northeast team defeated Midwest, 8 to 1, in the other game of the day.

WOTAN WINNER OF HANDICAP

Captures Thanksgiving Day Stake Event at Jefferson Park; Uluniu Second

New Orleans, La., Nov. 27.—Wotan, owned by E. Haughton, yesterday won the Thanksgiving Day $2,000 added handicap, opening day feature at Jefferson Park.

J.B.A.A. Badminton Players Will Meet Jordan River Team

Badminton players of the J.B.A.A. will journey to Jordan River to-morrow afternoon to meet teams representing that district in a friendly fixture.

HEAVYWEIGHTS WILL FEATURE

Bob Kruse Meets Casey O'Dale in Main Event of To-morrow's Wrestling Card

To-morrow evening's wrestling card at the Tillicum gymnasium will feature Bob Kruse, Portland heavyweight, and Casey O'Dale, Georgia grappler, in the eight ten-minute-round main event. In the five eight-minute-round semi-windup, "Rocky" Brooks, local heavyweight, will go up against "Turk" Manno. The first preliminary will get under way at 8.45 o'clock.

Kruse and O'Dale should be a good match. On Monday evening in Seattle the latter scored a victory over Bill Demetral, two falls to one. Yesterday evening in Vancouver Kruse defeated Demetral by throwing him from the ring in the fourth round. This puts the pair on about an even basis, so the fans should witness a good match. Although unpopular with the crowd, Kruse is one of the leading heavyweights on the Pacific Coast.

Nothing is known about Manno except that he is a good man and capable of giving Brooks a rough time. The Victoria boy has been working out regularly and is in good condition.

Toronto, Nov. 27.—Ed "Don" George, 217, former claimant of the world professional heavyweight wrestling championship, defeated Pat McGill, 227, Omaha Irishman, two falls to one yesterday evening.

Boston, Nov. 27.—Gus Sonnenberg, former wrestling title claimant, defeated Charlie Strack, Oklahoma, yesterday evening. Sonnenberg was awarded the first fall on a technicality and won the deciding fall with his favorite flying-tackle hold in 12.31. Strack gained the second in 15.29 with a body lift and slam.

Vancouver, Nov. 27.—Bob Kruse, Portland, won from Bill Demetral, Chicago, in a rough and tumble wrestling match here yesterday evening when he tossed the Chicagoan from the ring in the fourth round for the first fall and was awarded the match when Demetral was unable to respond to the bell for the fifth.

In the other event John Freberg, Seattle, took the only fall of the match from Marin Plestina, in the third round, but was forced to concede the battle in the fourth round when his knee slipped out and he was unable to continue.

"Cousins" Soft Spot For Batter

By AL DEMAREE

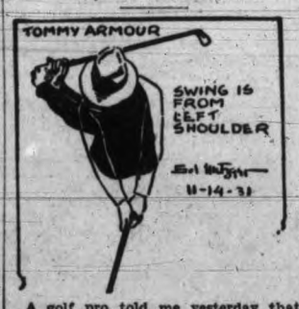
Ball players call pitchers that they are successful against "cousins." Their particular "cousin" or "cousins" may have as much "stuff" as any other pitcher in the league, but they started in hitting them, and built up confidence against them. It was perhaps a lucky "texas leaguer" that started them off. But they know they can hit their "cousin," and what is more important, the "cousin," also knows it. All players have "cousins." Babe Ruth has them and so does the weak hitting pitcher.

This is true in other sports. Bowlers have their "soft" alleys. This particular type of ball may find a groove in the alley. Other better bowlers may find the alley tough, but every bowler has his particular "soft" alley, where he bowls with confidence.

Certain pitchers have certain ball clubs that are "cousins." The personnel of the club may change during the years, but as long as the name of the city is on the shirtfront, he feels he can throw his glove out into the pitcher's box and beat them.

Armour's Swing Good Model

By SOL METZGER



A golf pro told me yesterday that a great many of us have a wrong conception of what wrists actually do. We try to get distance with them; whereas the correct swing accomplishes this for us

A correct swing is what I have been driving at in recent articles. Here's Tommy Armour's. He accomplishes it by taking the club back with a straight left arm swinging from the left shoulder. He brings it down likewise. Thus the radius of the swing is a point centering in the left shoulder and extending to the clubhead.

If we use the wrists instead, the radius of the swing would be from the wrists to the clubhead—just a little more than half of what it should be.

Sol Metzger offers an illustrated leaflet on "Driving" which will help every golfer having trouble off the tee. Send stamped, addressed envelope for it. Address Sol Metzger in care of this paper.

REGINA PATS WIN

Winnipeg, Nov. 27.—Regina Pats, western junior hockey finalists last season, opened a two-game exhibition series here yesterday evening by defeating an all-star Winnipeg team 2 to 1. Pats are to meet Kenora Thistles here Saturday night.

Teams Tied In To[illegible] Berth to Clash I[illegible] City Rugby Featur[illegible]

Squads Virtually Same as Those Which Carried R[illegible] spective Colors to Victories in First Two Star[illegible] Ruttan Off Scots' Line This Week; Two Vacanc[illegible] in Sailors' Pack; Wanderers to Meet Gunners [illegible] Other First Division Tussle; University School [illegible] Play Fifth, Brentwood to Clash With J.B.A.A., a[illegible] Wanderers to Take Field Against Scottish in I[illegible] termediate Fixtures.

Canadian Scottish and Navy ruggers will hold the spotli[illegible] in to-morrow's senior English code games here when they bat[illegible] for the league leadership at the Royal Athletic Park. Both tea[illegible] have two victories under their belts and will be playing all [illegible] to record the third, which will break the deadlock at the head [illegible] the parade.

The teams, with one or two replacements owing to injuries, will be virtually the same as those which played last week. In the other senior game Oak Bay Wanderers will clash with the Fifth Regiment at Oak Bay Park.

Intermediate fans will see the Gunners clashing with the University School at Mount Tolmie, while Brentwood entertains the J.B.A.A. at Tod Inlet. Oak Bay Wanderers will face the Canadian Scottish at the Canteen grounds.

With Chuck Ruttan out of town, the Highlanders will have their backfield slightly changed for the battle against the Navy.

Bryden will be in his old position at fullback, while Jack Horne, Syd Normington, Pete Turgoose and Brian Hunnings will work on the three-quarter line.

A STRONG SCRUM

The scrum will be particularly strong. Bruce Forbes, Bill Wharton and Mitchell Lamb will play in the front rank with Godfrey Wenman, John Rowland, Cy Bernard and Campbell Forbes in the back row.

With these men lending their weight to the Scottish onslaughts, the Navy will have a hard machine to stop. In addition to displaying their old fight for the sake of the regiment, the men will give their best in an effort to secure places on the Victoria "rep" team.

Much the same team as that which sent the J.B.A.A. and Oak Bay Wanderers down to defeat in its first two starts will be carrying the Navy's colors. Although nothing definite has been decided, it is conceded Robinson would be playing fullback with Stagg, McDonald, Putnam, Bamfield, Hibbert and Archer in the backfield with one other player.

MANY CASUALTIES

Nursing nine casualties since they started this year, Wanderers will be considerably weakened for their fixture against the Fifth Regiment. To-day they were only able to muster thirteen regulars but hoped to plug up the gaps with borrowed players.

"Chuck" Christie will be at fullback, with Meade Robbins, Jack Gan, R. Gilmore and Chris Usher as three-quarters. Tom Golby and Symons halves and H. Scott, Dan Parfitt, Hope-well, de Blacquiere, R. Dunsmuir [illegible] G. Douglas, forwards.

With a heavy game scheduled [illegible] tween University School and the [illegible] termediate Gunners, Coach D[illegible] Roberts was unwilling to move up [illegible] second division players to replace [illegible] jured men in the senior division.

He expected to have Roddy McIn[illegible] out as fullback, Frank Skillings, A[illegible] Le Marquand, Harold Engleson and [illegible] sub on the three-quarter line, w[illegible] Warnock, Walton, Buller, Seivers [illegible] Bob Engleson working in a seven-m[illegible] scrum.

FEATURE GAME

The University School-Fifth R[illegible] ment fixture promises to be the o[illegible] standing game on the second divis[illegible] card. Both teams have shown up w[illegible] during the year and should give a g[illegible] display.

Brentwood is expected to take [illegible] J.B.A.A. into camp, while the result [illegible] the Canadian Scottish-Oak Bay W[illegible] derers match is doubtful. If the W[illegible] derers can make their speed count [illegible] more than the Highlanders' weig[illegible] they stand a good chance against [illegible] militiamen.

J.B.A.A.—Billingsley, Brown, M[illegible] murchie, Stephen, Nesbitt, Murr[illegible] Stipe, Lowe, Duncalfe, Morley, Tot[illegible] Barrett, Wray and Crawford.

STILL ROWING

Art Speed, H. Francis, P. Randall, [illegible] Stancil, W. Dillabough, R. Askey, [illegible] Mann and A. Mann are still work[illegible] out regularly in the James Bay A[illegible] letic Association's practice boats [illegible] the Gorge whenever weather permit[illegible]

Two First Division Matches To-morrow

Chance For Triple Tie For Top Place In Soccer Circuit

Victoria City, Present Leaders, Will Meet Esquimalt in Feature Match at Lower Beacon Hill; Fast-improving Victoria West Eleven Tackles Saanich Thistles at Heywood Avenue; Full Card of Junior Matches.

Two First Division matches will hold the spotlight in to-morrow afternoon's football programme. The opening matches in the Province Cup series were scheduled to-morrow, but owing to the fact that the Victoria Rugby Union has possession of the Royal Athletic Park, the football moguls decided to postpone the Provincial Cup engagements and substitute two regular league fixtures. At the Heywood Avenue ground the Victoria Wests will tackle the Saanich Thistles, while at the lower Beacon Hill ground the league-leading Victoria City team will clash with Esquimalt.

Both matches will get started at 2.30 o'clock with Alcock in charge of the first-mentioned game and Woodley handling the whistle in the City-Esquimalt engagement.

Both matches are important as there is a chance of a triple tie for the league leadership. Should Esquimalt, winners of the championship last season, come through with a win over the City and the Wests triumph over the Thistles a three-way deadlock for first place will result.

HAD STREAK BROKEN

Last Saturday the City had their winning streak shattered by the fast-improving Wests, while the Saanich Thistles broke into the win column for the first time this season at the expense of the Jokers. The latter team will be idle to-morrow. With a win needed to hold first place the City are expected to put up a great battle against the second-place Dockers. The Wests, with two straight wins to their credit, hope to make it three in a row, while the Thistles are just as anxious to win and get in the race for the city's senior soccer honors.

Some of the teams for to-morrow follow:

Victoria City seniors will be picked from the following: Jenkinson, Campbell, Gloag, Heal, Roper, Smith, Watson, Dorrington, Davidson, Glancy, Murray, Kelman, Storey and Stenton.

To-morrow's Junior League card will be featured by the replay of the Lower Island Cup match between Esquimalt and Jokers at Hampton Road. Last week these clubs battled to a draw in their first-round match. The game will start at 2.15 o'clock.

The Junior League matches will be as follows:

MOST GOALIES ARE NOT HALF AS BAD AS THEY SOMETIMES LOOK

To the inexperienced hockey fan, a goalkeeper who cannot stop everything that comes his way is a total loss. They fail to consider the defence. No goalie can stop the great majority of shots if he has a good defence in front of him. But some fans can't tell a good defence from a bad one, and do not notice when opposing forwards draw them into the boards only to have the centre slip in through the middle. It is an interesting bit of hockey psychology that with a weak defence, a good goaltender will be scored on twice the first five times the opposing forwards get through, and will miss three or four of the next five times. Why this is so, is a question that can hardly be answered, unless the goalie gets rattled and starts "pressing" as they say in golf. Given a weak defence, the best goalie in the business looks worse than an inferior goalie with a better guard out in front. So next time the home team's net-minder lets a half-a-dozen pucks roll by him blame the defence first, and look between the goal posts after.

Forced Liquidation Sends Wheat Prices Rolling Downward

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, Nov. 27—Wheat prices suffered another serious setback on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange to-day. Forced liquidation combined with heavy offerings by discouraged speculators again set the market rolling downward and at the close all months showed depreciations of from 1¾ to two cents.

November weaker at 57½, December, two to 1⅞ at 57½ to 57⅝; May 1⅞ to 1¾ at 61¾ to 62; July 1¾ at 62¾.

General lack of demand and a fall in export trade arising from adverse trade reports, released a flood of selling which increased as the session proceeded. Minor rallies established from sudden bursts of buying, could no more than lift prices a little more than a cent above their lowest levels.

No export sales could be traced locally but New York reported some Canadian wheat had changed hands and that foreign interest had appeared on the break. Action of the market was extremely disappointing in view of the statistics of the week, considered the most bullish of any week this season.

Cash wheat trade experienced a lull in demand and spreads closed unchanged. Coarse grains in fairly active trade sagged in sympathy with wheat.

Canadian Press

Chicago, Nov. 27.—Almost 4 cents a bushel fall in Liverpool wheat quotations, together with heavy selling out by holders here, accompanied severe setbacks in all grain values to-day. Sterling exchange showed a collapse of about fifteen points, compared with early Wednesday, and this with bearish action of the New York stock market did much to induce persistent selling pressure on wheat, largely of a stop-loss character. Buyers were scare, except previous speculative sellers, who were in a position to collect a profit.

Wheat closed unsettled, 1½ and 3⅛ cents lower than Wednesday's finish, corn 1 and 1⅞ down, oats 1 and 1⅜ off, and provisions varying from 15 cents decline to a rise of 2 cents.

To-day's Grain Markets

WINNIPEG

(By Logan & Bryan)

Winnipeg, Nov. 27—Wheat: Weakness in Liverpool demoralized exchange and lower stock markets, combined with another day of small export sales, led to very heavy grain markets to-day, and wheat prices broke from 2⅞ to 3½ cents from the close on Thursday. General liquidation with the market meeting stop loss selling were main features. Very little export business was worked out of this market over the holiday. There was no evidence of any export business being worked here on the break this morning. The local cash market was extremely dull, nobody appeared to want wheat with shippers having their requirements in hand, while offerings were not pressing.

Spreads on the straight grains were ¼ to ½ lower. The situation still looks very heavy as we are not doing the export business that could be expected at this season of the year and in a few weeks' time the Argentine will be shipping heavily.

Coarse grains—These markets were all sharply lower but made some recovery from the extreme break. Scattered liquidation was in evidence in all markets, while demand was thin and rather featureless. There was no export business reported, while domestic demand was limited to odd carlots.

Liverpool, due unchanged to ¼ higher, based on Winnipeg.

CHICAGO

(By Logan & Bryan)

Chicago, Nov. 27.—The wheat market has been largely the victim of circumstances to-day, influences really outside side of the wheat situation dominating the price action to a great extent. The decline in stocks with sterling exchange off sharply and the unusual world's financial conditions, were again a major force in the grain markets. Cables were 1⅞ lower from Liverpool, and based on the sterling rate, much lower than that.

Export business is being curtailed by the uncertainties of international exchange, and by the unfavorable financial conditions generally. News of a strictly trade sort in wheat were not specially bearish. Russian shipments were 448,000 bushels and southern hemisphere clearances for the week were only about 1,250,000. Danubian exports were fair, but not unseasonable at 2,040,000 bushels. It is notable that with fair prices supposedly dropping owing to large stocks, the December worked up to about 3¼c under the May, and cash interests all report difficulty in buying wheat. Receipts were ten cars estimated and primary arrivals for two days were 934,000 bushels:

The far southwest got some rain, but has not had the wetting down essential to overcome the unfavorable start. Barring outside developments of an unfavorable character, think wheat is again at a level where there will be a two-sided market.

Corn — Liquidation was heavy at times and prices declined sharply with closing prices around ⅝c over the lowest point. The shipping demand was slow and sales to arrive 2,500. Receipts 16 cars estimated, primary arrivals 402,000, against 794,000 a year ago. Argentine shipments were 9,208,000 bushels.

Weather conditions are seasonable. So far as prices are concerned they look cheap and would be under ordinary conditions.

Oats sold off with other grains and there was only moderate support. The position of oats is fundamentally strong based on statistics, but the market will depend on other grains.

Rye has now lost the greater part of its advance, and ordinarily would be in a strong position. Like other grains, however, it will probably depend on what other grains do.

ALBERTA POOL RE-ELECTS DIRECTORS

By Canadian Press

Calgary, Nov. 27.—The entire board of seven directors was re-elected as the annual meeting of the Alberta Wheat Pool continued in session here to-day.

Henry Wise Wood, Carstairs, chairman of the pool since its inception in 1923, was re-elected a director for the Red Deer division. Others elected were: Edmonton district, George Bennett, Mannville; Camrose, Lew Hutchinson, Duhamel; North Calgary, R. A. Macpherson, Delia; South Calgary, Ben Plummer, Bassano; Lethbridge, C. Jensen, Magrath; Claresholm, J. Jesse Strang, Claresholm.

Consideration of the financial statement of the Alberta Pool Elevators Limited, and election of officers occupied the delegates to-day, and the sessions will continue to-morrow.

FARM IMPLEMENTS EXPORTED

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Nov. 27—During October, 1931, Canada exported farm implements and machinery valued at $114,830, as compared with $111,503 in September and $405,943 in October 1930. Imports of the same class of goods in October of this year totalled $86,937 as compared with $173,004 in September and $617,897 in October of last year.

BAR SILVER

London, Nov. 27.—Bar silver irregular and 9-16d higher at 19⅛d per ounce.

Montreal, Nov. 27.—Creditors of Greenshields and Company, stock exchange firm, will meet on January 7 to rule on the plan for reorganization of the firm, a delay of six weeks, which expires on that date, having been ordered by the bankruptcy court. A meeting, convened to-day immediately adjourned in accordance with the court order, made at the request of Ottawa creditors who wished more time to study the proposed reorganization.

The company announced that proxies in favor of the reorganization already received showed the necessary majority in numbers.

Pool May Re-elect Henry Wise Wood

Calgary, Nov. 27.—(C.P.)—Ninth annual convention of the Alberta Wheat Pool continued to-day with discussion of various resolutions holding the attention of the seventy delegates present. This morning's session was featured by address from E. B. Ramsay, chairman of the Board of Grain Commissioners.

Mr. Ramsay's address was a review of the grain situation and an explanation of the working of the Canada Grain Act. Following the address the delegates attacked the remaining matters on the agenda with the hope of ending the convention to-night.

If the convention concludes to-night, a meeting of the board of directors will be held to-morrow to elect a chairman. Henry Wise Wood, chairman of the organization since its inception in 1923, is expected to be returned to office.

PLOW WORKS INCREASING OUTPUT

Brantford, Ont., Nov. 27—Dark clouds over industrial Brantford showed a rift to-day, with the announcement of M. F. Verity, superintendent of the Massey-Harris and Verity Plow Company, that local plants will work on increased schedules and with larger staffs within the next week or so. The staff is to be augmented gradually.

FRENCH MONEY

Paris, Nov. 27.—Three per cent rentes, 83; francs, 55 centimes. Five per cent loan, 101 francs 10 centimes.

Exchange on London 86 francs 87½ centimes. The dollar was quoted at 25 francs 87½ centimes.

HOLT RENFREW OFF 45 POINTS

Second Appearance in 20 Months on Montreal Market Shows Heavy Decline

Canadian Press

Montreal, Nov. 27.—Montreal Stock Exchange listings showed marked weakness in to-day's trading, and with the final gong, sales volume for the session was not heavy.

Consolidated Smelters, Steel of Canada common and preferred, Abitibi preferred, Brazilian Traction, Canadian Car, Canadian Pacific, Massey-Harris and a number of others were included in the group which sagged from fractional amounts to a full three points in the case of Smelters.

A few stocks which managed to pass the morning without losses eased off in late trading. International Nickel closed at 10, up ⅛, but down ½ from the day's high.

Western Grocers preferred, making one of its occasional appearances, was up two points at 42. Holt Renfrew, making its second appearance in the last twenty months, was off a net of 45 points at 75.

LEADERS DIP ON TORONTO MINES

Market Nervous as Holders of Various Stocks Liquidate Holdings

Canadian Press

Toronto, Nov. 27.—Signs of liquidation were evident in various groups on the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange market to-day. Gold stocks moved lower, and specialties among silver, base metals and oils, all showed declines. Turnover picked up a little on the decline in the afternoon.

Dome and Lake Shore sold off 35 apiece and McIntyre was down 30. Granada softened another 11 and Wright-Hargreaves fell 5 below $3. Teck Hughes held firm at last night's final. Among cheaper stocks, Eldorado, Sylvanite, Ventures, San Antonio and Siscoe dropped three to four cents each and Buffalo, Dominion Explorers, Canusa, Brownlee and McLeod River showed small recessions.

Base metal issues firmed for a time on reports that the Belgian copper producers had accepted curtailment proposals, but weakened later, Hudson Bay finishing down 15, Noranda and Base Metals a few cents each and Chibougamau Prospectors a fraction. Chemical Research, off another 20 to $2.35, showed the only change in the oils.

Dominion Bank Pays Dividend

J. Scoby, manager of the local branch of the Dominion Bank, to-day received the following telegram from Toronto:

"At a meeting of the directors held to-day, the usual quarterly dividend of 3 per cent for the quarter ending December 31, 1931(was declared, making a total distribution to the shareholders for the current year of 12 per cent."

DECISION OF IMPORTANCE TO BONDHOLDERS

Dividends Earned From Interest on Tax Free Bonds Not Subject to Income Tax

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Nov. 27. — Dividends from a family corporation which are earned from interest on tax-free government bonds held by the corporation, are not subject to income tax, according to Mr. Justice A. K. McLean, president of the Exchequer Court of Canada. Yesterday he allowed the appeal of W. A. Black of Montreal from a ruling of the Department of National Revenue ruling dividends from the Dunkeld Securities Company subject to income tax.

Black owned 7,850 of the 10,000 shares of the company and the others were held by members of his family. His income from the company in 1927 and 1928 included $100,000, derived from tax-free bonds. The judge held this part of his income was exempt from taxation.

BROKERS' LOANS DOWN

Washington, Nov. 27—Loans to brokers and dealers held by New York Federal Reserve Member Banks for the week ending November 25, were announced by the Federal Reserve Board to-day at $751,000,000, representing a decrease of $24,000,000 as compared with the preceding week.

LONDON REPORTS COPPER ACCORD

London Nov. 27.—Copper shares showed strength on the stock exchange to-day on reports that Belgian copper interests had notified the Rhokana Corporation that they had accepted proposals made in New York for curtailment of copper output.

Rio Tintos rose one point to 17½; Rhokans were up 18 to 4, and the lower-priced shares advanced slightly.

NEW YORK SUGAR

New York, Nov. 27.—Raw sugar was quiet early to-day, but the undertone was easy. Refiners as a rule showed no interest, and while offerings were not aggressive it was believed that Philippines for January arrival were available at 3.23 delivered, and a cargo of Cuban in December position at 3.28. The only confirmed business was 5,250 bags of Cuban, done late Wednesday, from store at Norfolk for shipment to Baltimore, at 3.28 delivered.

Refined demand continued of a hand-to-mouth character, but prices were unchanged at 4.90 for fine granulated.

FABYAN PETE AGAIN LEADS

Report of Gas Contracts With Prairie Cities Creates Demand

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Nov. 27.—Fabyan Pete held the limelight in the morning session of the Vancouver Stock Exchange to-day with a turnover of about 18,000 shares up to 11 o'clock, while trading in the remainder of the issues was of a light nature. Fabyan was selling at 3 and 2½, with the bulk of the turnover at the former figure. In the last three sessions the stock has been doing most of the business, bringing approximately 66,000 shares and holding firmly on reports that important announcements regarding gas contracts with prairie cities are pending.

Big Missouri held about the same in the mining section, with sales at 16; Georgia River sold at 3¼, National Silver was in demand at 2½ and 3½; Pend Oreille brought 90 and $1 in odd lots, Pioneer opened at $2.60 and gained to $2.61 and Premier sold off a point from its opening to 62.

Vancouver, Nov. 27.—Morning sales on the Vancouver Stock Exchange were:

STEVAN OFF ON CHRISTMAS CHEER VOYAGE

Leaves For Month's Trip Around Vancouver Island With Supplies

Will Call at Lights Where Keepers Seldom See Outsiders During Winter

Laden with Christmas cheer and necessary supplies for the lighthouse keepers around Vancouver Island, the Dominion Government lighthouse tender Estevan, Capt. J. R. Bilton, steamed out of the harbor this week and proceeded to the West Coast of Vancouver Island. She will call at the many lights on the West Coast, and will then go round the north end of the Island, returning by way of the East Coast. She will arrive back in Victoria a few days before Christmas.

For several days before the Estevan left, friends of the lightkeepers in Victoria were busy preparing Christmas boxes and delicacies. Many boxes of magazines and other reading material, with which the families will while away the long winter evenings were also included.

The lighthouses near Victoria are all fairly accessible. Trial Island is near enough land to make a short boat trip over to Oak Bay at any time. The new light at Albert Head is right on the mainland, and is only an hour's run from Victoria by motor. Race Rocks is a mile from Rocky Point, and is is only a short boat trip to the mainland. On the West Coast, however, the lightkeepers are more isolated, and for months they seldom see an outsider. It is impossible for the Estevan to make a direct landing at many of the lights. Supplies for the light at Pachena must be left at Banfield, and the families must walk the ten miles through a trail in the woods to the mobile station for their goods.

Some of the lights are perched on lonely islands off the mainland, and a landing can be made on them only when the water is calm, which is not often on the West Coast during the winter when storms occur nearly every day. Egg Island and Triangle Island are just two of the most isolated lights in British Columbia.

Since the radio made its advent a few years ago, however, the lives of the keepers and their families are not as lonely as they were. Now it is possible for them to hear world events every day. Before the radio they seldom knew what was happening during the winter months.

The next departure from Vancouver will be the S.S. Princess Norah December 4. This sailing will be the last before Christmas connection with Whitehorse and Atlin.

NEARING PORT AFTER WRECK

Six Survivors of Fishing Craft Homebound on Steamer Which Crashed Them

Digby, N.S., Nov. 26.—With six survivors of the Gloucester schooner Edith and Elinor which she rammed in a fog bank off Baccaro Light Wednesday night, the steamer Gypsum Prince was nearing Deep Brook, Digby County, early yesterday evening.

The steamer cruised around the scene of the accident until after daybreak without finding trace of six others believed to have gone down with their ship.

Searchlights were sweeping the bay off Deep Brook in expectation of the arrival of the vessel, which will tie up at the wharf of the Gypsum Packet Company, her owners.

The bow of the steamer was damaged in the collision, but Capt. George Geeve reported it was not dangerous.

The Gypsum Prince has on board Capt. Simon Theirault, engineer Manley Goodick, Alex. Stack, Paul Amitts, Oscar Levedore and Jim Powers. The missing were given as Bardford Whynot, Ernest Gillen, Joseph Rose, Gus Foley, James Brothers and Youlic Lovance. It was evident the Gypsum Prince survivors had not accounted for some of the missing or had been unable to transmit their names correctly.

Grain Shipments From Montreal Increased

Montreal, Nov. 26.—Deliveries from Montreal harbor grain elevators to ocean ships passed the million mark in the last twenty-four hours, the exact figure being 1,078,440 bushels.

The amount of orders on hand has now risen to 1,853,061 bushels and nearly all vessels sailing for United Kingdom and continental ports in these last few days remaining for St. Lawrence navigation, will carry grain. Last year's figures are far exceeded. Total receipts to date are 86,535,929 bushels compared with 75,085,979 at this time last year and the respective showing for deliveries is 85,575,935, compared with 76,604,656 bushels.

Around the Docks

From San Diego, Los Angeles harbor and San Francisco, the Pacific Steamship Company's liner Ruth Alexander docked at the Rithet piers yesterday evening at midnight. She proceeded to Seattle after leaving passengers and cargo here. Among those aboard who disembarked here were: Miss S. Arstad, Mr. and Mrs. P. Bayer, C. Craig, L. R. Crawford, W. L. Curry, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Godson, Mrs. N. Gillingham, H. C. Johnson, Mrs. E. King, Mrs. Ella Sterns, Miss E. M. Swain, Mrs. Olive Thompson, Miss A. and Miss F. Walker, Mrs. R. Allen and Mrs. A. Barnhart.

To load 600,000 feet of lumber here, the United States freighter Golden Harvest docked at Ogden Point piers this morning shortly after 11 o'clock. Loading commenced almost immediately and the ship will proceed over the week-end to mainland ports to finish loading for Australia.

Two Oriental representatives of the Canadian Pacific Railway are in Victoria to-day. They are Stanley H. Garrod of the passenger department at Shanghai and John Murphy of the passenger department at Hongkong. They will sail aboard the Empress of Japan on December 5. Mr. Murphy is well known in Victoria, having been educated here. Mrs. Garrod, who is also sailing with her husband, is a former Victorian and is the daughter of Arthur Lee of Trutch Street.

Survey in Vancouver of the fishing boat Etta Mac, which grounded on the breakwater at Sidney last week, shows that she is not badly damaged. She is now receiving repairs and will be on the run again next week in better condition than she was before the mishap. The Etta Mac is operated between Coast ports for the Vancouver Barge Transportation Company, which took over the interests of the Vancouver-Courtenay Transportation Company a year ago.

With 300 tons of Japanese oranges aboard for Victoria, the N.Y.K. liner Yokohama Maru sailed from Yokohama yesterday. She is due here on Thursday, December 10. The oranges will be unloaded at the Ogden Point piers and sent to the mainland aboard special barges.

The extraordinarily deep passage called the Straits of Magellan at the southerly tip of South America will be traversed for the first time in many years by a Canadian ship when the Canadian National freighter Canadian Victor passes through at Christmas. The freighter sailed from Montreal with cargoes for South American ports below the Equator and will continue on to Australia, where she will pick up wool and other cargo. She will return by way of the Panama Canal to Halifax.

Herring fishing at Nanaimo is unusually good this season, according to a report recently issued by the Department of Fisheries, but the west coast of Vancouver Island catch is poor. Bad weather is blamed for the latter condition. The Nanaimo catch to November 21 totaled 22,533 tins. Last season at the corresponding date the catch was only 12,464 tons, but in 1929 and in 1928 it was 20,695 and 21,062, respectively.

West Coast figures this season to November 21 were 737 tons. Last year at this date it was 4,181 tons, in 1929 it was 3,665 tons and in 1928, 7,957 tons.

Outbound to ports in Japan, China and the Philippine Islands, the American Mail liner President Cleveland will sail from the Rithet piers here to-morrow evening at 6 o'clock with a good list of passengers and a capacity general cargo.

The liner is scheduled to sail from Seattle at 11 o'clock in the morning. She will arrive here at 4 o'clock in the afternoon and will spend two hours here before putting to sea. Canadian passengers and mails and light cargo will be taken on at this port.

Capt. W. R. Meyer, native son of Victoria, who figured in the rescue of the passengers of the ill-fated liner Tahiti in the South Seas a year ago, has been appointed to the command of the new Matson liner Monterey now building in the east. Capt. Meyer is now in New York watching construction on the new $8,000,000 liner. He will go to San Francisco on the first of the new liners, the Mariposa, as an executive officer and will then return to New York to bring out the Monterey. The Mariposa is scheduled to leave San Francisco February 2 on her maiden voyage to the South Seas. Capt. J. H. Trask, commodore of the Matson fleet, has been given command of the Mariposa.

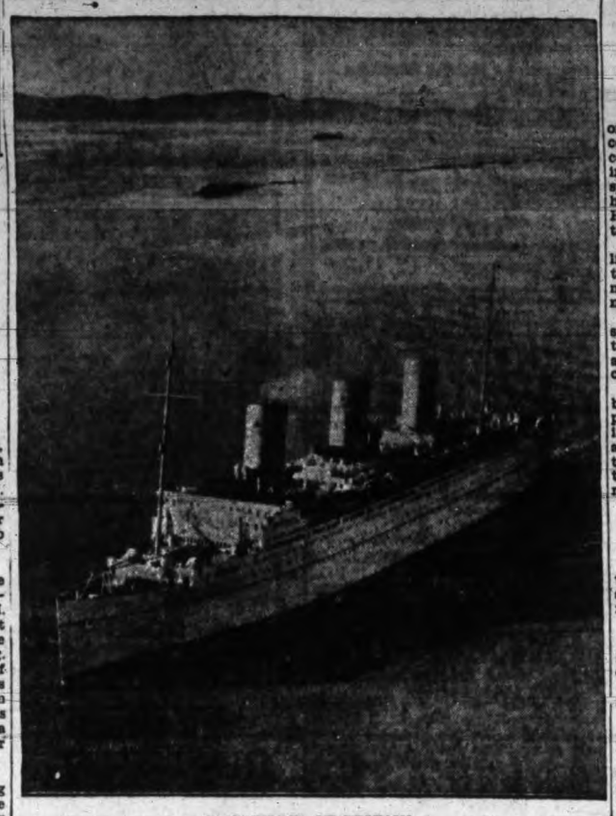
Piles Go Quick

Without Salves or Cutting

Itching, bleeding, protruding piles are caused by bad circulation of the blood in the affected parts. The parts become weak, flabby, almost dead. Only an internal remedy can remove the cause—that's why salves, suppositories and cutting fail. Dr. Leonhardt's prescription, HEM-ROID, succeeds because it removes congestion, restores circulation, heals and strengthens the diseased parts. HEM-ROID has such a wonderful record of quickly ending even piles of long standing, that MacFarlane Drug Store and Vancouver Drug Co. say one bottle of HEM-ROID Tablets must end your pile agony or money back. (Advt.)

REACHES NEW YORK TO-DAY



SS. EMPRESS OF BRITAIN

New York, Nov. 27.—Welcomed by shrill blasts from other vessels in the harbor, the liner Empress of Britain arrived on her first visit to New York this morning. She arrived at quarantine from England early and made her way slowly up the crowded harbor to her pier, her great white hull making a striking picture against the spires and towers of the buildings of lower Manhattan. The Empress of Britain will remain here until next Thursday, when she will sail on her first cruise around the world. During her stay here several social functions will be held aboard and the ship will be open to public inspection on a number of days.

SMALL C.P.R. SHAREHOLDERS SUFFER MOST, OFFICIAL SAYS

Montreal, Nov. 27.—With every likelihood of winding up its public hearings to-day, the board of conciliation appointed to inquire into the application of the Canadian railways for a 10 per cent reduction in the wages of certain of the running trades, heard George Hodge, vice-president of the department of personnel, Canadian Pacific Railway, pay tribute to the harmonious relationships existing between the companies and their employees, while at the same time expressing hope the employees would still see their way to accept the cut.

He emphasized the reduction was only one of many economies which the railways had already effected, and pointed out that, rather than being big capitalists the shareholders of the C.P.R. were small investors—widows, spinsters, retired farmers and the like. These had invested their savings in what they believed to be Canada's soundest investment, yet already their dividends had been cut 50 per cent, Mr. Hodge said.

Hon. James Murdock, vice-president of the Brotherhood of Railway and Trainmen, spokesmen for the 26,000 employees involved, complained to the board that a statement he had made yesterday regarding the 1916 conference on engineers and firemen's arbitraries at Winnipeg had been misrepresented in a local newspaper.

Fishing Future For Churchill Is Promising

The Pas, Man., Nov. 27.—With one of the largest fishing companies on the continent keeping a close check on conditions in Hudson Bay there are indications a fishing industry may spring up there in a year or two with headquarters at Churchill, according to H. W. Johnston, western manager of the company, who is here to-day.

Mr. Johnston was inclined to attach little importance to the findings of the expedition sent out in the summer of 1930 which reported there were no commercial fish in the bay.

"It is absolutely impossible," he said, "for a trawler to operate less than three weeks in a body of water as large as Hudson Bay and say there are no commercial fish there.

"The results obtained last summer by John Ingebrightson are highly promising and the future for a fishing industry there is very bright. To aid the development of this new field the government should send at least two outfits into the bay to find the most promising fishing grounds."

VANCOUVER SHIPPING

Vancouver, Nov. 27.—Ms. Hauraki of the Union Ss. Co. of New Zealand shifted this morning to New Westminster to load box shooks.

Ms. Lochgoil of Royal Mail Steam Packet Co. is at New Westminster to-day. She is attracting considerable attention there, and numbers of citizens have visited her.

Union Steamship Co. Limited of British Columbia passenger steamer Chelohsin came off the drydock at Burrard Drydock Co. plant at noon yesterday, and resumed service on her regular run north yesterday evening at 6 o'clock.

Amended regulations governing the passage of Second Narrows bridge by ships were forwarded on Wednesday night to Ottawa by the Vancouver Board of Harbor Commissioners, and it is expected that they will shortly be passed and become a port by-law.

They differ somewhat from those suggested by the joint committee of the Bridge Company, the Board of Trade, the Shipping Federation and the Merchants' Exchange, it is stated.

Under the joint committee's proposals the regulation of shipping through the bridge was left entirely in the hands of the harbormaster. The amended by-laws define this passage more strictly.

Under the new rules, large ships must pass the bridge against the current. Tugs and tows can get through on slack water, but the deeper vessels can not approach the bridge with the tide.

Canadian Pacific coastwise passenger steamer Princess Norah sailed at 9 o'clock yesterday evening for Skagway, taking the last Christmas freight for Dawson and Mayo from this port. Express and mail for the Yukon Territory cities, to reach there before Christmas, must proceed via Seattle not later than the December 8 sailing.

The American vessel Akutan, a small tug owned by the Alaska Salvage Towing Co. of Ketchikan, arrived here Wednesday en route to Seattle. She had a Canadian scow for delivery at Vancouver and a dredge in tow. She sailed to-day for Puget Sound.

SEATTLE SHIPPING

Seattle, Nov. 27.—Two hundred and eighty-five thousand tons of Farm Board wheat and flour sold to China have been booked for shipment, W. L. Comyn, Seattle, who holds the contract for delivery of the cargoes, said yesterday.

The bookings to date are: October-November, 125,000 tons; December, 85,000 tons; January, 40,000 tons; February, 35,000 tons. These bookings will be increased daily, Comyn said.

The shipper has until the end of March to move the 433,000 tons of wheat and flour purchased by the Nanking government for famine relief. So far he has engaged twenty-seven ships, some of which already have sailed, while others are loading.

In addition to the chartered ships parcel lots of wheat and flour are being loaded by ships of the regular transpacific berth lines in Seattle, Tacoma and Portland.

"Robin Hood" To Open To-night At The Royal

This evening at 8.15 o'clock the great brown velvet curtain on the stage of the Royal Victoria Theatre will ascend on the premiere of De Koven's light opera, "Robin Hood," which is being presented by the Victoria Operatic Society as its first offering this season. The performance will be repeated to-morrow evening, and according to announcement at the box office this morning, two capacity audiences will be present to see this delightful musical vehicle handled by a group of local people.

With a cast of seventy, including ten principals, exceptionally well chosen, and beautifully trained, colorful and picturesque costumes and special scenery and lighting, the production promises to equal those two eventful ones of last season, "Boccaccio" in February, and "Fra Diavolo" in May, both of which are remembered as very fine indeed by hundreds of theatre patrons.

The overture of "Robin Hood" is a feast of music in itself, and in this the orchestra promises to excel.

DOMINION THEATRE

Everybody likes a gripping drama. The choice of comedy or tragedy depends upon the mood of the seeker after divertisement. To-day the publice likes "thrills." They want the emotions gripped; the spirit lifted up and carried along. If everything comes out right so much the better, even though the verities of life usually end differently.

Just now a new Paramount picture called "My Sin" has attracted wide attention and public comment. The story it tells, its dramatic action, the theme idea, and the extraordinary talent of its dramatic personnel all merit the wide attention it has attracted. It is the feature picture at the Dominion Theatre to-day.

It is the story of the regeneration of two characters who have lived fast and unconventionally and who have finally reached the tough spots.

The scene of action is Panama. In a desperate fight with her degenerate husband she commits murder in self defence. A man, gone almost "bush" through intemperance, finally pulls himself together. Being a lawyer he defends her in court and wins an acquittal. Then both about face and climb all the way back from the Panama setting of degradation and despair to a New York atmosphere of competence and respectability. Love, of course, steps in and both find happiness.

EMPIRE THEATRE

James Hall, the handsome young leading man who wins Mae Clarke's affections in "The Good Bad Girl," the Columbia picture, showing to-day at the Empire Theatre (formerly the Coliseum), admits that he is a confirmed bachelor. In a city reputed to have more beautiful women to the square foot than any other place of its size in the world, Hall is perfectly content with single blessedness. He lives quite alone in a palatial residence at Beverly Hills. A Japanese butler keeps the house in order, and takes care of Hall's three Chow dogs.

COLUMBIA THEATRE

A stagecoach ride for "Headin' North," Bob Steele's latest western picture released by Tiffany, and now showing at the Columbia Theatre, was filmed on obscure dirt roads two miles from a principal California highway where a humming stream of modern "sleeper" stages, day stages, passenger cars and trucks whizzed by at fifty miles an hour. To add to the contrast, U.S. military air forces "defended" the United Airport, ten miles distant, from an "enemy attack," with great formations of high-powered death-dealing planes droning over the Steele location at 200 miles per hour.

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE

Before she was out of her 'teens, Betty Garde, charming screen player who appears in "Damaged Love," now at the Playhouse Theatre, had already appeared in character roles in such Broadway hits as "Plain Jane," "Six Cylinder Love," "The Nervous Wreck," and "Easy Come, Easy Go."

During the run of the last-named play, Owen Davis, famous dramatist, declared she was too good-looking to hide her natural beauty in character parts, and as a result of his recommendations she was cast in the leading feminine role opposite Elliott Nugent in "The Poor Nut."

Prior to entering film work, she completed a tour with a road company of "Rain," playing the role of Sadie Thompson, and afterwards joined a Michigan stock company as leading woman.

CAPITOL THEATRE

Winnie Lightner featured with Charles Butterworth in "Side Show," the Warner Bros. production now at the Captiol Theatre, has such an exaggerated fear of lions, and of the possibility of their breaking out of their cages, that all the hundreds of players on the lot became more or less lion-minded.

One day when the wind began to blow lustily, Winnie noticed that the Big Top tent began to puff up, and, as she thought, to tear. Momentarily she forgot lions in her eagerness to warn everyone, and shrieked "Look out!" Her cry had the opposite effect. Everybody thought the lions were out, and rushed to the big tent for shelter.

"Side Show," a thrilling love story of circus folks, is the first picture to give Miss Lightner a chance to do serious emotional acting, which does not mean that she does not also clown. She plays double for many of the freaks, a cannibal, a hula dancer, a fire diver being among her ludicrous portrayals.

PORT ALBERNI

Mrs. J. L. Dunn, Miss Evelyn Hanes and Eric Dunn left for Victoria on Friday to spend the week-end there.

TWINKLES IN SWEDEN'S HOLLYWOOD

Lovely Birgit Hengroth has been elevated to stardom in the Swedish motion pictures. She will have her leading role in a new picture soon to be produced at Rasunda, which is known as "Sweden's Hollywood."

Theatre Group Outstanding In First Success

The St. Paul's Players repeated their presentation of Oscar Wilde's "The Importance of Being Earnest," yesterday evening to a large house in the Crystal Garden little theatre.

The production was more evenly good than on the first night, the low spots being levelled up. Richard Blomfield showed a most noticeable recovery of poise, and his stage personality was distinctly enhanced.

If credit for the production and training of the cast is to go to Stephen B. Lloyd, it may quite frankly be said that he has achieved an outstanding success. He has had unusually adaptable and intelligent material to work with in Miss Vera Sharland, Miss M. C. Thompson and Miss Eileen Wilson—not to mention the competence of Mrs. M. C. Ridley, Capt. H. W. N. Moorhouse, Alan King and Herbert E. Pott.

The enjoyment of the performance was added to by the orchestral trio consisting of Miss Ena Hastings, violinist, Reginald Cooper, 'cellist, and Eric Edwards, pianist.

The next appearance of this group of players will be looked forward to with considerable interest by those who saw their work this week.

WILL HAVE OPERA WEEK

Company From England to Play in Victoria With Fine Repertoire Starting Dec. 7

Victoria, this season, will have a real opera week. Commencing Monday evening, December 7, the English Light Opera Company will open at the Royal Victoria Theatre and play each evening with matinee performances on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons. The first four nights of the week will see Sir Edward German's famous light opera, "Merrie England" presented, while on Friday and Saturday evenings the bill will be composed of one full grand opera and excerpts from two very famous ones. "Cavalleria Rusticana" will be presented in full along with the Garden scene from Gounod's "Faust" and the quartette from "Rigoletto."

Much interest has been aroused among local theatre-goers by this announcement, and already a large number of mail orders have been received. The box office will open on Friday morning, December 4.

"Merrie England" will prove itself worthy of the patronage of Victoria theatre-goers. The story surrounds itself with the history of Queen Elizabeth and Sir Walter Raleigh, which provides an excellent background for color and romance, all of which is brought out to the fullest extent in "Merrie England."

Melody, fantasy and humor abound throughout the play, and in the production to be given by the English Light Opera Company, unusual attention has been given to the spectacular in stage and lighting effects. For the Canadian tour the company is bringing a complete new set of scenery, and the costumes secured from Simmons, most famous of London's theatrical costumers, are said to rival any brought to this country by any company.
